PROCEEDINGS.

November 16, 1899.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland, at 2.30 P. M., the president, Mr. Baxter, in the chair.

The librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, read his quarterly report of accessions to the library and cabinet as follows :

I beg leave to report the following accessions to the library since the annual meeting in June last :

The life of John Winthrop, Jr., from the Ipswich Historical Society.

Volume 10 of the Suffolk Deeds, from Dr. S. A. Green.

The following English County Histories have been added to the library :

Ormerod's History of Chester.

Surtee's History of Durham.

Clatterbuck's History of Hertfordshire.

Palwheles' History of Devonshire.

Morant's History of Essex and Hutchinson's History of Cumberland.

The original design and drawings by R. H. Slack for a stone monument to be erected on Monhegan Island, in memory of the first church services held on that island. Given by Rev. B. F. DeCosta.

Also Dr. DeCosta's original MS. of the voyage into the Sagadahoc. Published by the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Photographs of Deer Isle, from Albert B. Page.

William Allen, author of the History of Norridgewock. His original manuscript, books of records, etc., from his grandson, Prof. Charles M. Allen.

Photographs of Pownalborough Court House, from Charles E. Allen.

Autograph Memorandum by Senator John Holmes, from Noah Brooks.

The Military Order Book of John Rowe, 1783. Given by George M. Moore.

One of the rarest of New England autographs is that of General Joseph Frye. Through the kindness of Edward H. Daveis, Esq., a member of the Society, we have received as a gift from Miss C. M. Parker, of Roxbury, a fine letter written by General Frye, addressed to the Rev. Benjamin Parker of Haverhill, Massachusetts, her great-grandfather. The Rev. Mr. Parker passed a long life at Haverhill as pastor of the Congregational church there. The letter reads as follows :

FRYEBURG, June 9, 1783.

Dear Sir: — After spending nearly twenty years in public life, viz., in camp and court, which gave me the advantage of the company and intimate acquaintance of many of the most sensible gentlemen of this country and many such from Europe, my lot has been to restore and fix myself in this remote place where I am destitute of such company as I wish might have succeeded the former — being now advanced to old age and exercised with such bodily maladies as has much impaired my constitution and rendered me inevitably liable to a disorder, which subjects the mind to such a melancholy gloom as has rendered the life of many a person, even in a state of public and private prosperity, very unhappy.

And if so, what must I feel when musing upon the loss of many sensible friends, some by death and some by the late unhappy war, and seeing, as I believe every observing person does, that that moral rectitude and social affection which rendered mankind blessings to each other are so obliterated that they exist in the breasts of but few, and the amazing debt the war has brought upon us, and no prospect in view of its being paid by any means but such as will bring the greatest part of the people in this country into the utmost distress, and no understanding friend, except Dr. Swan, to afford a word of consolation?

I hope, sir, that neither you nor any other good man may ever know by experience the disagreeable sensation these amusements give me. But through Divine goodness I have been able to strive against those gloomy amusements and succeed so far as to maintain hopes that kind Providence will bring our national affairs to a happier issue than my fears.

And herein I take some comfort, together with exercising my mind on matters I think it my duty to do, and in thinking and believing that you, dear sir, and some others, who, through God's goodness, are continued in life, are assuredly my friends, as I know I am yours and theirs, and I heartily wish it was in my power to see you often, being persuaded I should receive much consolation from your conversation and council with respect to my infirmities.

To conclude, be so kind, (if you have opportunity) as to favor me with a line or two informing me how you have your health, of your sentiments of the times, etc., by which you will oblige him who in the honest sense of the word loves you and wishes your welfare in all respects and is, dear sir, your sincere friend and humble servant,

JOSEPH FRYE.

(Addressed to)

Rev. Mr. Benjamin Parker, Haverhill.

Per Mr. David Swan.

General Frye was born in 1711 and died at Fryeburg in 1794. He was Ensign at the capture of Louisburg in 1745, was Colonel at the taking of Fort William Henry in 1757, and was appointed Brigadier General and Major General in the War of the Revolution.

It will be remembered that the Society held its annual Field Day excursion at Fryeburg a few years since, and that we visited the old homestead of General Frye.

Rev. Dr. Henry S. Burrage read a paper on "The Plymouth Colonists in Maine," founded on the testimony of Governor William Bradford, as published in his journal recently republished by the State of Massachusetts.

A genealogical paper on the Crosby Family in Maine, contributed by Mr. Thomas Hill Pierce of Boston, was read by the secretary, Mr. Bryant.

Votes of thanks were passed for the papers read, and copies requested for the archives. Adjourned.

January 18, 1900.

Meetings of the Society were held at the library in Portland, at 2.30 and 7.30 P. M., the president in the chair.

At the afternoon session, the recording secretary read a paper, contributed by Mr. Victor Hugo Paltsits of New York, on the deprecation at Pemaquid in 1689, and the causes which led up to it.

Rev. Edward G. Porter, the President of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, was present, and addressed the meeting on the importance of making a systematic effort to obtain graveyard inscriptions throughout the State, for the benefit of historians and genealogists. Circulars and printed forms were exhibited, such as are used in Massachusetts.

Mr. Leonard B. Chapman called attention to a considerable collection of household utensils of the 18th century, which were given to the Society by Mrs. Rea and Mrs. Hunt of Stroudwater. Mr. Chapman read a brief paper on the Rea and Hunt families.

Votes of thanks were passed for the papers read, and copies requested for the archives. Adjourned until evening.

At the evening session, Rev. Mr. Porter gave an informal and very interesting address on Boston during the Revolution, and read copies of letters written by Earl Percy, Commander of the British Forces, and dated from Boston in 1775. Mr. Porter gave an account of his visit to Alnwick Castle, the country seat of Earl Percy, afterwards the Duke of Northumberland. These family letters, which he had copied, were kindly placed in his hands by the present Duke of Northumberland. Adjourned.

March 29, 1900.

A meeting of this Society was held at the library in Portland, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., the president in the chair.

A report of accessions to the library and cabinet was read by the librarian as follows :

We have received the Harvard University Catalogue and Annual Reports.

Hon. Joseph Williamson sent the following papers, which were read :

THE SKELETON IN ARMOR FOUND ON CAMPBELL'S ISLAND.

The recent exhumation by Mr. Frank Hamilton Cushing, the learned ethnologist of the Smithsonian Institute, of an armored skeleton in the town of Brooklin, has excited not only deep interest, but much speculative conjecture. Many of the newspaper reports of the discovery are suppositious and sensational. One of these asserted that the remains were those of a Norseman, who accompanied Lief Ericsson in his assumed voyage to New England five hundred years before Columbus. Another claimed that they afforded evidence of a desperate struggle between an Indian and a Frenchman; while a third went still farther in giving a pictorial sketch on the conflict, which the writer "considered tolerably accurate in reproducing the scene which ended the latter's career. In a lecture delivered last October before the Lowell Institute, Boston, it was declared that a pair of scissors and also Indian needles were found, indicating the burial of the knight's wife with him. This perversion is only equalled by statements in the same lecture that the island of Mount Desert was named for De Mont, the companion of Champlain in his voyage along our coast in 1605.

That the correct facts of the discovery might be known, I addressed a note of inquiry to Mr. Cushing, whose courteous and comprehensive reply is herewith submitted. His theory that the largest skeleton was that of a Frenchman of the early part of the seventeenth century, is indoubtable. Probably the interment took place near 1613, when the Jesuit settlement at Saint Sauveur was broken up by Argall.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION,
Bureau of American Ethnology, Washington, }
HAVEN, HANCOCK COUNTY, MAINE, 4th October, 1899. }

To Mr. Joseph Williamson, Corresponding Secretary of the Maine Historical Society, Belfast, Maine.

Dear Sir:—The find to which the newspaper clipping you enclose refers, was actually made here on Campbell's Island, across the Reach from this place. The correspondent, however, was somewhat indifferent as to details, and was apparently bent mainly on making a popular story out of the facts evidently communicated to him by my Superintendent of workmen, Mr. Eaton. The skeleton with which the armor was found was very fragmentary. The armor itself had nearly disappeared, although the neck-piece and breast-plate were sufficiently intact to be recognizable as such, and rust extended down to the hips. At the side of the skeleton we also found a pike or the point and a portion of the blade of a halberd, and near at hand a four-sided, spike-like object, which may have been a poignard-blade, and the muzzle of a blunderbuss, which latter had been purposely destroyed by flattening by blows with heavy rocks.

Almost by the side of this skeleton was another accompanied by abundant beads, the hilt and insertion of an iron knife, and several implements of stone and bone knives of flint and beaver teeth. This skeleton, too, was fragmentary, although better preserved than the one with the armor. Both had been buried prone, whilst an almost perfect skeleton, interred within three feet of them, had been buried characteristically within a circle of stones, and trussed up, or in a sitting posture. The presence of mineral paint and black war medicine with these remains proclaimed them to be those of a warrior; but there is no warrant that he was a chief, although unquestionably a man of rank in his little tribe. Traces of European articles with him indicated his contemporaneity with the others. The inference is that the skeleton was that of a Frenchman, of the earliest period of European intercourse on this coast, as is shown by the occurrence of articles there and elsewhere, in the site belonging to that period. For, thus far, no Indian skeleton has been found buried with armor, so far as I am aware and the position of this armored skeleton, prone, is another indication. It is probable that the skeleton that was found at its side was either that of a companion or of a native Indian woman toward whom the man held the relation of a husband. In any case the two were not victims, but had been buried by hands as friendly as those which deposited the old War Shaman, for the destruction of certain objects like the blunderbuss is a friendly act in Indian mortuary custom—the “killing” of properties that their ghosts may be rendered serviceable and unharmful.

I might write you much more, but, alas, my time is excessively occupied. Believe me then, with regard,

Very sincerely yours,

FRANK HAMILTON CUSHING.

A CONTRIBUTION TO THE HISTORY OF THE OLD KENNEBEC RIVER FORTS.

I present to the Society, herewith, a French pamphlet published in 1755, entitled “Recueil des Plans de L’Amerique Septentrionale,” which was recently sent me from Paris.

Although many of the engravings are curious, the work is chiefly valuable to us from containing one of the earliest printed representations of Forts Halifax, Western and Frankfort, on the Kennebec River, and as showing the erection of the latter at an earlier date than has been generally supposed.

In the year 1751 the Plymouth Company offered to give each family who settled on their patent one hundred acres of land in what is now Dresden, to pay their passages from Boston, to advance six months’ provisions, and to build them a house of defence against the Indians. The only conditions imposed were that each settler should clear five acres of land, and build a small house within three years. This offer was accepted by a colony of various nationalities, and the plantation begun was called Frankfort, from some of their number, who came from the city of that name in Germany.

Williamson’s history of Maine says that the house of defence was built in 1754. Sullivan is probably correct in giving 1752 as the date, the same as on the French plan. That year is supported by a letter from the Kennebec proprietors to Pascal Nelson of London, communicated by Mr. Charles E. Allen of Dresden, and dated May 11, 1752, which says: “We have made a beginning at a place on the east side of Kennebec River, a little above Richmond fort, where we have about fifty men at work building a house of defense, * * * and have sent down eight carriage guns and ammunition. * * * We call the town Frankfort."

"This and other documents," remarks Mr. Allen, "satisfies me that Fort Frankfort was built in 1752, though it is probable that after terror from the Indians had partially subsided, some delay in fully furnishing and equipping the garrison ensued."

Soon after the erection the name of Fort Frankfort was changed to that of Fort Shirley, in honor of Governor William Shirley, who built Forts Halifax and Western in 1754. The work was demolished in 1761, when the Pownalborough court house, which is still standing, was located within their area. One of the blockhouses remained until 1821.

According to an old description, the parade ground of the fort was two hundred feet square, enclosed by pickets; the westerly side of which was on the margin of the river. Within, were two blockhouses, the projecting stories of which were ten inches thick, were built of pine and hemlock lumber, hewn on four sides and interlocked where they crossed at the ends. One blockhouse was on the north, and the other on the south corner of the parade, on the tops of which were watch boxes for sentinels. The exterior pickets were of sufficient height, and within were barracks, for the accommodation of those belonging to the fort. The location of these buildings seem to be correctly delineated on the plan, which also gives the position of the carriage guns.

These forts were erected not only as a defence to the settlers, but to prevent communication between Nova Scotia and Canada. That they were regarded with jealousy and apprehension by the French is indicated by the accuracy of the plans which the latter published so soon after their establishment.

Rev. Dr. Burrage read a paper entitled "Why was Roger Williams Banished from Massachusetts?"

A paper on John Parker of Sagadahoc and his Descendants was read by Rev. Henry O. Thayer.

May 18, 1900.

A meeting was held at the library and was called to order at 2.30 P. M. In the absence of the president, Rev. Dr. Burrage took the chair.

A paper on President Lincoln and the Peace Conference of 1865 was read by Mr. Sidney W. Thaxter of Portland.

Mr. Joseph Williamson of Belfast read a paper on A Proposed Province on Maine Territory, to be called New Ireland. The paper was founded on documents in the family archives of the Marquis of Landsdowne and of Earl Dartmouth, recently copied for Mr. Williamson.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Dalton it was voted that the president convey to Hon. James W. Bradbury at Augusta, the greetings of the members of the Society assembled, with their best wishes for his speedy return to health.

June 13, 1900.

By invitation of Mrs. John F. Hubbard of Hiram, Maine, a granddaughter of General Peleg Wadsworth, members of the Society visited the Wadsworth homestead at Hiram, the date being the centennial anniversary of General Wadsworth's settlement in the town. Sons of the Maine Society of the American Revolution and daughters of the Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter united with the Society in commemorating the day. Addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Burrage, Mr. Nathan Goold and others.

June 27, 1900.

The annual meeting was held in the Cleveland Lecture room at Brunswick, and was called to order in the absence of the president by the vice president, Mr. Rufus K. Sewall, at 2 P. M.

The following members were present: Messrs. Charles E. Allen, John Marshall Brown, Hubbard W. Bryant, Edward P. Burnham, Albert M. Card, Henry L. Chapman, Frederic O. Conant, Josiah Crosby, Henry Deering, Joshua L. Douglas, Edwin S. Drake, Janus G. Elder, Nathan Goold, Herbert Harris, Fritz H. Jordan, George Lewis, George T. Little, Ira S. Locke, William Macdonald, Prentice C. Manning, Josiah S. Maxcy, John W.

Penney, Parker M. Reed, Rufus K. Sewall, Asbury C. Stilphen, Walter H. Sturtevant, Charles D. Smith, Joseph W. Symonds, Henry O. Thayer, William W. Thomas, Jr., Joseph Williamson.

Mr. Charles E. Allen was appointed secretary pro tem.

The record of the last annual meeting was read and approved.

The annual report of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, was read and accepted.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, and it was accepted.

A report on behalf of the committee, Messrs. Baxter, Burrage and Thayer, on special work at the library, was read by Mr. Thayer, and accepted.

On motion of General Brown it was voted that the same committee be continued.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, Mr. Williamson, was read by him, and was accepted.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Jordan, was read by him in detail, and was accepted, to be placed on file.

On motion, the chairman appointed Messrs. Goold, Douglas and Stilphen a committee to nominate a board of officers for the ensuing year. The committee retired, and shortly afterwards reported that they had agreed to nominate the following as the Board for 1900-01 :

James P. Baxter, President.

Rufus K. Sewall, Vice President.

Joseph Williamson, Corresponding Secretary and Biographer.

Fritz H. Jordan, Treasurer.

Hubbard W. Bryant, Recording Secretary, Librarian and Curator.

Rev. Henry S. Burrage of Portland, Prof. Henry L. Chapman of Brunswick, Gen. John Marshall Brown of Portland, Hon. Edward P. Burnham of Saco, Mr. Samuel C. Belcher of Farmington, Mr. Charles E. Nash of Augusta, Mr. John M. Glidden of New Castle, Standing Committee.

No objection being made, the ballot was cast for the entire Board, and were declared elected. The chairman reappointed Messrs. Franklin R. Barrett and Henry Deering as auditors of the treasurer's accounts.

Ballots were then distributed and the following were elected resident members :

Frederic E. Boothby, Portland.
Samuel Buffum, North Berwick.
Right Rev. Robert Codman, Jr., Portland.
John W. Dresser, Castine.
William H. Moulton, Portland.
Edward D. Noyes, Portland.
Rev. Benjamin P. Snow, Yarmouth.

Ballots having been distributed for corresponding members, the following were duly elected :

Orestes Pierce, Oakland, California.
Charles William Deering, Evanston, Illinois.
Thomas H. Hubbard, New York.
Wilberforce Eames, New York.
John Tyler Hassam, Boston.

In the absence of the president, General Brown made a verbal report on the tablet at Fort Popham, and on motion it was voted that the matter be referred to the standing committee to confer with the United States authorities with reference to the permanent position of the tablet.

Reports from the Lincoln, Sagadahoc and Kennebec Historical Societies were read by the recording secretary, and were accepted to be placed on file.

An amendment to the By-laws concerning annual dues was reported upon by Mr. Williamson, and after some discussion was recommitted to the standing committee with the recommendation that the form of amendment shall specify an annual due from each resident member in lieu of all other charges; also that the Society's publications shall be made free to its members.

Mr. Williamson made a report on the condition of Fort Pownall on the Penobscot river, and on motion it was voted that the United States government be requested to take measures for protecting and preserving the remains of the old fortification, the corresponding secretary, Mr. Williamson, to communicate with the government.

Mr. Goold made a brief address on the Wadsworth-Longfellow property in Portland, and the desirability that the Society should accept and care for the property.

After some discussion regarding the Field Day excursion for the present year it was voted to refer the whole matter to the standing committee.

General Brown gave notice of a proposed amendment to the By-laws, making the number of the standing committee nine instead of seven, to be acted upon at the next annual meeting. Adjourned.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN AND CURATOR, JUNE 27, 1900.

It is again my pleasant duty and privilege to appear before you and make report of the condition of the library and cabinet.

During the year past the accessions to the library amount to 254 bound volumes and 363 pamphlets.

The following periodicals are received for the library :

The New England Historical Genealogical Register.
 The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography.
 The Essex Institute Publications.
 The Essex Antiquarian.
 The Dedham Historical Register.
 The American Antiquarian.
 The American Historical Review.
 The Devon Notes and Queries.
 The Medford Historical Register.
 Genealogical Advertisers.

Hartford Seminary Record.
Iowa Historical Record.
Texas Historical Quarterly.
Putnam's Historical Magazine.
Rhode Island Historical Quarterly.
American Catholic Historical Researches.
Jewish Historical Quarterly.

The library has been open every week day afternoon, also for one evening in the week during the fall and winter months.

The attendance of readers is not as large as it should be considering the advantages offered in the free use of such a library.

We offer every facility to those doing historical and genealogical work.

We learn that histories of Sanford, of Kittery and of Gorham, Maine, are nearly completed, also that a genealogical work of the old families of Brunswick and Harpswell is being prepared.

The local histories of Maine now number upwards of one hundred titles; a library in themselves, and all written in the 19th century.

The close of the century is a very appropriate time for the members to increase the funds of the Society, to enlarge its library, its cabinet and its archives.

The wants of the library are many and pressing, especially in local histories and genealogies published in other States. Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Hampshire have made large strides in this direction.

County atlases of our own State we need, and also bound volumes of Maine newspapers.

Perhaps the most pressing need of all is a complete index of the Society's manuscripts. This must be done by skilled labor.

A prominent feature of our library is the English county histories.

The following have been added during the year :

Ormerod's History of Chester County.
Surtee's History of Durham.
Clatterbuck's History of Hertfordshire.
Polwhele's History of Devonshire.
Morant's History of Essex.
Hutchinson's History of Cumberland.

In order to make up a representative collection of the newspapers of the State at the close of the 19th century, we have sent cards to the publishers soliciting specimen copies, and have received up to the present time 120 Maine newspapers, published about January 1, 1900. This collection when completed will be bound to be exhibited January 1, 2000.

Our friends far and near continue to contribute relics of greater or less value to the library and cabinet, the most recent contribution being a good-sized water color painting, and handsomely framed. It represents the old Carmel Mission Church near Monterey, California. It is the gift of the artist herself, done in her seventy-third year, Mrs. E. S. Bradlee, a native of Maine.

A gift of greatest value is a lock of General Washington's hair in a gold locket, accompanied by several letters and documents from the Longfellow family.

The household relics of the past century from the Rea family, through Mr. L. B. Chapman, are also well worthy of mention.

A gold finger ring, said to have been worn by John Alden, the Pilgrim, was the dying bequest of Mrs. Charlotte Baker to our Society. She had refused many tempting offers in money for it.

Our greatest gift, viz., the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead, is the gift of Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, whom we trust will live to realize that our Society is prepared to accept her munificent benefaction.

January 25, 1901.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland, and was called to order at 2.30 p. m., and a memorial service was held as a tribute to the late Hon. James Ware Bradbury, of Augusta, our former president.

Mr. Baxter presided, and made a brief address on the life and character of Senator Bradbury. Rev. Dr. Burrage followed with a biographical sketch of Mr. Bradbury, and it was voted that the same be spread upon the records of the Society.

JAMES WARE BRADBURY.

Hon. James Ware Bradbury, for more than half a century a member of this Society, and for many years its president, died at his home in Augusta, January 6, 1901, at the advanced age of ninety-eight years and nearly seven months. He was a descendant of Thomas Bradbury, who in 1634 came to this country from Essex, England, and settled at Agamenticus, now York, Maine, as the agent or steward of Sir Ferdinando Gorges. Subsequently he became one of the original proprietors of the town of Salisbury, Massachusetts, and for more than half a century he was one of its most prominent citizens. He was clerk of the writs at Salisbury in 1641, and in 1651; also later he was a deputy to the General Court from that town.

James Ware Bradbury was a son of Dr. James and Ann (Moulton) Bradbury, his father being a physician of extensive practice in Parsonsfield in this State. Here he was born June 10, 1802, and he attributed in a large measure his vigorous health through life to the opportunities for the development of his physical powers which he enjoyed in his boyhood on his father's farm. He attended the public schools of Parsonsfield, also for a term or two the academies in Saco, Limerick and Effingham, but he completed his college preparatory studies at Gorham Academy. So far was he advanced in his preparation for college that when he entered Bowdoin in 1822, he was admitted to the Sophomore class. Mr. Bradbury was the first boy to enter college from the town of Parsonsfield, and Mr. Bradbury's fellow townsman in Parsonsfield and Augusta, the late Rev. Dr. Joseph Ricker, was the second. Among Mr. Bradbury's classmates at Bowdoin were Longfellow, Hawthorne, Cheever, Cilley, J. S. C. Abbott, and other men who achieved distinction in the various walks of life. The first honor in the class at graduation was given to Mr. Longfellow, and the second or third was assigned to Mr. Bradbury. For some time before he died Mr. Bradbury had been the sole survivor of his class, and the oldest living graduate of the college.

After his graduation at Bowdoin College in 1825, Mr. Bradbury was principal of the Hallowell Academy one year. Subsequently he studied law with the Hon. Rufus McIntire of Parsonsfield. He completed his law studies in the office of the Hon. Ether Shepley of Portland. It was Mr. Bradbury's purpose to enter upon the practice of his profession in Augusta, and while awaiting the designated time, he opened, in 1829, in his native town, a school for teachers, the forerunner, so to speak, of our present Normal schools.

In 1830, Mr. Bradbury became a resident of Augusta, was admitted to the bar, and entered upon the practice of his profession. As his law business at the first was not large, he added to his other duties for a short time the editorship of the Maine Patriot, a Democratic paper published in Augusta. In 1833 he formed a law partnership with his college classmate, Horatio Bridge. This continued only a year, however, as Mr. Bridge then abandoned the practice of law and devoted himself to other pursuits. In 1840 he formed a partnership with Mr. Richard D. Rice, who had been a student in his office, and the partnership was continued until 1848, when Mr. Rice was elevated to the bench. Then Mr. Lot M. Morrill became Mr. Bradbury's law partner, and the partnership was continued until Mr. Morrill was elected a member of the United States Senate. In 1856, Joseph H. Meserve took Mr. Morrill's place in Mr. Bradbury's office, and the relation then formed was continued until Mr. Meserve's death, in 1864. Then Mr. Bradbury made his son, James Ware Bradbury, Jr., his law partner, and this connection was maintained until the son's lamented death in 1876.

Mr. Bradbury's gifts were early recognized by the political party to which he belonged. In 1835, he was made county attorney, an office which he held four years. Anything connected with the prosperity of the state received his earnest support, and he is said to have been instrumental, in 1835, in securing the charter of the first railroad in Maine, the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth. Later he secured the charter of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence railroad. Mr. Bradbury was a delegate to the Democratic Convention which nominated James K. Polk, and afterward he took the stump in support of this nomination. In 1846, he was elected a member of the Senate of the United States, and took his seat March 4, 1847. Placed on important committees he was brought into close relations with the great men of that period, Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Benton, Cass, Douglass, against whose names for the most part "the fatal asterisk of death" was long since placed. One of the senators in whom he was especially interested was Alpheus Felch of Michigan, a native of Maine, with whom Mr. Bradbury began the study of Virgil at Limerick Academy in 1819. Mr. Bradbury held in the highest estimation Henry Clay, and he gave to him, when his Compromise Measure was before the Senate, his most earnest support, in the vain endeavor to prevent the impending struggle between the North and the South. Declining a re-election to the Senate at the close of his term of office, Mr. Bradbury returned to Augusta and resumed his law practice.

In 1850, while a member of the Senate, Mr. Bradbury was made a member of the Board of Overseers of Bowdoin College, a position which he held until 1860, when he was elected a trustee of the college. In this office he gave the college faithful service throughout the remaining years of his life. In 1872, his Alma Mater conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Mr. Bradbury became a member of this Society in 1846. In 1859, he was elected corresponding secretary of the Society, to fill a vacancy occasioned by the death of Prof. Parker Cleaveland. In 1873, on the death of President Bourne, Mr. Bradbury was made his successor, and he was continued in the office of president until 1890. Mr. Bradbury's literary contributions to the Society were as follows: November 16, 1881, he read before the Society a Memoir of Nathan Clifford, which is printed in the First Series of the Society's Collections, Volume IX, pages 237-257. December 18, 1890, he contributed a sketch of James Loring Child, which is printed in the Second Series of the Society's Collections, Volume II, pages 163-165. March 26, 1896, he contributed a paper entitled, "Railroad Reminiscences," which is printed in the Second Series of the Society's Collections, Volume VII, pages 379-390. In Portland, June 10, 1887, in honor of his eighty-fifth birthday, the Society gave a complimentary dinner to Mr. Bradbury. This was a memorable occasion, and a fitting recognition of Mr. Bradbury's many helpful services in behalf of the Society. It should never be forgotten that it was largely by his influence that the Society obtained from the State a grant of land, the sale of which secured to the Society a large part of its present invested funds. In his will Mr. Bradbury bequeathed to the Society the sum of one thousand dollars.

Mr. Bradbury married, November 25, 1834, Eliza Ann, daughter of Thomas Westbrook and Abigail (Page) Smith of Augusta. Four sons were born to them, Henry Westbrook, James Ware, Thomas Westbrook Smith and Charles. Only the last survives. Mrs. Bradbury died January 29, 1879.

In view of Mr. Bradbury's long and helpful services, private and public, the Maine Historical Society places on record its high estimation of his character and ability. The urbanity of his manners, the dignity with which he regarded service of any kind, the purity of his motives and the faithfulness which he manifested in all the activities of a most useful career, were the expression of a life without fear and without reproach, a life that showed that

"Age is opportunity no less Than youth itself,"—

that

"Nothing is too late Till the tired heart shall cease to palpitate."

Mr. George F. Talbot gave an address on Mr. Bradbury as a testimonial of his personal friendship and warm appreciation of Mr. Bradbury's great public services.

Rev. Dr. Asa Dalton spoke feelingly of his life-long friend, and gave some interesting reminiscences of Mr. Bradbury's career.

Mr. George F. Emery, also an early friend of Mr. Bradbury, made a brief address, and bore testimony to Mr. Bradbury's high character as a statesman and a Christian gentleman.

The president announced the death of Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, and reminded the members present of her deed of gift of her homestead, to be cared for and used by the Society.

The matter was discussed by Messrs. George F. Talbot, Josiah H. Drummond, Rev. Dr. Burrage and others, and on motion it was voted that the president appoint a committee of three to consider the acceptance of the gift, and to report upon the same at the next annual meeting of the Society.

The president accordingly appointed as the committee Messrs. John Marshall Brown, Henry Deering and Fritz H. Jordan.

It was voted that a committee be appointed by the chair to take into consideration the commemoration by the Society of the one thousandth anniversary of the death of King Alfred the Great. The president accordingly appointed Rev. Dr. H. S. Burrage, Mr. Nathan Goold, Col. John M. Glidden, as the committee of arrangements.

Wheeler, Joseph Wood.

Mr. Charles E. Allen was appointed secretary of the meeting.

The records of the last annual meeting were read and approved.

The annual reports of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, were read by him and were accepted.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, and it was accepted.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, Mr. Williamson, was read by Professor Chapman, and it was accepted.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Jordan, was read by him, and also the report of the auditing committee, Messrs. Barrett and Deering, and the same were accepted to be placed on file.

The president reappointed the same auditors.

It was voted that the president appoint a committee of three to nominate the annual board of officers, and he accordingly appointed Professor Chapman and Messrs. Deering and Drake as said committee.

On motion of General John Marshall Brown it was voted to amend Section 16 of the By-laws, making the number of the standing committee nine instead of seven.

Annual reports of the following County Historical Societies, Lincoln, Sagadahoc and Kennebec, were read by the recording secretary, and were accepted to be placed on file.

General Brown made a verbal report on the Pemaquid Reservation.

The nominating committee reported that they had agreed upon the following board of officers for the ensuing year :

James P. Baxter, President.

Rufus K. Sewall, Vice President.

Joseph Williamson, Corresponding Secretary and Biographer.

Fritz H. Jordan, Treasurer.

Hubbard W. Bryant, Recording Secretary, Librarian and Curator.

Rev. Henry S. Burrage of Portland, Prof. Henry L. Chapman of Brunswick, Gen. John Marshall Brown of Portland, Hon. Edward P. Burnham of Saco, Col. John M. Glidden of Newcastle, Franklin A. Wilson of Bangor, Josiah H. Drummond of Portland, Fritz H. Jordan of Portland, Prentice C. Manning of Portland, Standing Committee.

On motion, and no objection being made, the secretary cast the single ballot, and the board was declared elected.

The president then read the ballot for resident members, and called for the votes of the members present, which were cast and the following were declared elected :

Hartley C. Baxter, Brunswick.

George E. Bird, Yarmouth.

Dr. George H. Cummings, Portland.

Dennis W. Clark, Portland.

 Rev. John Carroll Perkins, Portland.
 Frederick S. Vaill, Portland.
 Dr. Stephen H. Weeks, Portland.
 Hon. George C. Wing, Auburn.
 Joseph Williamson, Jr., Augusta.

The president then read the ballot for corresponding members, and the vote being taken the following were declared elected :

Charles K. Bolton, Brookline, Mass.
 Sir John G. Bourinot, Ottawa.
 Henry W. Cunningham, Boston.
 Prof. J. Franklin Jameson, Chicago.
 Gen. Horatio C. King, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Daniel Parish, Jr., Esq., New York.
 Edwin B. Smith, Esq., New York.
 Caleb B. Tillinghast, Esq., Boston.
 Albert Mathews, Boston.
 Joseph P. Fessenden, Salem.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen, it was voted to hold the annual Field Day at Pemaquid, and the following were appointed the committee of arrangements :

Col. John M. Glidden.
 Mr. J. L. Douglas.
 Mr. Edwin S. Drake.

On motion of Mr. Jordan, it was voted that Section 2 of the By-laws be, and the same hereby is amended by inserting at the close of said section the words, "In addition to the admission fee, each resident member shall pay three dollars annually, for the general purposes of the Society; but any member may become a life member, and shall be exempted from such annual payment, if, at any time after his admission, he shall pay into the treasury thirty dollars in addition to his previous payments."

Life members shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of resident members.

Voted, that the recommendation of the standing committee that the publications of the Society be suspended for the present on completion of Volume VIII, of the Documentary Series, is adopted, and that the price of Volumes VII and VIII be fixed at two dollars each, members having prepaid three dollars for each volume to receive a rebate of one dollar for each volume to be credited on the annual dues for 1902.

Also voted, that the Society publish annually the proceedings to be given to each member without charge.

The president called attention to the report of the committee on the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead, which had been printed and sent to each member of the Society, and called for a vote of acceptance of the deed of gift.

After some discussion a vote was taken, and it was nearly unanimous in favor of the acceptance.

On motion, the following resolves were passed:

Resolved, that the Maine Historical Society gratefully accepts the generous gift of the late Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, of the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead in the City of Portland, upon the conditions expressed in the deed of gift.

Resolved, that a committee of twelve be appointed by the president of the Society to take custody of the property, to prepare an appeal for contributions to enable the Society to conform to the conditions of the deed of gift, and, generally, to make all arrangements necessary to carry on the work to its completion, the Society believing that the sons and daughters of Maine, and the admirers of Longfellow throughout the land, will make a generous response to our call for aid in this noble undertaking.

The president then appointed the following as the committee :

Gen. John Marshall Brown.
Hon. Eugene Hale.
Prof. Henry L. Chapman.
Rev. John Carroll Perkins.
Hon. Joshua L. Chamberlain.
Henry Deering, Esq.
Hon. John F. Hill.
Hon. William P. Frye.
Hon. Thomas B. Reed.
Hon. Joseph W. Symonds.
Hon. Charles F. Libby.
Franklin A. Wilson, Esq.
Fritz H. Jordan, Esq.

On motion, it was voted that the president's name be added as chairman, ex officio, of the committee; also, that the president have power to add to the committee.

A vote of thanks was passed to Messrs. Brown, Deering and Jordan, the committee on the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead, for their interesting and valuable report.

On motion of Mr. Jordan, it was voted that the President of the Society be authorized and instructed to notify the executor of the estate of the late Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce of the acceptance by the Society of the Wadsworth-Longfellow property under the conditions of the deed from her, and generally to comply with any legal formalities that may be necessary or proper in the matter. Adjourned.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE LIBRARY AND CABINET, JUNE 26, 1901.

I have the honor to report to you the condition of the library and cabinet. The accessions for the past twelve months foot up, four hundred twenty-five bound volumes, seven hundred eighty-seven pamphlets; a larger showing of the latter than in former years.

Some necessary binding of periodicals has been done. As will appear by the treasurer's report large sales have been made of our publications, and the demand for sets of the quarterly proceedings will increase rather than diminish.

We shall be glad to receive back numbers, and especially indexes from those who do not care to bind their numbers of the quarterly.

The library has been kept open each weekday from 2 to 5 P. M., also on one evening a week from November to May. As in past years genealogies and local histories have been chiefly called for, and what we lack in many cases are supplied from the shelves of the Genealogical Society.

The local newspapers never contained so much history worth the preserving as at the present day. It is a problem how to get at it and put it in shape. One person or more can be kept busy cutting and mounting important historical contributions to the press of Maine.

Pamphlets also deserve immediate attention and care. Although their number is legion they are quickly lost sight of and forgotten unless cared for in a library and indexed.

A brief mention of some of the most valuable accessions during the past year will no doubt interest you. We have received the Essex Bar Memorials, New York State in the War of the Revolution, Groton, Massachusetts, in the War of the Revolution, New York at Gettysburg, in three large volumes, a set of the Reports of the Niagara Reservation Commission, Family Papers left by Hon. Rufus McIntire, former land agent, early copies of Indian Deeds, from the Winthrop family, Elder Sumner Rand's Manuscript Book of Records of Marriages and Baptisms, copy of the Diary of Col. John Storer at Louisburg in 1745, copies of letters by Captain Henry Mowat, a set of the Proceedings of the Bostonian Society, the Field Family Genealogy, History of Stonington, History of Kansas City.

Through the kindness of Miss Mary K. Longfellow we have received a quantity of family papers, carefully preserved by the late Mrs. Anne L. Pierce, and which will be mounted in volumes for the purpose, and kept in the Society's archives.

November 1, 1901.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland, to observe the millenary anniversary of the death of King Alfred, the Great.

It was called to order at 7.30 P. M. by the president, Mr. James P. Baxter, who offered the introductory remarks, and the following papers were read :

- I. The Life and Character of King Alfred,
Prof. J. WILLIAM BLACK, Colby College.
- II. Alfred the Writer and the Patron of Learning,
Prof. HENRY L. CHAPMAN, Bowdoin College.
- III. The Anglo-Saxon Constitution and Laws in the Time of Alfred the Great,
Hon. ALBERT R. SAVAGE, Auburn.
- IV. Alfred the Great as a Christian,
Rev. ASA DALTON, D. D., Portland.

Votes of thanks for the papers were passed and copies requested for the archives. Adjourned.

December 19, 1901.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., the president in the chair.

The librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, made a report of accessions to the library and cabinet.

Mr. John J. Gerrish presented to the Society a framed photograph of the first locomotive built by George Stephenson in 1825, with the following remarks :

What has been regarded by many as the birthday of the railway locomotive occurred on September 27, 1825, with Stephenson as the father of the event. The Stockton and Darlington Railway had been built, and, through his persistent efforts, laid with iron instead of wooden rails. Stephenson, himself, was the driver on that occasion, and before a tremendous crowd of curious and, for the most part, incredulous people, he drew a train of nearly thirty wagons, loaded with passengers and coal, at a speed of twelve or fifteen miles per hour. Thus the first train that ever carried passengers made its journey in safety, and the enthusiasm of the multitude was indescribable.

Extract from an old paper quoting from an English Review, 1825 :

“What can be more palpably absurd and ridiculous than the prospect held out of Locomotives travelling twice as fast as Stage Coaches. We should expect people of Woolwich (England) to suffer themselves to be fired off upon one of Congreve's Rockets, as to put themselves at the mercy of such a machine going at such a rate.”

Rev. Dr. Henry S. Burrage read a paper on the Acadians of Nova Scotia, and the causes which led to their expulsion by the government in 1755.

The paper called forth at its conclusion remarks from a number of interested auditors concerning especially descendants of the Acadians who had settled in the United States.

At the evening session Rev. John Carroll Perkins read a paper on Parson Thomas Smith of the First Parish of Portland and his Times.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN, DECEMBER 19,

The following have been received :

The dress sword of General Joseph Scott Jewett of Gorham, carried by General Henry Dearborn in the war of 1812, from Mrs. William S. Jewett.

An oil portrait on wood of John Neal, the author, painted in 1812, by George W. Appleton, a portrait painter of Boston, given by his daughter, Miss Georgiana Appleton, who gives also several drawings done by her father in 1829. Mr. Appleton was born in 1805 and died in 1831. He was the son of George W. and the grandson of Nathaniel Appleton. This excellent portrait of John Neal is the earliest one known to us.

A rusty fragment of a sword found with the skeleton of the owner in a grave near by the site of Fort Casco at Falmouth Foreside, from Herbert Payson.

An officer's commission issued to Samuel Clarke of Portland by the State of Massachusetts in 1818, from Charles L. Clarke.

Deed of land issued by the proprietors of the Kennebec purchase, from Robert H. Gardiner.

Photograph of the drawing by Cyrus William King, called an Illustrated Dictionary, and other photographs, from Marquis F. King.

Harvard College lottery ticket 1807, from Augustus F. Moulton.

Photograph copy of Montessor's Map of Northern Maine, from Professor Justin H. Smith.

Photographs of the Pepperell tablet at Appledore Island, from M. A. Safford.

Manuscript Memoir of Andrew Cushman, from R. F. Cushman.

Mrs. Preston Powers has kindly loaned for the decoration of the library, the beautiful marble bust of Professor Louis Agassiz, executed by her distinguished husband.

A member of the Society, the late Deacon Brown Thurston, has given a considerable number of books and pamphlets. Among them, which are new to our shelves, are the genealogies : Bates family, Bidwell family, Bouton family, Delamater family, Diamond family, Gerould family, Goodwins of Kittery, Greeley family, Hall family, Long Island families, Pearson family, Bidlon and Riddell, Morgan family, Wakefield Memorial, Danvers Military Annals, Volumes of Munsell's American Ancestry.

Mr. Charles B. and Miss Thurston have also kindly remembered us with their gifts of books and pamphlets.

The original Washington edition of President Jackson's Farewell Address of 1837 is received from F. Atwood.

Eight early Portland Directories and a framed portrait of General Neal Dow, from Mrs. Irving Blake.

- Raymond, N. H., fifty years ago, from D. H. Brown.
 Fifth Annual Reunion of the John Bean Family, from J. H. Drummond.
 Kittery and Eliot in the Revolution, from Oliver P. Remick.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MRS. ANNE LONGFELLOW PIERCE'S GIFT.

To the President and Members of the Maine Historical Society:

At a meeting of the Maine Historical Society held in Baxter hall, Portland, on January 25, 1901, the undersigned were appointed a committee to take into consideration the gift to the Society of the Wadsworth-Longfellow property in Portland, by Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, the sister of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and to report to the Society at the annual meeting in June what action they would recommend.

The valuable property in question presented to the Society by Mrs. Pierce consists of a lot of land sixty-six and one-half feet on Congress street, and two hundred and thirty-five feet deep, with the square three-storied brick house thereon.

The lot contains by city plans 16,093 feet, and the property was valued by the assessors in 1900 at $23,700, $21,000 of which was for the land. The actual value is probably considerably above these figures. It fronts on Congress street, near Monument square, in the center of the city, and adjoins the Preble House property on the northeast, land of heirs of Samuel Longfellow in the rear, and the Morton block and the land of different parties on the southwest. It is a part of the lot of land bought by General Peleg Wadsworth, of revolutionary fame, in 1784. On it he erected in 1785-6 the brick house now standing, originally of two stories, to which a third story was added by Stephen Longfellow in 1815. General Wadsworth occupied it as his home for a number of years prior to his removal to Hiram, and in it several of his children were born.

It is intimately associated with General Wadsworth, and with his sons, Henry Wadsworth, lieutenant United States navy, who lost his life under Commodore Preble before Tripoli in 1804, and Alexander Scammell Wadsworth, commodore United States navy, who as a lieutenant served on the Constitution in the escape from the British squadron, and in the action with the Guerriere in the war of 1812. It was afterwards the home of General Wadsworth's son-in-law, Stephen Longfellow, a former president of this Society, and one of its charter members. His children were born in this house, with the exception of the two oldest. The second of these was Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Here his youth and early manhood were passed, and here he returned every year in after life. From the upper windows in those early days the sea to the south, the mountains and woods to the north, were plainly visible, and from these sources came the inspiration of many of his poems. It is the first brick house erected within the city limits, and is a typical example of the best residences of this section in the latter part of the eighteenth and early part of the nineteenth centuries.

In its parlors the leading men of the city and State for several generations have been received, and every interest of an historic nature warrants its preservation as a memorial not only of the poet Longfellow, but of the two generations before him. Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce was born in the house and lived there her long life of ninety years, and her earnest desire that the house should be preserved as a memorial of those whose memory was dear to her prompted her to make to the Society this valuable gift.

The acquisition of the property by the Society and its preservation was a project dear to the heart of our former president, ex-Senator James W. Bradbury, and he devoted much time and thought to the matter.

The deed conveying the property to the Society, a copy of which is annexed, was dated April 27, 1895, and was delivered to the treasurer of the Society, January 21, 1901, four days prior to the death of Mrs. Pierce, which occurred January 25, 1901.

While all the considerations named are strongly in favor of the preservation of the property in its present condition, the members of your committee find that there are some difficulties connected with the acceptance of the gift under the conditions of the deed, viz.: The erection of a new building, the raising of funds for the cost of the same and the surrender of our present quarters. The present financial standing of the Society is as follows: It has an invested fund of about $14,000, the income of which is even now not sufficient for its needs, and none of which is available for the erection of a building. The library and cabinet were formerly in Brunswick. By an agreement entered into with the City of Portland, they were removed to Portland about 1882, and the city gave to the Society the use of rooms in the City Building. In 1889 the library and cabinet were removed to our present location in the Baxter Building, erected by the munificence of our President, the Hon. James P. Baxter, and deeded by him to the City of Portland for the use of the Public Library and the Maine Historical Society.

It will be observed by the deed of gift from Mrs. Pierce that the Society is required within six months from her decease to agree to the conditions of the deed, and that within nine months it shall engage to erect in the rear of the building, and connecting with it, a hall for the accommodation of its library and cabinet, and commence within two years the erection of this building. The possibility of the removal of the library and cabinet from the quarters now occupied was anticipated by Mr. Baxter, as appears in the indenture made December 31, 1888, between himself and the City of Portland. The premises conveyed by that indenture were to be held by said City of Portland for the use of the free Public Library and also for the use of the Maine Historical Society, quarters assigned for our own Society being specially designated in the instrument; occupancy by the Society to continue until by purchase, gift or devise it should become possessed of and should occupy other premises for its purposes.

Such in brief is the situation, but having taken all matters into consideration, and having carefully weighed all the difficulties, we are of the opinion that the opportunity to acquire this valuable property with all its rich associations should not be lost, that this historic house should not be allowed to be torn down as was the Hancock house in Boston, and we unanimously recommend to the Society the acceptance of the property under the conditions of the deed of gift.

We have procured estimates, which we believe to be substantially accurate, of the expense of erecting a library building and equipping it for the use of the Society. The building we recommend is thirty-six by sixty feet in inside dimensions, plain in its finish, and fire-proof throughout. The cost of the building completed, equipped and ready for occupancy will not exceed $21,000.

The plans of this building and the Longfellow House are annexed.

Without making any further suggestions with reference to this matter, which will doubtless be put in the hands of a building committee, we recommend that during the interval between the formal acceptance of the gift and the time necessary for making arrangements for the construction of the building, an appeal should be made to our citizens and to all outside of our State interested in the preservation of this historic monument for subscriptions to enable us to carry on the work. We have reason to believe, although it is not the province of this committee to solicit funds, that many are not only willing but desirous to aid the Society.

We are able to say from our present observations that there is a widespread interest in this matter, not only in the City of Portland, but in the State, amongst patriotic societies, and that this interest is shared by many not resident in Maine, but who have lived here or who are devotedly attached to the memory of our great poet Longfellow.

The Society has two years from Mrs. Pierce's death in which to raise funds and begin the erection of the building, and your committee has no doubt that within that period generous contributions will be made and the work begun in accordance with the noble wish of this generous lady, who has desired to perpetuate and desired us to perpetuate, this monument of two of the most conspicuous families of our State.

Inasmuch as the City of Portland will acquire for the use of the Public Library the rooms which will be vacated by the Society, your committee has reason to believe that some assistance may be expected from the city government towards the maintenance of this property.

The suggestion has been made that it might be possible to procure a very large collection of first editions of Longfellow publications, of portraits, autographs, etc., of works of both the Wadsworth and Longfellow families, and of furniture belonging to the period.

It is intimated to us that in case the property is accepted by this Society the Longfellow family desire to put the house in good condition, and we are authorized to state that by Mrs. Pierce's express desire certain pieces of family furniture, designated by her, will be left in the house, to help preserve its homelike character, so long as the Society shall hold it under the conditions of the deed.

Your committee recommend the adoption of the following resolutions :

Resolved, That the Maine Historical Society gratefully accepts the generous gift of the late Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce of the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead in the City of Portland, upon the conditions expressed in the deed of gift.

Resolved, That a committee of twelve be appointed by the president of the Society to take custody of the property, to prepare an appeal for contributions to enable the Society to conform to the conditions of the deed of gift, and generally to make all arrangements necessary to carry on the work to its completion, the Society believing that the sons and daughters of Maine, and the admirers of Longfellow throughout the land, will make a generous response to our call for aid in this noble undertaking.

[COPY OF DEED.]

WHEREAS certain gentlemen, members of the Maine Historical Society, have expressed a desire that their Society should become the owner of the Longfellow Mansion on Congress Street in Portland, Maine, with a view to its preservation as a Longfellow Memorial, therefore KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that I Anne Longfellow Pierce of said Portland, in consideration thereof, and of one dollar paid by the Maine Historical Society, the receipt whereof I do hereby acknowledge, do hereby give, grant and convey unto the said Maine Historical Society, its successors and assigns forever, a certain lot of land together with the buildings thereon, situated in Portland aforesaid on the Northerly side of Congress Street and bounded thus, viz.: beginning on the line of Congress Street at the Westerly corner of the Preble House lot, thence running Westerly by said street sixty-six and one-half (66 1-2) feet to the Easterly corner of the Morton property, owned by the P. H. and J. M. Brown Company, and from these two bounds extending back from Congress Street, keeping the width of sixty-six and one-half feet, two hundred and thirty-five (235) feet more or less to land of the late Rev. Samuel Longfellow.

This conveyance is made upon the following conditions, viz. :

FIRST. That said Society shall within six months from my decease agree to the conditions of this deed, and engage to make its home for its Library and Cabinet, and its ordinary meetings upon the premises.

SECOND. That the said Society shall preserve the main house thereon, and the front rooms on the first floor, substantially as they now are; having however liberty to remove the small office and the ell for the purpose of erecting a hall in the rear and connecting with the house for the accommodation of its Library and Cabinet.

In case the main house is within two years from my decease injured by fire to such an extent that the Grantee deems it too costly to restore it, then this deed shall be void.

THIRD. That said Society shall within nine months of my decease engage to erect such Hall, and shall commence the erection thereof within two years, and pursue the same with reasonable diligence, and when completed remove thereto its Library and Cabinet.

FOURTH. Said House and Hall shall be used solely for the appropriate purposes of said Society and other societies of a similar character, such as now enjoy privileges in the rooms at present occupied by the Maine Historical Society.

This conveyance is made with the expectation and request that no alienation shall be made of the property for a period of fifty years from the date of this deed.

FIFTH. The two front rooms upon the first floor of the House are to be kept with appropriate articles for a memorial of the home of Longfellow.

SIXTH. No other buildings during the above mentioned period except the Library shall be erected on the premises within one hundred feet of Congress Street.

SEVENTH. This deed shall not take effect until my death.

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD the aforegranted premises, with all the privileges and appurtenances thereof to said Grantee, its successors and assigns forever, but subject to the foregoing conditions.

And I do covenant with the said Grantee, its successors and assigns, that I am lawfully seized in fee of the premises: that they are free of all incumbrances: that I have good right to give and convey the same to the said Grantee to hold as aforesaid: and that I and my heirs shall and will warrant and defend the same to the said Grantee, its successors and assigns, forever against the lawful claims and demands of all persons.

Witness my hand and seal this 27th day of April, A. D. 1895.

MAINE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

LONGFELLOW MEMORIAL FUND.

By the deed of Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, the sister of the poet Longfellow, the Maine Historical Society holds the title, and is now in possession of the Wadsworth-Longfellow house in Portland, the familiar colonial mansion, which dates from the period of the American Revolution, is associated with the revolutionary fame of General Peleg Wadsworth, the father of Longfellow's mother, and was the home of the poet himself during his childhood and early manhood and until he was appointed Professor in Bowdoin College. Here his first, and some of his later, literary work was done. To this house, still in the possession of his family, he was accustomed all his life to make an annual visit. His mind often reverted, with peculiar interest, to the scenes and surroundings of this early home.

From the deck of the steamer approaching our harbor, he wrote in his journal, "At sunrise I caught a glimpse of the fair city of my birth, rising beautifully in terraces above the sea, — the calm, solemn sea, that I have seen so often, and that Jean Paul longed to see once before he died. A glorious scene, with market boats rowing cityward, rocks, promontories, light-houses, forts and wooded islands."

From its doors during his visits in Portland he writes of setting out on early morning walks, "through the streets of the beautiful town, as far as Bramhall's Hill, looking down upon Deering's woods," or of strolling down town, meeting the familiar faces of people whom he knew when a boy, or to the old fort on Munjoy, "which, as a boy of seven, I helped to build by rolling stones down the hill," or to the foot of Elm street at sunset, to watch the "shadows of the opposite shore, deepened, on one edge, into the blacker hues of the woodlands and fields, and, on the other, softened into the silvery tints of the water" — or of driving to the beautiful promontory and heights north of the city, towards Falmouth, or to Stroudwater, Westbrook and Gorham.

It was here, in this home, he lingered by the bedside of his loved and honored father, and, when all was over and he was returning to Cambridge, the stones on the hillside in our Western Cemetery, gleaming white, seemed in the sensitiveness of his grief to wave to him his father's last adieu.

The old First Parish church, where he was accustomed to worship and whose pastor was his lifelong friend, still stands near by, just as when the young Longfellow left our city.

Mrs. Pierce's deed makes the Historical Society trustee, on certain terms, to hold the title and to keep the property in its present condition, as a memorial of the poet in all the future. Besides careful provisions to this end, the Historical Society is required to make its own permanent home upon the premises, to erect in the rear of the house a hall for its cabinet and library, and to remove them there within reasonable time, there to remain. The place of deposit for the Society's valuable collections, published and unpublished, must of course be in a building of fire-proof construction.

At its annual meeting in June, 1901, the Historical Society decided to accept this generous gift, thereby engaging to fulfil the conditions of the deed. To meet them all in their full meaning and spirit, as the Society is now bound to do, a fund of from seventy-five to a hundred thousand dollars will be required.

The Historical Society was doubtless selected as a trustee, in this instance, because of its interest in all that tends to illustrate the history of Maine, or to perpetuate the monuments of its past; but it is not a moneyed institution and has no fund available for this purpose. Its acceptance of the gift and assumption of the obligation of the deed proceed upon the feeling that the rare munificence of Mrs. Pierce is not a thing to be refused; upon the belief, also, that an imperative public duty requires the preservation of property so rich in associations, memorable as they are imperishable, and that public regret, tending almost to indignation, would follow the destruction of it or its abandonment to business purposes. The Society confidently expects that, while it has not itself the resources required to meet the obligations it has undertaken, the citizens of Portland and of the State of Maine, natives of Maine who are now resident beyond its limits, many of whom have won wealth and honor abroad, and admirers everywhere of the most loved and most illustrious of American poets, will be glad to aid the Society in fulfilling its duty as trustee for the public under this deed from Mrs. Pierce; so that it may be able to hold in perpetuity, and to preserve from generation to generation, the home where the boyhood and youth of Longfellow dreamed and aspired, from which his footsteps set forth to the larger fields where his genius was to do its beautiful and beneficent work for the world, and to which they always fondly returned.

The charm of deep sensibility, of early and affectionate memory, as all the world knows, is in every line of Longfellow's letters and poems which touch upon this old home. The house remains as he remembered it in his boyhood, the atmosphere of the place full of recollections of him in that bright period when . the boy's will was the wind's will

 And the thoughts of youth were long, long thoughts, when the lingering impression silently stole upon his mind of shadowy lines of trees,

“The sheen of the far-surrounding seas,
* * * * *
And the beauty and mystery of the ships,
And the magic of the sea.”

Here are his own rooms, where visions, glimmering upon his thought at night during laborious days were written out in sentences of “airy gold” by his patient hand; the windows from which he and his distinguished brothers, when they were young, were accustomed to look out upon the mountains and the sea; the scene of the beautiful home life, of which his poetry is perhaps the tenderest and truest expression in all the range of our language, of fireside memories, which shine in many passages of his later works, the radiance of which was a subtle influence to mould his life and character to the beauty of his own ideals.

Years ago, when it was proposed to erect in Portland a statue of Longfellow, our Longfellow Statue Association said: “It would be a strange neglect of a beautiful and approved custom, both of ancient and of modern times, if the traveler, familiar with the poet’s life and works, with the sculptures which preserve his face and figure and attest his fame and influence in other cities and lands, were to find, at his birthplace, no worthy memorial of him.”

The response to this appeal was immediate. A noble statue of the poet now graces Longfellow square.

The question is no longer one of erecting a monument to his memory, but of keeping intact for all coming time a monument already built, more intimately associated with his life and thought, more eloquent of him, than it would be possible now to construct of marble or of bronze.

Within the limits of our State is there a memorial of the past, the loss of which would cause so universal regret over the preservation of which so many family circles would rejoice?

The hearty coöperation of the entire community is earnestly solicited; children, in the poetry of whose lives he so delighted to share, whose voices were to him as the sound of glancing waters in the desert, with love for whom his pages glow; men and women, who find in his writings something to heighten the joy of the happiest moments, as well as to mitigate the bitterness of life's recurring sorrows, all are invited. The place will be sacred to the lovers of Longfellow the world over.

While it is believed that those who can will give generously, the smallest contributions will be welcomed, and it is hoped that those whose means are not equal to their will to help, will not be deterred from giving because others are in a position to contribute more largely than they.

The names of all who subscribe will be enrolled in a volume, to be always open to visitors at the Longfellow house.

Contributions may be sent to Fritz H. Jordan, Esq., Treasurer, Portland, Maine. They will be at once directly acknowledged to those from whom they are received, and the fund will be kept wholly separate as "The Longfellow Memorial Fund of the Maine Historical Society," until applied to the use for which it is given.

PROCEEDINGS.

JANUARY 30, 1902.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland and, in the absence of the president, Rev. Dr. Burrage took the chair at 2.30 P. M.

Mr. Samuel T. Dole, of South Windham, read a paper on Lormon Rhodes, the colored patriot of Windham, who joined the Continental Army and passed that memorable winter at Valley Forge, and finally gave his life to his country.

Hon. George F. Emery read a brief paper on the error of the use of coat armor or heraldry in America.

Mr. Bryant, recording secretary, in acknowledging the gift from the late Father O'Brien, made the following remarks:

On the 12th of November last there passed away at Bangor one of our resident members, the Rev. Michael Charles O'Brien, whose knowledge of the aboriginal language of New England, the Abnaki tongue, was unequalled. It is creditable to our Society that twenty years ago we recognized his scholarship and elected him a resident member.

He read before the society a paper on the Abnaki noun and hoped he should find time from his professional duties to prepare other papers, but the pressure upon his time was too great and we fear that many years may elapse before another may take up the study and complete Father O'Brien's work.

It will be remembered that he was with us on our field day excursion to Norridgewock and Waterville a few years ago.

Our associate member, Mr. Boardman, editor of the Bangor Commercial, in an editorial makes his tribute to Father O'Brien from which I quote:

"Having been sent as a priest to the church at Oldtown in 1877 Father O'Brien commenced the study of the Abnaki language, in order that he might more effectually administer to the spiritual necessities of that remnant of this ancient tribe of aborigines living in that town. He made an exact and thorough study of the language so as to speak it with readiness. To his church, to this community, to the State, to universal learning, the death of Father O'Brien is a serious loss, and the people of Bangor, where he was best known, will bear witness to his devotion, his high character, his regard for the good of this city and for all the best interests of the community."

By his will, Father O'Brien has bequeathed to our society his manuscripts and printed volumes, among these latter being the following: Trumbull's Indian Names in Connecticut, Laurent's Abnakis and English Dialogues, Field's Essay towards an Indian Bibliography, Ruttenberger's Indian Tribes of the Hudson River, Maurault's History of the Abnakis, Vetromile's Abnakis and other volumes, Iroquois Syllabary, Sacombe's Dictionary of the Cris Language, The Missionary's Companion on the Pacific Coast, Cuoq's Lexicon of the Iroquois, Bellenger's Grammar of the Micmac, Bressani's Account of the Jesuit Missions, Bishop Baraga's Grammar and Dictionary of the Otchipwe Indians, Nickola Tenesle's Etchemin and Mik Mak Indian Language and Customs, Jonathan Trumbull's History of the Discovery of America.

These are among the most important items of Father O'Brien's bequest and will form a memorial of him to be kept for years in our library.

MARCH 27, 1902.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland and was called to order at 2.30 p. m. by the president.

The librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, read the following report of accessions:

Our thanks are due also to the several colleges and institutions of learning throughout New England for their catalogues and annual reports, also to associates all over the United States for their annual publications.

Charles E. Brown, the well known Eastport photographer, has presented to the Maine Historical Society, finely colored photographs, of large size, of Capt. Sopiél Selmore and his wife, Mary, in full tribal dress. Capt. Sopiél is a full-blooded Abnaki, has never learned to speak the English language with facility, is a devoted Christian and has for many years been the chief of the Passamaquoddy Indians, living in their principal village at Pleasant Point in the town of Perry, Me.

He is a man of fine presence and leads his people in tribal matters with great dignity and wisdom; he is held in the highest esteem by his white neighbors. He was born in Perry, July 10, 1803, and is consequently in his 98th year. He has been twice married, the photograph presented by Mr. Brown being that of his second wife, who is many years his junior. Both photographs were taken last year.

Capt. Sopiél is a member of the Maine Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and one of the very few living sons of fathers who figured in the scenes of the Revolution. He is a son of Capt. Selmore Soetomah, who with others of his tribe served under Col. John Allan in service on the eastern frontier and was living as late as 1860, being then 103 years old. He was the leader of a band of fifty Indians who captured an armed British schooner in Passamaquoddy bay during the Revolution and delivered her to Col. Allen. Capt. Sopiél follows the Indian custom of making the Christian name of his father his own surname.

Mr. S. B. Cloudman of Gorham read a paper on the "Old Time Militia" and the "Annual General Muster." The paper was largely reminiscent and called forth agreeable recollections from Mr. George F. Emery, Rev. B. P. Snow and Rev. H. O. Thayer.

Hon. Horace H. Burbank of Saco read a paper on Governor James Sullivan who was a native of Maine and a very distinguished citizen.

Votes of thanks were passed for the papers read and copies requested for the Society's archives.

Adjourned until 7.30 P. M.

At the evening session Hon. George F. Emery of Portland read a paper entitled, "How Our Fathers Lived."

A closing tribute was paid to our ancestors, whose hardships, self denials, labors and exposures in carving from a rugged soil and the primeval forest, farms and homes, seem to be forgotten in the comforts and luxuries of the present day. On us, their posterity, rests a debt of gratitude which should never be forgotten.

Adjourned.

MAY 16, 1902.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library in Portland and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., Professor Henry L. Chapman of Brunswick in the chair.

Hon. Joseph Williamson of Belfast read a paper on "The Projected Separation of Maine from Massachusetts in 1764." The paper was founded on documents found in England recently through the medium of the Historical Manuscripts Commission.

Mr. Andrew A. Melvin read brief extracts from his notes on the journal of James Melvin, a private soldier in Colonel Arnold's expedition to Quebec of 1775.

The customary votes of thanks were passed for the papers read and copies requested for the archives.

JUNE 24, 1902.

The annual meeting was held at the Cleaveland Lecture Room at Brunswick, June 24, 1902, and was called to order at 2.00 P. M. by the president, Mr. Baxter.

Members present: Messrs. Allen, Baxter, Burrage, Brown, Bryant, Henry L. Chapman, Conant, J. L. Chamberlain, Drake, Elder, Fellows, Glidden, Goold, Jordan, Lee, Lewis, Little, Perkins, P. M. Reed, Safford, Stubbs, Stilphen, Weeks, Willis, Williamson, Wood.

Mr. Allen was appointed secretary pro tem.

On motion of Mr. Goold it was voted to dispense with the reading of the records of the last annual meeting, as they had been printed.

The annual reports of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, were read by him and accepted.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, Mr. Williamson, was read by him and was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Jordan, was read by him and was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

On motion the president appointed a committee to nominate a board of officers for the ensuing year consisting of Messrs. Williamson, Chapman and Drake. The committee retired and shortly afterwards reported that they had agreed upon a renomination of the former board of officers with the name of George A. Emery of Saco on the Standing Committee in place of the late Edward P. Burnham.

The Rev. Dr. Burrage, on the part of the special committee on the library for the disposal of the Society's publications, made a report on the work they had accomplished.

It was voted to refer the reprinting of Volume II of the first series to the standing committee.

No objection being made the ballot for the officers for the ensuing year was deposited and they were declared elected.

The recording secretary read annual reports from the following County Historical Societies: The Kennebec Society of Augusta, the Sagadahoc Society of Bath, and the Lincoln Society of Wiscasset. These reports were accepted to be placed on file.

Mr. Safford of Kittery reported that he had caused, on behalf of the Maine Historical Society, to be placed a bronze tablet on a block of granite at Appledore, Isles of Shoals, attesting the site of the homestead of Col. William Pepperrell and the probable birthplace of his distinguished son, Sir William. Mr. Safford's report was accepted, and a vote of thanks was passed for his action in the matter.

Mr. Jordan made a report concerning the Fort Halifax blockhouse in the town of Winslow, and on his motion it was voted that the president appoint some resident member to take charge of the property for the Society, the deed to be accepted.

Mr. Williamson reported concerning the Fort Pownal lot on the Penobscot river.

Mr. Jordan, on the behalf of the committee on the King family burial lot at Scarborough, made report recommending the acceptance of the deed of gift. The report was accepted and the plan adopted.

The president made a brief report on the Fort Popham memorial tablet.

Voted, that the same committee be continued.

The matter of a field day excursion was discussed and it was voted that the choice be made by a committee to be appointed by the chair. The following were accordingly appointed the committee: Messrs. Frank D. Marshall, Nathan Goold, Dr. J. L. M. Willis.

A report on the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead was read by the Rev. John Carroll Perkins and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The treasurer, Mr. Jordan, made a detailed report of the receipts and expenditures of the homestead fund, which was also accepted and ordered to be placed on file.

It was voted that the homestead committee be continued, with power to fill vacancies, also with power to appoint a committee to have charge of the construction of the new library building.

Voted, to extend the thanks of the Society to each member of the Longfellow family for their interest and efforts in rendering assistance to the Society for the preservation of the Wadsworth-Longfellow home.

On motion of the Rev. Dr. Burrage it was voted that a committee of three be appointed to consider in what way the societies now occupying the library room of the Maine Historical Society may best be provided for in the proposed new building. The chair accordingly appointed Messrs. Burrage, Brown and Conant as said committee.

It was proposed to amend Section 2 of the By-laws by striking out "and shall not exceed two hundred in number."

Messrs. Conant, Chamberlain and Burrage were appointed by the chair to distribute, count and assort ballots for the election of members, with the following result :

For resident members :

Charles Sumner Cook, Portland.
Prof. A. L. P. Dennis, Brunswick.
George W. Drisko, Machias.
James E. Dunning, Portland.
Charles Fobes Flagg, Portland.
Charles H. Payson, Portland.
George M. Seiders, Portland.
Albert M. Spear, Gardiner.
Rev. Harry P. Seymour, Portland.
Archie Lee Talbot, Lewiston.
Henry S. Webster, Gardiner.
Hon. William P. Whitehouse, Augusta.
Rev. Samuel Worcester, Portland.

For corresponding members :

Edward King, New York.
 Alexander W. Longfellow, Boston.
 Richard King Longfellow, Boston.
 Ellis B. Usher, La Crosse, Wis.
 Henry Ernest Woods, Boston.

On motion it was voted to petition the next legislature to amend Section 1 of the charter, increasing the amount of the real and personal estate to be held by the Society and that the treasurer, Mr. F. H. Jordan, have the matter in charge.

Adjourned.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON WADSWORTH- LONGFELLOW HOUSE IN PORTLAND.

To the President and Members of the Maine Historical Society:

On January 25, 1901, immediately after the death of Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, a meeting of the Maine Historical Society was held in Portland, and Gen. John Marshall Brown, Mr. Henry Deering, Mr. Fritz H. Jordan were appointed a committee to take into consideration the gift to the Society of the Wadsworth-Longfellow house in Portland. That committee reported, recommending that the gift be accepted and that a committee of twelve be appointed to take custody of the property and in general to make all arrangements to carry out the purposes of the gift and its acceptance. This report, together with much data regarding the house and gift has already been published in the proceedings of the Society.

A committee of thirteen was appointed which, with President Baxter made fourteen, consisting of Gen. John Marshall Brown, Hon. Eugene Hale, Prof. Henry L. Chapman, Rev. John Carroll Perkins, Hon. Joshua L. Chamberlain, Henry Deering, Esq., Hon. John F. Hill, Hon. William P. Frye, Hon. Thomas B. Reed, Hon. Joseph W. Symonds, Hon. Charles F. Libby, Franklin A. Wilson, Esq., Fritz H. Jordan, Esq.

This committee met for organization in Portland, July 15, 1901. Mr. Jordan was elected treasurer, Mr. Perkins was elected secretary. Mr. Symonds and Mr. Chapman were appointed a committee to prepare an appeal to the public for assistance in fulfilling the terms of the deed of gift. Mr. Brown, Mr. Jordan, Mr. Deering and Mr. Perkins were appointed a committee for the raising of funds.

So soon as the conditions of the gift and the purposes of the Society became known to the public there was a marked expression of sympathy in the whole project. This was especially so among the various patriotic and historical organizations of women in Portland and the State. There was generous eagerness to aid the Society in any possible way. As a result, a conference was held between the committee for the raising of funds and about ten organizations of women, on July 26. These societies formed themselves into a committee, of which Mrs. George S. Hunt of Portland was made chairman, to devise methods of raising money to assist the Society in its task. Similar sympathetic efforts were undertaken and carried out by other organizations in Portland and the State, none of which was more interesting to your committee than the raising of a considerable sum by the inmates of the Old Ladies' Home in Portland. How well and in what various ways this committee succeeded, the report of your treasurer shows.

On August 13, an appeal to the public, prepared by the committee for that purpose, was published in the daily papers. Made into a circular, seven thousand were sent out, not only through the United States but in foreign countries, and the world was made aware of this work of the Maine Historical Society. The interest in the preservation of the house, manifested by many organizations in the country, by publishers and editors and people of all classes and professions encouraged the committee to take steps to open the house for visitors. This was made possible, especially by the offer of the Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution, to detail two or more of its members to be on duty and act as assistants in the exhibition of the house. Mr. Nathan Gould and Mr. E. S. E. McLellan took active charge of the project. The house was opened to the public on August 1, and remained open daily, Sundays excepted, until the 19th of October. An admission fee of twenty-five cents was required. During that time about three thousand visitors came to the house, whose names, registered in a book, disclosed their places of residence in nearly every State of the Union and the chief nations of Europe and Asia. The manner in which these people lingered about the premises, even though the house was almost devoid of furniture, and recalled the historic traditions of the place, convinced your committee of the rich prize that has come into our possession.

During the fall and winter, the Longfellow family in Portland and Cambridge, with great generosity and rare discrimination, have renovated and restored, at their own expense, this historic house to its natural condition as a typical brick town mansion of the early part of the last century. The house thus prepared was again opened to the public on June 23, 1902.

Under the conditions of the deed of gift, and acceptance, it was required that within two years from the decease of the donor, steps should be taken to erect a fireproof library building upon the land immediately back of the house. The committee have considered this matter with due seriousness, have consulted with architects and sought varied advice. They have engaged Mr. Alexander Wadsworth Longfellow of Boston, a nephew of Mrs. Pierce, to prepare plans for the new library building, with Mr. F. H. Fassett of Portland as associate architect. Your committee recommends that the new library building be erected against the eastern line of the property, and as far back from Congress street as shall appear advisable to the architects. It is in this way only that the old-fashioned garden, so precious to the family through many generations, and so indispensable to the new building for light and space and beauty, can be preserved. One of the great charms of the present house is the vista through the main hall and into the old sunny garden. It is the opinion of the committee that this vista be kept.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN CARROLL PERKINS,
for the committee.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE LIBRARY AND CABINET, JUNE 24, 1902.

Once again I am privileged to make report to you on the growth of the library. We find that during the past twelve months have been added 409 bound volumes and 482 pamphlets. Our library now numbers nearly 14,000 bound volumes.

Through the generous gift of the Thurston family of local histories and genealogies, the library has been especially enriched in this direction. Many desirable volumes have also been added through the efforts of your library committee.

We have perfected our set of the publications of the Royal Society of Canada in both series and made a good beginning on a set of the Bancroft's California and Pacific Coast history.

The treasurer's report will give the amount of cash paid for books and besides this we have added sixty dollars' worth of books to the library, paid for in miscellaneous duplicates. Some needed binding, has been done at a moderate cost.

A noticeable feature of the year's progress is the gift of the printed works and MSS. relating to the American Indians and their languages from the late Rev. M. C. O'Brien, a resident member.

The cataloguing of the bound volumes on the main floor of the library has been completed by Mr. Thayer.

A useful piece of work has been done by Mr. William L. Fernald in a copy of the records of the 2d Church of Kittery from 1721 to 1827. It comprises about 200 pages.

The coming year, it is believed, will be productive of several works of local Maine history that will prove of equal importance to any that have preceded them.

We learn that the new history of Gorham is being printed and may be looked for in the autumn.

Mr. Stackpole writes of his history of Kittery that the first part is already in type. It will probably make 800 pages and will be especially rich in the genealogy of Kittery families.

Mr. Cole of Buckfield reports that his history is also nearly completed and will see the light within the year.

Mr. Drisko of Machias writes that the people of Washington County are enthusiastic about his work and are freely contributing to it both to the history of the town and the history of the county.

Mr. N. H. Libby of Bridgton is collecting material for a history of that town and Mr. J. M. Benjamin of Winthrop has much important material for a new history and we trust he may live to publish it.

The centennial celebrations occurring this year in Baldwin, York, Waterville and Lincolnville should result in the preparation and publication of good histories of those towns.

Much important local history is contributed to our newspapers through the efforts of Mr. L. B. Chapman, Mr. Nathan Goold and Mr. J. W. Penney and no doubt by others in other parts of the State.

We are glad to see that Dr. Willis of Eliot proposes to continue his periodical devoted to the history of old Eliot.

The reprint of the diary of Peter Edes, edited by Mr. Samuel L. Boardman and printed at Bangor, also the reprint of the diary of James Melvin, a private soldier in Arnold's expedition to Quebec, edited by A. A. Melvin and printed in Portland, are literary events worthy of especial note.

A biography of Moses Greenleaf with his unpublished letters and a bibliography of engraved maps of Maine is being prepared by his grandson, Judge Edgar C. Smith.

The past year has not brought in many important contributions to the cabinet and picture gallery. A praiseworthy tendency of the age is to make collections and present them to societies such as ours and to public institutions. We have reason to believe that there are important collections of stone implements, relics of the Civil War, American engraved portraits and some other special collections intended for us and in fact we are authorized to say that it is the intention of Mrs. E. E. Eastman of Portland, at some future day to give to the Society her extensive and valuable collection of china and pottery.

Our prospective building cannot be made too large, for in a brief score of years we, too, shall have a centennial celebration and shall need plenty of space to exhibit the treasures that will be given us.

FIELD DAY EXCURSION.

Mr. Samuel T. Dole of South Windham, read some extracts from the Records of the First Church of New Marblehead, now Windham.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Burrage, a committee of five was appointed to take into consideration the desirability of the Society's holding a meeting, commemorative of the early voyages of Sir Humphrey Gilbert, Martin Pring, and others, to this coast three hundred years ago. Accordingly, the president appointed Messrs. Henry S. Burrage, Prof. Henry L. Chapman, Prof. J. William Black, Rev. John Carroll Perkins and Mr. Nathan Goold as a committee of arrangements.

Mr. Richard Webb read a paper on "Thomas B. Reed and his Public Career."

Remarks were made on the papers read and votes of thanks were passed, with requests for copies for the archives.

Adjourned.

APRIL 30, 1903.

A meeting was held at the library in Portland, and was called to order by the president at 2.30 P. M.

The librarian and curator read a report of accessions to the library and cabinet.

Mr. Nathan Goold read a paper on "General Samuel Thompson of Topsham, a Patriot of the Revolution," and at the close displayed a bronze marker to be placed on General Thompson's grave at Topsham, on Memorial Day, by order of the Maine Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Rev. Henry O. Thayer read a paper on "The Preble Massacre at Woolwich, the Last Tragedy of the Indian Wars in Maine, June, 1758."

Interesting remarks on both the papers read were made by the president, Rev. Dr. Burrage and Rev. B. P. Snow, and the wish was expressed that these historic sites in Maine might be appropriately marked.

The committee appointed to consider the desirability of holding meetings commemorative of early voyages to the coast of Maine reported, suggesting that the Society observe the tercentenary of such voyages, commencing with that of Martin Pring in 1603, to be followed by other voyages in 1604, 1605, 1606 and 1607. The suggestion was adopted and the arrangements for these meetings was left with the committee.

Votes of thanks were passed for the papers read and copies requested for the archives.

Since our report of February 6, the following accessions have been received :

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 23, 1903.

The annual meeting was held, as customary, at the Cleaveland Lecture Room, Brunswick, June 23, 1903, and was called to order at 2.00 P. M., the president in the chair.

Mr. Charles E. Allen was appointed secretary pro tem.

Members present: Messrs. Allen, Baxter, Belcher, Bryant, Henry L. Chapman, Crosby, Dennis, Drake, Geo. A. Emery, Goold, Jordan, King, James M. Larrabee, Lewis, Little, Manning, Perkins, Penney, P. M. Reed, Stilphen, Stubbs, Sturtevant and Wood.

Voted, to dispense with the reading of the records of the last annual meeting, as they had been printed.

The annual report of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, was read by him, and was approved to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Jordan, was read by him, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, and it was approved.

A letter from Mr. William Freeman of Cherryfield, Me., addressed to the Rev. Dr. Burrage, was read by the president. Mr. Freeman offers to give to the Society sundry documents once the property of Judge Samuel Freeman, his grandfather.

It was voted that the thanks of this Society be extended to the Hon. William Freeman for his generous donation of valuable family papers.

On motion it was voted that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to nominate a board of officers for the ensuing year, and the following were appointed: Messrs. Goold, Belcher and Reed. The committee accordingly retired and shortly after reported upon the following ballot for the board of officers :

President—James P. Baxter.

Vice President—Henry L. Chapman.

Treasurer—Fritz H. Jordan.

Corresponding Secretary and Biographer—Samuel L. Boardman.

Recording Secretary, Librarian and Curator—H. W. Bryant.

Standing Committee—Henry S. Burrage, Henry L. Chapman, John Marshall Brown, John M. Glidden, Fritz H. Jordan, Prentice C. Manning, Franklin A. Wilson, George A. Emery, Augustus F. Moulton.

No objection being made it was voted that the secretary cast the ballot, which was accordingly done, and the officers were declared elected.

It was voted that the following names, which had been approved by the standing committee, be added to the the regular ballot of candidates for resident members, which had been sent to each member of the Society one month in advance of the annual meeting :

Silas P. Maxim of South Paris.
 Thomas E. Calvert of Portland.
 George C. Purington of Farmington.
 Everett B. Norton of Farmington.

The ballots were then distributed and the following names in addition were declared elected resident members :

Albert W. Butler of Rockland.
 Isaac W. Dyer of Gorham.
 Dr. Frederic H. Gerrish of Portland.
 Francis B. Greene of Boothbay Harbor.
 John Haley of Saco.
 General Charles Hamlin of Bangor.
 Darius H. Ingraham of Portland.
 A. F. Lewis of Fryeburg.
 William H. Looney of Portland.
 Joseph H. Manley of Augusta.
 Barrett Potter of Brunswick.
 Harold M. Sewall of Bath.
 W. D. Spencer of Berwick.
 Richard Webb of Portland.
 Rev. Edwin C. Whittemore of Waterville.

Hugh J. Chisholm of New York, was elected a corresponding member, and Henry Vignaud of Paris, was elected an honorary member.

Rev. John Carroll Perkins read his annual report on the Wadsworth-Longfellow House and it was accepted to be placed on file.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen it was voted that Section 16 of the By-laws be amended at the next annual meeting as follows :

Voted, That Section 16 of the By-laws be amended by inserting after the words "the president," in next to the last line of said section, the words "vice president, treasurer," so that, as amended, the last clause of said section shall read: "The president, vice president, treasurer, recording secretary and corresponding secretary shall be ex officio members of this committee.

On motion of Professor Chapman it was voted that the names of Mrs. Abba Goold Woolson, Miss Sarah Orne Jewett and Mrs. Kate Douglass Wiggin Riggs be added to the list of honorary members.

The question of the admission of women as resident members was briefly discussed, and finally referred to the standing committee for further action.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen it was voted that the following amendment to Section 2 of the By-laws be voted upon at the next annual meeting: to insert the words "and fifty" after the words "two hundred," so that the section shall read: "Resident members must be residents of Maine and shall not exceed two hundred and fifty in number."

On motion of Mr. Bryant, a special vote of thanks was extended to the Rev. Henry O. Thayer, who is about to remove from the State, for his contributions to the history of this State, and especially for his work in editing the reprint of volume two of the first series of the Society's collections.

On motion of Mr. King it was also voted that Mr. Thayer's name be added to the list of honorary members.

Annual reports of the Lincoln County, Kennebec County, Pejepscot, York Village and Waterville Historical Societies were read by the recording secretary.

The following were appointed by vote a committee on the field day excursion: Messrs. Baxter, Burrage and Goold, with power to appoint a sub-committee.

The treasurer, Mr. Jordan, reported that at the last session of the legislature, an amendment to the charter had been made increasing the amount of the estate to be held by the Society from $50,000 to $500,000.

On motion of Mr. Manning it was voted to authorize the secretary in behalf of this Society to write a letter to the New England Historic Genealogical Society fully endorsing the valuable work which it is now undertaking of publishing extracts from the Wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury beginning in 1620, a work which cannot fail of being a great benefit to the student of history and genealogy.

It was voted that the names of delinquent members as reported to the standing committee be dropped from the roll of membership.

Mr. Jordan gave notice that an amendment to Section 8 of the By-laws would be voted upon at the next annual meeting, that members not paying dues for two years be dropped from the roll of membership.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN AND CURATOR.

JUNE 23, 1903.

I have the honor to present herewith my twenty-second annual report. The past year has proved, we think, to be as the farmer says, "an off year," for the accessions number but 325 bound volumes and 410 pamphlets, not including periodicals. Our friends perhaps see that we are crowded and withhold their gifts for the time being. However, our treasury never overflows, and with cash we can buy the books most called for. As will appear by the Treasurer's report we have indulged in the luxury of some scarce and high-priced local histories.

We have subscribed for the Massachusetts Town Vital Records, published under the auspices of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and already a dozen volumes have appeared.

We have received also ten volumes of the Records of the Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolution enrolled in Massachusetts.

During the past year several new local histories have appeared, viz.: The Centennial History of Waterville, The History of Gorham, by Mrs. Lewis, and The History of Kittery, by Mr. Stackpole. Small registers or directories of the towns of Appleton and Stonington may serve as stepping-stones to more ambitious volumes.

We learn that several new locals are being prepared, such as Boothbay Harbor, Boothbay, Southport and vicinity, by F. B. Greene; Hampden, by Frank H. Damon; Standish, by Dr. Meserve; North Anson, by Mrs. V. D. Hilton. The second volume of the History of Belfast may be published by the family of the lamented author.

Mr. Reed contemplates a new edition of his history of Bath; and a new edition of the Life of Hannah Weston, with a condensed history of the first settlement of Machias, Jonesborough and neighboring towns, by George W. Drisko, has recently appeared.

Mr. L. B. Chapman has made good use of a portion of the Governor King papers in his newspaper articles, which will appear later in a more convenient and durable form.

Mr. Goold, Mr. Dole and Mr. Penney are enriching our local history with their contributions.

The York Historical Society has authorized a committee to publish a complete report of their celebration in August last.

The Acadians of Madawaska is an important contribution to the history of the State, by the Rev. Charles W. Collins.

Historical addresses have also been received of centennial celebrations at South Berwick and Brownfield.

The year book of the Maine Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will be found valuable for reference.

Some binding, especially in periodicals, has been done, and orders have been given for the substantial binding of the Stevens Revolutionary Facsimile Documents in 25 folio volumes.

Our library has been a popular resort for visitors. The register shows for the past twelve months the names of 1,072 ladies and gentlemen from twenty-seven states and territories. As usual it has been opened daily from 2 to 5 p. m., and for six months in the year it has been opened one evening in the week.

A very interesting memorial of the Popham Family of Littlecote is a privately printed volume, sumptuously bound, received from Watney Vernon, Esq.

We are indebted to Mr. J. M. Benjamin, of Winthrop, for copious notes of the soldiers of the Revolution identified with that town.

To the family of the late Judge Williamson we are indebted for a considerable gift of bound and unbound periodicals and pamphlets.

Mr. William Freeman, of Cherryfield, grandson of Judge Samuel Freeman, has generously contributed a quantity of his family papers to the Society's archives. These include several important letters of Revolutionary interest.

In periodicals, mostly quarterlies, we are receiving twenty different publications. As a matter of opinion, we believe this form of publication of historical papers and proceedings to be the best, although they seem never to have flourished in this State for any length of time.

Dr. Lapham, Colonel Porter, General Cilley and S. W. Watson have had their experience. Many other periodicals of a popular character, since the year 1830, have lived for a brief period only.

Although no number of the Old Eliot Historical Publication has recently appeared, we are assured that the fire is yet alive, and will soon be rekindled.

There is also some interest manifested in the continuance of Watson's Genealogical Recorder, under the auspices of the Maine Genealogical Society.

The same Society has already undertaken the responsibility of the publication of two additional volumes of the York deeds, viz. : Volumes XII and XIII, under the patronage of the State.

A bound typewritten copy of a history of Bowdoinham is the gift of Captain A. Curtis. The original material of this history was collected by Mr. Silas Adams.

An interesting gift from Mr. A. W. Longfellow is a roller map bearing the following inscription : Map of the Country explored in the years 1817, '18, '19, '20, by orders of the Commissioners under the 5th article of the Treaty of Ghent, copied from a Government copy in the Secretary of State's office, which was loaned to me for that purpose by Governor Lincoln, which constitutes the basis from which my brother laid down the northern part of his map of Maine, 1827-28.

(Signed)

SIMON GREENLEAF.

The recent publication at Bangor of Judge Edgar C. Smith's memoir of his distinguished grandfather, Moses Greenleaf, with a complete account of Mr. Greenleaf's publications and maps, is most timely and of great interest.

In this connection we may mention that we afforded Judge Smith every facility for consulting our collection of maps, but we wished at the same time that we had better space for the purpose.

Our Society will double its usefulness when our collections of maps and newspapers are made available, as we hope they may be, in our new building.

Regarding the future of the library. As we know, it has grown four-fold in twenty years, and there seems to be no limit to the possibilities of its future growth. We shall need every foot of space in the new building in justice to the requirements of the Society.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON WADSWORTH-
LONGFELLOW MEMORIAL.

To the President and Members of the Maine Historical Society:

At the last annual meeting of the Society, we were able to report that we had engaged Mr. Alexander Wadsworth Longfellow of Boston, nephew of Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce, to prepare plans for the new library building, with Mr. F. H. Fassett of Portland, as associate architect. Our committee met on July 11, 1902, and appointed a special committee, consisting of Hon. James P. Baxter, LL.D., Franklin R. Barrett, Esq., Gen. John Marshall Brown, Fritz H. Jordan, Esq., Rev. John Carroll Perkins, to have charge of the construction of the new library building. This committee met on various occasions and diligently considered problems of location, plans of the house, methods of construction and like details. Under their direction the foundations of the new building were dug and laid in the fall of 1902, before the cold of winter had set in. On the 27th day of May last, the masons, F. W. Cunningham & Son, began the construction of the walls. This work is going on rapidly at the present time. The walls are regarded as superior in construction to the walls of any brick building ever erected in Portland. The iron work has been awarded to the Eastern Expanded Metal Co.; and the carpenter work to Mr. Spencer Rogers.

Meantime the Wadsworth-Longfellow House has been kept in excellent repair. The grounds have been graded to the level of the basement of the new library foundations. Wires for electric lighting have been introduced into the house, and fixtures peculiarly appropriate to the character of the building have been procured. The house thus prepared was opened to the public for the second year on June 23, 1902, and remained open until the following 25th of October. An admission fee of twenty-five cents, as on the previous year, was required. The number of people thus visiting the house and paying for admission reached the extraordinary figures of 6,362, an average daily attendance of 51.

In the opinion of the committee it is impossible to sufficiently express the value of the services of Mr. Nathan Gould in his careful oversight of the house, bringing its historic worth and its treasures to the attention of the public, instructing the guides, who were in attendance on various days, arranging in great part the rooms of the house, remaining himself in attendance every day except one during the season, and performing by correspondence and personal oversight the vast volume of details requisite for the successful maintenance of such a memorial. His labors and time have been given out of love for the undertaking and without compensation. From June 23rd to August 1st, twenty-seven members of the Elizabeth Wadsworth chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and six members of the Daughters of the War of 1812, served in groups as guides without compensation. From August 1st until October 25th, like service was rendered by eighty-three members of the Literary Union. Mr. E. S. E. McLellan and Miss Margaret E. Fox were regularly employed for similar and other necessary service.

The house has become a chief center of attraction for the many summer visitors to Maine, who pass through Portland, and who represent practically every civilized country in the world. On the 26th day of August, President Theodore Roosevelt and suite were entertained by Hon. James P. Baxter and other members of the committee and friends. On various occasions many members of military and labor organizations have been admitted to the house in a body. The public interest in this property of our Society, not only as the home of the Wadsworth and Longfellow families, but as a typical home of its period in New England life, continues to exceed the most sanguine anticipations of any of the friends of the undertaking and justifies its dedication to historic purposes. We are glad also to make record of the continued and very valuable generosity of members of the Wadsworth and Longfellow descendants.

NOVEMBER 19, 1903.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall in Portland in commemoration of the early voyages to this coast in the seventeenth century, and was called to order at 7.30 P. M. by the President, Mr. Baxter, who made a brief introductory address on the "Dawn of Discovery."

Rev. Henry O. Thayer of Brooklyn, N. Y., contributed a paper on Sir Humphrey Gilbert, a pioneer voyager of the sixteenth century, which was read by Rev. Dr. Burrage.

Prof. Alfred L. P. Dennis of Bowdoin College, read a paper on Martin Pring, the last of the Elizabethan seamen.

Remarks were made commendatory of both papers, and votes of thanks were tendered for them with requests for copies.

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 21, 1904.

The annual meeting was held at the Cleveland Lecture Room, Brunswick, Tuesday, June 21, 1904, and was called to order by the president, Mr. Baxter, at 2 P. M.

Members present: Messrs. Charles E. Allen, Henry S. Burrage, Hubbard W. Bryant, Henry L. Chapman, Fritz H. Jordan, Marquis F. King, James M. Larrabee, Leslie A. Lee, George Lewis, Weston Lewis, William D. Patterson, John C. Perkins, Asbury C. Stilphen, Albert R. Stubbs, William H. Witherle.

On motion it was voted to dispense with the reading of the records of the last annual meeting as they had been printed.

Mr. Charles E. Allen was appointed secretary pro tem.

The annual report of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, was read by him, and was approved to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Jordan, was read by him, and it was accepted and ordered to be placed on file.

Owing to the illness of Mr. Samuel L. Boardman, the corresponding secretary and biographer, no report from him was presented.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant. The report was accepted to be placed on file, and it was voted that the secretary call special attention to the papers to be read at each notice of future meetings.

Voted, that the secretary forward to the Blundell School Library at Tiverton, England, a copy of the Popham Celebration memorial volume in the name of the Society.

Mr. Council Greeley of Chicago addressed the meeting on the subject of certain papers prepared by his father relating to his imprisonment by the New Brunswick Government and which had been given to the Society about 1860.

Voted, to loan the papers to Mr. Greeley and the matter referred to the standing committee for further action.

Voted, to refer amendment to Section 2 of the By-laws to the next annual meeting.

Voted, to amend Section 8 of the By-laws by inserting after "notified thereof" the words "or neglect to pay his annual dues for two years."

Voted, to amend Section 16 of the By-laws by inserting the words "vice president and treasurer" as ex officio members of the standing committee.

The chair appointed Messrs. Perkins, Chapman and Stilphen a committee to nominate a board of officers to be elected for the ensuing year. The committee reported the following ballot, and on motion, no one objecting, Mr. Perkins was instructed to cast the ballot, which, being done, the officers were declared elected :

BOARD OF OFFICERS.

President — James P. Baxter.

Vice President — Prof. H. L. Chapman.

Treasurer — F. H. Jordan.

Corresponding Secretary and Biographer — S. L. Boardman.

Recording Secretary, Librarian and Curator — H. W. Bryant.

Standing Committee — Rev. H. S. Burrage, Portland; Gen. John M. Brown, Portland; Col. John M. Glidden, New Castle; Franklin A. Wilson, Bangor; Prentice C. Manning, Portland; George A. Emery, Saco; Augustus F. Moulton, Portland; Nathan Goold, Portland; Asbury C. Stilphen, Gardiner.

Voted, That the Treasurer be authorized to pay to the Treasurer of the committee of the St. Croix Valley at Calais the sum of fifty dollars, as a contribution of the Society in defraying the expenses of the tercentenary celebration.

On motion of Hon. M. F. King, it was voted that a committee be appointed to have in charge the King family burial lot in Scarborough. That they be authorized to receive such contributions as may be offered for the improvement of the lot or for its perpetual care, and to represent this Society in all things contemplated in the deed.

The treasurer of the Society shall be, ex officio, the treasurer of the committee.

The president appointed Messrs. M. F. King and A. F. Moulton of Portland, and George A. Emery of Saco, as said committee.

The following list of names proposed as resident members were voted upon by ballot, and were declared elected :

Philip Greely Brown, Portland.

Rev. Charles W. Collins, Portland.

Charles P. Gardiner, New Castle.

Robert H. Gardiner, Jr., Gardiner.
 John E. Hobbs, North Berwick.
 Rev. Charles Follen Lee, New Castle.
 Edward C. Moody, York Village.
 Charles William Noyes, Castine.
 Rt. Rev. William H. O'Connell, Portland.
 Isaac Frederic Sturdivant, Portland.
 Dr. Frederick C. Thayer, Waterville.
 Harry Rust Virgin, Portland.
 Rev. Herbert Atchinson Jump, Brunswick.

The following names were proposed for corresponding members, were voted upon by ballot and were declared elected :

George Gordon Brooks, Brooklyn, N. V.
 Franklin Senter Frisbie, Concord, N. H.
 Robert Ralston Jones, Cincinnati, O.

Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to the Hon. William H. Moody, Secretary of the Navy, and to Hon. Charles A. Moses, Collector of the Port of Portland, for official courtesies in connection with the tercentenary celebration at Calais.

Annual reports of several County Historical Societies were presented and read by Mr. Bryant. Remarks were made by several regarding County Societies, and it was voted that a committee of three be appointed by the president to encourage the organization of such local Societies among the young people. The following were appointed such committee :

A. C. Stilphen, J. M. Larrabee, Charles E. Allen.

A report of the Committee on the Wadsworth-Longfellow Memorial Fund was read by Rev. John Carroll Perkins, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

Voted, That the thanks of the Society be extended to Mr. Nathan Goold, for his gratuitous services in connection with the Wadsworth-Longfellow House.

Voted, That authority be given to the treasurer, with the approval of the standing committee, to use six thousand dollars of the Society's funds as collateral security for a loan to be expended upon the new library building.

Adjourned.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE LIBRARY AND CABINET.

JUNE 21, 1904.

Herewith, I beg to offer my twenty-third annual report on the growth of our library and cabinet. The record of accessions shows that 360 bound volumes and 462 pamphlets have been received, but, in addition, a large number of state, town and government reports were received, which, being mostly duplicates, do not count.

As is often the case, some of the most desirable gifts received for the year are from generous women — notably, the gift of Mrs. Charles A. Ring, of Portland, of sixty bound volumes of newspapers; the memorial of Fairman Rogers, from his widow; the memorial of Gen. Daniel Butterfield, from Mrs. Butterfield.

Other important gifts from private individuals are: Annals of Oxford, Me., from M. F. King; Mary Rowlandson's Narrative, from Henry S. Nourse; Mortars and Pestles, from Mrs. J. A. Tenney; Reproductions of the First Maps of New York City, from Maj. Henry D. Tyler; a bound volume of all the pamphlets by F. O. J. Smith, from Edward M. Rand.

Other gifts of note are additional letters received by Stephen Longfellow, gift of the Longfellow family; papers from the library of our honored friend, Judge Williamson, from his son and daughter; The General Register of the Society of Colonial Wars, from the secretary; also the Proceedings of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Wars.

A considerable amount of needed binding has been done, especially in periodicals. The employment of linen cloth or canvas has proved, so far, satisfactory. It seems to be especially fitted for books to be much handled, and is well adapted for the binding of heavy volumes of newspapers.

We desire to make a feature in our library of Maine newspapers and periodicals, and we shall be glad to pay the freight on both bound or unbound volumes. A box of early newspapers has been received from Mr. George H. Witherle, of Castine.

The Rev. Charles D. Sinnett, formerly of this state, and who has published some church history of Lebanon and Harpswell, is now living in North Dakota and announces that he is writing a history of all the families of Harpswell, Brunswick, Topsham and Bowdoinham.

Mr. Charles L. Clarke, of New York, has kindly promised us the genealogical history of the Moulton family of York for several generations.

Mr. Thomas Hillis, of South Boston, has kindly contributed another valuable genealogical paper on the Crosby family of Maine.

The study of family history seems to usurp the attention of the majority of students of history from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Family records and vital statistics are most called for by those using our library. The indications are that readers and students are more numerous than before, and that the privileges we afford are appreciated.

A continued liberal policy on the part of your library committee has resulted in many valuable local histories of Massachusetts and other states in being added to our shelves.

Cataloguing the library has been kept up since Mr. Thayer's departure last year.

We have purchased of Mr. Cartland of Pemaquid a manuscript copy of the gravestone records found in the burying ground at Pemaquid.

We should be glad to secure inscriptions from other cemeteries, especially those in the older towns of York County. The work must be done con amore, and without the expectation of liberal wages.

Through the aid of Mr. W. H. Witherle, of Castine, we have received from the estate of the late Noah Brooks a large original photograph of President Lincoln. Mr. Brooks prized this portrait very highly, as one of the most interesting and rarest. It was taken in the summer of 1862 in Mr. Brooks' presence.

A full account of the Gardiner Centennial Celebration of last year has been published in an attractive form, giving Mr. Maxcy's excellent historical address; also a large number of interesting illustrations of Gardiner, past and present.

The old York Historical Society is about to publish the proceedings at the 250th Anniversary Celebration of the Settlement of Old York. It will make a volume of 136 pages, and will be well bound and fully illustrated. All will be pleased to have Mr. Baxter's history of the ancient settlement in such an attractive form. The volume is edited by Mr. Frank D. Marshall.

Mr. George W. Drisko's Narrative of Machias is now ready, and it makes nearly 600 pages. It is a very readable historical narrative, but we regret to say lacks an index. Mr. Drisko will do well to publish an index at once and increase the demand for his book.

Mr. H. E. Mitchell, of Kent's Hill, has begun the publication of a series of City and Town Registers in this state. Sixteen numbers have appeared, which we have placed on our shelves. They contain considerable local history and statistics.

Mr. L. B. Chapman's Genealogy of the Southgate and allied families is quite completed. It has grown much beyond its original plan, and now awaits a favorable time for its publication.

Other Maine publications of historical value which have been added to our library by gift are Reminiscences of Brownfield, by Mrs. E. A. G. Stickney, The Biographical Catalogue of the Bangor Theological Seminary and The Centennial of the Portland Benevolent Society.

Of other Maine locals announced, we learn that Mr. Herbert M. Sylvester's literary and artistic venture is meeting with encouragement, and we trust that his plan may be successfully carried out. A series of five handsomely printed volumes, containing so much local history and written and illustrated by the author in such an attractive style, will surely constitute an event much to the credit of the author and his native state.

Mr. Francis B. Greene, of Boothbay Harbor, writes that he is making good progress with his History of Boothbay, Boothbay Harbor and Southport, and hopes to send it out next year. The records since 1765 are remarkably complete. The settlers of those towns excelled in having their families duly recorded on the town's books.

Mr. Greene has kindly agreed to transcribe for our library the marriage publications of Boothbay.

The Society's new volume, being the first of the third series, is nearly completed and may be ready to be sent out in the early autumn.

Mr. Henry Gannett, Geographer of the United States Geological Survey, asks the coöperation of the Society in defining the origin and naming of place names in this state. It is to be hoped that our members generally will take an interest in this matter, and give such information as they can.

We have recently received official invitation to attend the tercentenary anniversary celebration of the founding of Blundell's School at Tiverton, Devonshire, England on the 29th inst. This matter is of interest to us, as it is claimed that the school was organized and established by Sir John Popham, as executor for Peter Blundell.

In a lecture recently given at Tiverton, Sir John is spoken of as a colonizer and the founder of the United States. Dealing with Sir John, as Peter Blundell's friend, the lecturer read sections of Blundell's will, in which Popham was asked to supervise the erection and organization of the school.

Sir John evidently was a man of great force and industry, and besides his many duties as a lawyer and politician found time to interest himself in the doings of the two great land companies of Plymouth and London, and thereby became, as it were, a promoter and encourager of those who sought for homes in the New World.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF WADSWORTH-
LONGFELLOW MEMORIAL FUND.

JUNE 21, 1904.

Your committee feel justified in declaring that the acquisition of the Wadsworth-Longfellow House in Portland was the most important event of recent years in the Society's welfare. Nothing ever made our purposes so conspicuous. Nothing has ever stimulated so generally the true historic sense in our midst. Nothing ever more naturally evoked the broader and deeper possibilities for a fellowship like ours. Nothing has ever so strongly emphasized, in the historic realm, domestic architecture and domestic habits, recreating the atmosphere of a home of the past, revealing an ancient family life of probity, out of which has issued genius.

The Maine Historical Society is no longer known alone for its library of books and documents, that fosters the sense of seclusion, of mere antiquity and dignified isolation. It has become a prominent and vital part of civic and social life in our state. We enter thereby upon a new career of public usefulness. Unexpectedly, in addition to all this, the house is a striking source of income, which bids fair to continue permanently and in increasing measure, so long as our state shall prove attractive to the people of the world.

All this has not occurred without great labor. It is useless to speculate upon what might have been the necessary consequence of our acquisition. As a matter of fact that consequence has actually obtained through the fertile plans, and the unflagging zeal in consummating those plans on the part of Mr. Nathan Goold. To him, and the large number of generous persons who have coöperated with him, generally without compensation, our usefulness is due. About 6,000 paid admissions were obtained at the house in the summer of 1903, yielding a net income of $1,076.67. For three years Mr. Goold performed his service without cost to us. For the coming year your committee has been glad to arrange for his remuneration.

Since our last meeting the new library building has been practically finished on the outside, and much work has been done in the interior. The task will be prosecuted to its completion as rapidly as appears consistent with our available funds.

JOHN CARROLL PERKINS, for the Committee.

DE MONTS AND CHAMPLAIN TERCENTENARY PROCEEDINGS.

JUNE 25, 1904.

Meetings of the Maine Historical Society were held at Calais with citizens of the St. Croix valley, June 25, 1904, to celebrate the tercentenary anniversary of the settlement by De Monts and Champlain at St. Croix Island.

The morning session was held on St. Croix Island, about eight miles below Calais. Hon. Charles E. Swan, M. D., of Calais, presided, and delivered an address.

An address of welcome was also made by Hon. Almon I. Teed, Mayor of St. Stephen, N. B., which was followed by a response in behalf of the Maine Historical Society by the Rev. Henry S. Burrage, D. D., of Portland, Me.

A brief address was made by Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Premier of New Brunswick.

A poem by Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury, entitled "The Island's Story," was read by Mr. Joseph F. Ryan, of Calais.

An oration was delivered by Hon. Joshua L. Chamberlain, of Brunswick, Me.

Hon. Alfred Kleczkowski, Consul General of France, delivered an address, and the exercises of the morning were concluded by the unveiling of the bronze tablet, affixed to a large boulder and bearing the following inscription :

To Commemorate
The Discovery and occupation of this Island by DE MONTS AND CHAMPLAIN who, naming it
L'Isle Sainte Croix,
Founded here 26 June, 1604,
The French Colony of Acadia,
Then the only settlement of Europeans north of Florida.
This tablet is erected by Residents of the St. Croix Valley, 1904.

American, British and French war vessels, at anchor north of the island, fired a salute after the unveiling of the tablet.

By a unanimous vote the following resolution, presented by Mr. James Vroom, of St. Stephen, N. B., was passed :

Resolved, That this company, composed of citizens of the United States of America, subjects of His Majesty, King Edward VII, residing in British North America, and visitors from abroad, being assembled to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the discovery and settlement of the island on which the Sien De Monts and his companions passed the winter of 1604-5, and to which the discoverers gave the name of Sainte Croix, deplore the use of later names for the island and desire that as a mark of honor to De Monts and Champlain it be henceforth known by the name of St. Croix Island.

The afternoon session was held at the St. Croix Opera House in Calais. Citizens of Calais, St. Stephen, St. Andrews and Milltown united with the delegation of the Maine Historical Society. Gen. B. B. Murray, of Calais, presided.

Prof. W. F. Ganong, of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., read a paper, entitled "The Meaning of the Day."

Hon. James P. Baxter, of Portland, president of the Maine Historical Society, delivered an address on Champlain.

Brief addresses also were made by Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Boston, president of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Dr. Aymer, delegate of the Royal Historical Society of Canada, Captains Dillingham, Aubry and Hill of the war vessels—United States Cruiser Detroit, French Cruiser Troude and the British Ship Columbine.

An ode, written for the occasion by Mr. Henry M. Rideout of Howard University, was read by Prof. Charles T. Copeland, of Howard University.

The exercises were concluded with the singing by the audience of two stanzas of "God Save the King" and two stanzas of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 20, 1905.

The annual meeting of the Society was held at the Cleveland Lecture Room, Brunswick, Tuesday, June 20, 1905, and was called to order by the president, Mr. James P. Baxter, at 2.00 P. M.

Members present: Messrs. Charles E. Allen, Hubbard W. Bryant, Henry L. Chapman, Frederick O. Conant, George A. Emery, Nathan Goold, Fritz H. Jordan, James M. Larrabee, Leslie A. Lee, Rev. George Lewis, George T. Little, Joseph E. Moore, William D. Patterson, Asbury C. Stilphen, Albert R. Stubbs, Archie Lee Talbot, Joseph Wood.

On motion, Mr. Nathan Goold was appointed secretary pro tem.

Also voted to dispense with the reading of the records of the last annual meeting as they had been printed and sent to each member.

The annual report of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, was read by him and was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Jordan, was read by him, together with the report of the auditors, and they were accepted to be placed on file.

Mr. Jordan read also his annual report as treasurer of the Wadsworth-Longfellow fund, which was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

On motion, the president appointed a committee of three to nominate a board of officers for the ensuing year and accordingly appointed a committee, consisting of Messrs. Jordan, Little and Talbot, who retired and shortly after reported the following ballot, which, on motion, was cast by Mr. Jordan and the board were declared elected :

OFFICERS 1905-06.

President — Hon. James P. Baxter, Portland.

Vice President — Prof. Henry L. Chapman, Brunswick.

Treasurer — Fritz H. Jordan, Portland.

Corresponding Secretary and Biographer — William D. Patterson, Wiscasset.

Recording Secretary, Librarian and Curator — H. W. Bryant, Portland.

Standing Committee — Rev. Henry S. Burrage, Togus; Gen. John Marshall Brown, Portland; Col. John M. Glidden, Newcastle; Franklin A. Wilson, Bangor; Prentice C. Manning, Portland; Hon. George A. Emery, Saco; Hon. Augustus F. Moulton, Portland; Asbury C. Stilphen, Gardiner; Nathan Goold, Portland.

The president reappointed Messrs. Franklin R. Barrett and Henry Deering as the auditors of the treasurer's accounts.

The recording secretary read abstracts of the reports which he had received from the following County Historical Societies: The Pejepscot Historical Society of Brunswick, the old York Historical Society of York Village, the Sagadahoc Historical Society of Bath, and the Kennebec Historical Society of Augusta.

Mr. William D. Patterson, the president of the Lincoln County Historical Society of Wiscasset, made a verbal report of the transactions of that society.

Mr. A. C. Stilphen made a brief verbal report on a plan for increasing the number of county societies, especially among young people, and asked that the committee be continued for another year.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen it was voted the annual dues of the venerable Ex-Governor, Sidney Perham, be remitted and that his name be transferred to the list of honorary members.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen it was voted that the names of five resident members, who had not paid their annual dues for several years, be dropped from the roll of resident members.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen it was voted that the limit of resident membership be increased fifty by the following amendment to the By-laws, Section 2: Insert after "two hundred" the word "fifty."

The following ballot for resident members was distributed and collected by a committee, appointed by the chair, of Messrs. Henry L. Chapman and Frederic O. Conant, and it was reported that the entire vote cast was for the whole number of twenty-seven:

Percival P. Baxter, Portland.
Clarence B. Burleigh, Augusta.
Edwin C. Burleigh, Augusta.
William T. Cobb, Rockland.
Morrill N. Drew, Portland.
Ernest M. Emery, Augusta.
William O. Fuller, Jr., Rockland.
Wooster P. Giddings, Gardiner.
Forrest Goodwin, Skowhegan.
George M. Hanson, Calais.

Wilfrid A. Hennessey, Bangor.
 Arthur S. Littlefield, Rockland.
 Charles E. Littlefield, Rockland.
 Rev. W. F. Livingston, Hallowell.
 Frank B. Miller, Rockland.
 John Adams Morrill, Auburn.
 Benj. B. Murray, Calais.
 George C. Owen, Portland.
 Henry C. Peabody, Portland.
 Frederick A. Powers, Houlton.
 Lindley M. Staples, Washington.
 Lewis F. Starrett, Rockland.
 Louis C. Stearns, Bangor.
 C. S. Sewall, Wiscasset.
 Albert M. Spear, Gardiner.
 Charles E. Swan, Calais.
 Andrew P. Wiswell, Calais.

Mr. Stilphen gave notice of a proposed amendment to the By-laws to be reported upon at the next annual meeting, to give to resident members without cost the publications of the Society on the payment of their annual dues.

The president appointed Mr. Charles H. Boyd as a member of the King Burial Lot Committee.

Mr. Jordan read the annual report of the Rev. John Carroll Perkins, as the secretary of the Wadsworth-Longfellow House Committee, and it was accepted.

Mr. Joseph E. Moore of Thomaston, made a verbal report on the proposed arrangements and plan of the tercentenary celebration of the voyage of Captain George Weymouth at Thomaston, on July 6 next, and it was voted that the recording secretary send to each resident member the order of the day and to request each member to reply if they would accept the invitation and attend the celebration.

Adjourned at 4 P. M.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

JUNE 20, 1905.

Another twelve months has passed and once more we find ourselves in this ancient hall of learning. So many of our members have passed over the border within the past year we are somewhat surprised to find ourselves here again.

Since our last annual report, have been received four hundred and eleven bound volumes and five hundred and eighty-nine pamphlets.

The library has been opened daily, as in former years, with about the same attendance. Members desiring to use the library in the morning hours have been accorded the privilege. We should like to see more original investigation going on, but those who have the wish to do this cannot afford the time it requires.

The usual amount of binding of periodicals has been done and we should like to expend a large amount on newspapers. The current history contained in many of the higher class magazines may properly be added to our shelves, chiefly for future reference.

It seems to be a wise step on the part of many of the Historical Societies of the Western States to support a quarterly journal. We are in receipt of several such as: The American Antiquarian of Chicago, The Indiana Quarterly, The West Virginia Quarterly, The Tennessee Historical Quarterly, The Pennsylvania Historical Magazine, The Iowa Journal, The Gulf States Historical Magazine and The Oregon Historical Quarterly. These as the organs of their respective State Historical Societies are doing much good work. Our Society combined with the several County Societies might unite in the support of a historical journal in Maine if an editor can be found.

Sets of American periodicals are destined to become more scarce and difficult to obtain, as the Salvation Army in our large cities is soliciting the gift of periodicals as a source of income. In the city of Portland alone, this season more than fifty tons of magazines have been sent to the paper mills. We can find a place for numbers and volumes of any of the New England magazines.

Among the principal donations of the past year is the collection of newspapers formed by our corresponding member, Hon. Marshall Pierce of Oakland, Cal., given to us by his daughters. The collection numbers over one hundred nicely bound volumes and consists of The Boston Investigator, 1831-1897; The Index of Toledo and Boston, 1870-1884; The Anti-Slavery Standard, 1858-1870; The Liberator, 1846-1865; The Boston Commonwealth, 1862-1876; The Eastern Journal of Biddeford, 1852-1853, and The Saco Union for the same period.

Sundry other journals of minor importance, and perhaps more or less scarce, are in the same collection. We have placed in each volume a plate bearing the inscription :

Bequest of Hon. Marshall Pierce of Saco, Maine, and Oakland, California.
Born, Standish, Maine,
August 16, 1823.
Died, East Baldwin, Maine,
March 25, 1900.

It is believed that there is no wood pulp in these newspapers and that they will survive longer than a marble monument.

Mrs. Israel P. Warren has kindly promised us her set of the Christian Mirror.

W. R. F. Gerrish of West Sullivan, a young printer and publisher, is sending us his little sheet filled with local news and is well worthy of preservation.

The publishers of the Rumford Falls Times has also placed us on his free list.

The North East, Masonic Token, Maine Journal of Medicine, The Mechanic Falls Ledger, are sent to our library.

In response for our Popham Memorial Volume sent to the Blundell School at Tiverton, England, we have received a copy of a handsome volume of biographies and portraits entitled, Blundell's Worthies, 1604 to 1904, together with some numbers of the School Journal and a pleasant note from the librarian, in which he refers to Sir John Popham as our Common Founder. Travellers from Maine will do well to visit this famous old school and other points of interest in our original Home County of Devonshire.

During the past year we have added twenty-five local histories to our library, chiefly of Massachusetts and Connecticut towns, the latest accession being the magnificent work by Dr. Henry R. Stiles of the history and genealogies of Ancient Wethersfield. Our collection of the Vital Records of Massachusetts towns now numbers forty-four volumes.

As our Maine towns have not yet had their early vital records printed we have subscribed for the next best thing in the shape of Mr. H. E. Mitchell's Maine Town Registers; these number forty volumes already issued, and contain facts of local history not to be found elsewhere.

The year has been somewhat prolific in the issue of new books of special interest to us and we may briefly mention Mr. King's two volumes of the York deeds, the history of the Aroostook War, and the York celebration.

History of the Maine Baptists, by Dr. Burrage, the Centennial of Blue Hill Academy, The Chipman Family of America, The Coburn Classical Institute Centennial and the Romance of Casco Bay by H. M. Sylvester, and some pamphlets.

Among the historical works in preparation of interest is a new history of King Philip's War. It is by Mr. George W. Ellis of Hartford, Connecticut.

The several Maine local histories announced last year are growing and we expect will be ready in another year. Mr. Cole of Buckfield, advises that his work has been delayed somewhat by ill health, and Mr. Greene of Boothbay Harbor, reports that his printers have most of his MS. in hand.

An important accession to the Society's archives are the Lewis family papers of North Yarmouth. To the historians of that town these will be invaluable. Some interesting early deeds and commissions collected by our former president, Mr. Willis, are the generous gifts of his granddaughter, Miss Adeline Willis.

Among our visitors of the past year was Professor Willoughby of Cambridge, who quickly recognized the old wallet in our cabinet as a rare specimen of Indian work woven of Indian hemp and embroidered with dyed moose hair. It was the work of Mollock Net, an Indian squaw of the Anasagunticook tribe of the Androscoggin valley. This specimen of a lost art was given to the Society by Mrs. Kimball of Bethel in 1863. Professor Willoughby has described it fully with a colored illustration, in a recent number of the American Anthropologist.

Our venerable corresponding member, Dr. Albert B. Waymouth, of Lahaina, of the Hawaiian Islands, manifests his continued interest in the Society by his communications and gifts. He claims that the little hamlet of Cockington, near Torquay, England, was the birthplace of Captain George Waymouth whose memory we are about to celebrate.

This is truly the age of books. Never have they seemed more plentiful nor so cheap. It would be an easy matter to increase our receipts of books and pamphlets but we cannot find room for them. In another decade or two, all, except public libraries, will need to confine themselves to special lines of collecting.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON WADSWORTH-
LONGFELLOW MEMORIAL.

Your committee feel justified in saying that since the beneficent gift of Mrs. Ann Longfellow Pierce and the action of the Maine Historical Society, there has been created among us an historic monument quite unique in Maine, and to be compared only with the more famous historic shrines of foreign lands and a few great monuments in America, like Mt. Vernon, the home of General Washington. To a degree no one could have anticipated, the Wadsworth-Longfellow House is stimulative of a true historic spirit toward domestic conditions and the family and civil life of Maine a century ago. It has revived the part played by the Wadsworth family and many others of similar influence during the development and successful expression of the spirit of liberty in the British Provinces of America and their final erection into the United States of America; and the succeeding pioneer service in legal and educational ability that lay at the foundation of our nation. It has encouraged a knowledge of the works of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and has shown the lasting popular power of his poetry over English speaking peoples. It has become a center for literally thousands of tourists who annually enter our State.

For the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, Oregon, the Wadsworth-Longfellow House was chosen as the type of building to represent Maine with her industries and resources.

During the summers of 1903 and 1904, 12,440 people paid admission to the house, and by this means a net sum of $2,137.16 was added to the treasury of the Society. It is a most interesting spectacle on any day during the summer to see the old house thrown open to the visitors, the attractive arrangement of the rooms under the supervision of Mr. Nathan Goold and his assistants, Mr. McLellan and Miss Kaler; and the generous women of the Women's Literary Union, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Daughters of 1812, who are in daily attendance to give information and extend courtesy.

The house still proves one of the chief sources of income for the building of the new library of the Society. This building is now fast approaching completion. Your committee have proceeded slowly in the progress of the work, a slowness that has justified itself. For many new conditions have arisen which could not be foreseen, but which have gradually shaped the character and arrangement of the library for its wider, fuller uses. Another year will doubtless witness the completed work.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN C. PERKINS, for the Committee.

FIELD DAY PROCEEDINGS.

JULY 6, 1905.

The celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of Waymouth's voyage to the coast of Maine was held at Thomaston, July 6, 1905. At 9.30 A. M. there was an excursion to St. George's Harbor by members of the Society with invited guests on the revenue cutter Woodbury. A granite cross, erected under the auspices of the town of St. George was unveiled after prayer by the Rev. Charles E. Gould of Martinsville, and an address by Mr. Arthur George Smith of St. George.

On a flagstaff were raised a flag and burgee presented by Mrs. W. R. Grace of New York, a native of St. George.

At 3.30 P. M., a bronze tablet on a large boulder placed by the town on the mall at Thomaston, commemorating Waymouth's voyage and discovery, was unveiled with services as follows :

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 26, 1906.

The annual meeting of the Society was held at the Cleveland Lecture Room at Brunswick, Tuesday, June 26, 1906, and was called to order at 2 P. M., the president, James P. Baxter, in the chair.

Members present: Messrs. Charles E. Allen, James P. Baxter, Henry S. Burrage, Samuel C. Belcher, H. W. Bryant, Henry L. Chapman, Frederick O. Conant, George A. Emery, Frederic H. Gerrish, Nathan Goold, Fritz H. Jordan, George T. Little, Ira S. Locke, Henry Johnson, Leslie A. Lee, Joseph E. Moore, John C. Perkins, William D. Patterson, James M. Larrabee, J. W. Penney, H. P. Seymour, Albert R. Stubbs, A. C. Stilphen, Joseph Wood.

On motion of Mr. Bryant, Mr. Goold was appointed secretary pro tem., also voted that as the records of the last annual meeting had been printed, the reading was dispensed with.

The annual report of the librarian and curator, Mr. Bryant, was read by him and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of Mr. Fritz H. Jordan as treasurer was read by him in detail and it was accepted and ordered to be placed on file. Mr. Jordan's annual report as treasurer of the Wadsworth-Longfellow Fund was also read by him and it was accepted and ordered to be placed on file.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, Mr. William D. Patterson, was read by him and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The president appointed the following as a committee to nominate a board of officers for election for the ensuing year: Prof. Henry Johnson, Samuel C. Belcher, Dr. Frederic H. Gerrish, who retired and shortly after reported the following ballot for election:

OFFICERS 1906-7.

President—James P. Baxter.

Vice President—Henry L. Chapman.

Treasurer—Fritz H. Jordan.

Corresponding Secretary and Biographer—Wm. D. Patterson.

Recording Secretary—H. W. Bryant.

Librarian and Curator—Nathan Goold.

Standing Committee—Henry S. Burrage, John Marshall Brown, Franklin A. Wilson, Augustus F. Moulton, Asbury C. Stilphen, Albert R. Stubbs, George A. Emery, Prentice C. Manning.

As there was another vacancy on the standing committee, on motion of Mr. Goold it was voted that the name of Henry Deering of Portland be added to the ballot, and no objection being made the entire ballot was cast by Dr. Gerrish, and each officer was duly declared elected.

The president appointed Messrs. Henry Deering and William H. Moulton auditors of the treasurer's accounts.

On recommendation of the standing committee it was voted that the name of Prof. Allen Johnson of Brunswick be added to the list of candidates for election as resident members.

It was also voted that the names of Rev. A. Aaron of Chicago, and Dr. Chas. S. D. Lincoln of Shanghai, China, be added to the list nominated for election as corresponding members.

On motion it was voted that both ballots be distributed as one.

The president appointed Messrs. A. C. Stilphen and Nathan Goold as a committee to receive and count the ballots. This having been done the following lists were declared elected:

BALLOT FOR RESIDENT MEMBERS.

Edward W. Corey, Portland.
 George A. Curran, Calais.
 Charles C. Harmon, Portland.
 John F. Larrabee, Portland.
 Edward P. Ricker, Poland Springs.
 Reuel Robinson, Camden.
 Prof. Allen Johnson, Brunswick.

CORRESPONDING MEMBERS.

Edgar Oakes Achorn, Boston, Mass.
 Rev. Horace C. Hovey, D. D., Newburyport, Mass.
 John True Loomis, Washington, D. C.
 Rev. A. Aaron, Chicago, Ill.
 Dr. Charles S. D. Lincoln, Shanghai, China.

The recording secretary, Mr. Bryant, read annual reports which had been received from the Old Eliot Historical Society, the York Village Historical Society, the Kennebec Historical Society and the Lincoln County Historical Society, and the same were accepted to be placed on file.

Rev. John C. Perkins read his annual report as secretary of the Wadsworth-Longfellow House Committee and it was accepted to be placed on file.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen it was voted that the following be adopted:

AMENDMENTS OF BY-LAWS PROPOSED FOR ADOPTION AT THE ANNUAL MEETING, 1905.

I. That Section 2 of the By-Laws be amended so that as amended it shall read as follows:

“RESIDENT MEMBERS.

SECTION 2. Resident members must be residents of Maine, and shall not exceed two hundred and fifty in number. They alone have the right to vote. In addition to the admission fee, each Resident member shall pay three dollars annually for the general purposes of the Society, and this annual payment being duly made shall entitle him to a copy of all the publications of the Society for the current year without further payment therefor, but any member may become a life member and shall be exempted from such annual payment, if, at any time after his admission, he shall pay into the treasury thirty dollars in addition to his previous payments. Life members shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of Resident members."

II. That Section 8 be amended so that as amended it shall read :

"FORFEITURE OF MEMBERSHIP.

SECTION 8. Any Resident member who shall fail to attend three successive annual meetings of the Society, or shall neglect to pay his annual dues for two years, may forfeit his membership unless he shall send to the President within the period embraced by said annual meetings such excuse as shall be satisfactory to the Society. Forfeiture of membership shall not take effect until declared by a vote of the Society."

On motion of Mr. Jordan it was voted that the treasurer be authorized to borrow on the credit of the Society with the approval of the standing committee the sum of five thousand dollars or such part thereof as may be from time to time found necessary, the same to be expended upon the new library building.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Burrage it was voted that the Portland newspaper containing a report of each meeting of the Society be mailed to each resident member outside of Portland.

Dr. Burrage referred to the steps taken by Rev. Henry O. Thayer to mark the site by a memorial stone of the Preble massacre in the town of West Woolwich, Maine, and it was voted that a committee be appointed by the president with reference to a general memorial.

The following were appointed the committee :

Rev. Henry S. Burrage of Togus.
Charles E. Allen of Dresden.
Joseph E. Moore of Thomaston.

The deed of the site to the Society was accepted.

It was voted that the committee appear before the next State Legislature to request that the State cause to be marked, historical sites, within its borders.

Dr. Burrage called attention to the proposed celebration of the 300th anniversary of the Popham colony settlement at the mouth of the Kennebec river in August, 1907, and it was voted that the tercentenary celebration committee communicate with the U. S. Government to request that the memorial stone prepared for the celebration in 1862 be transferred to its proper site.

On motion of Prof. Henry L. Chapman of Brunswick the following vote was passed unanimously :

Voted, That the Society has received with regret the resignation of Mr. Hubbard W. Bryant of the office of librarian and curator, and it desires to place on record its cordial appreciation of the earnestness and fidelity with which he has discharged the various and important duties of the office for the past twenty-five years.

Adjourned at 4 P. M.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN AND CURATOR, JUNE 26, 1906.

The Accession Catalogue shows that 149 bound volumes and 291 pamphlets have been added to the library in the past twelve months.

No extraordinary gifts have been received, and we have sailed on with even keel and the good old ship has not been overloaded with gifts from deceased members.

Your library committee have been liberal as usual in the purchase of new local histories.

The publications received which are of especial interest to us are the Diary of a Soldier from Maine in the Philippines, The Index to the N. E. H. Genealogical Register; also the Index to the first forty volumes of the Essex Institute, Historical Collections, Memoir and Voyages of Jacques Cartier, by James P. Baxter, Volume

VI, with Index of the Journal of the Continental Congress for 1776, The Documentary History of Congress, published by the Department of State.

The Massachusetts Records of Services in the Revolution, fourteen volumes in all, are completed to S, T, H and two volumes more will probably complete the work.

Besides the new Maine local histories about to be published are the centennial anniversary proceedings at Camden and at Sedgwick already received. Palmyra has in preparation an account of her centennial celebration.

A history of Camden and Rockport, by Reuel Robinson, is now being published in the Camden Herald.

A new edition of the Historical Sketch of Deer Isle, by George Lawrence Hosmer, has appeared, with corrections, by the son of the author, Mr. F. L. Hosmer

The De Burian Club, of Bangor, are about to publish the Revolutionary Diary of Col. Jeduthan Baldwin, with historical notes.

Town library buildings have been completed and dedicated in the past year in the towns of Rumford Falls, Damariscotta and Newcastle, Weld, Yarmouth and Freeport.

The Fogg Memorial Library at Eliot will probably be completed this year. Your president and librarian are especially interested in this library at Eliot, being appointed trustees by the will of the late Dr. Fogg.

A popular history of Mt. Desert, by the late Rev. Dr. Street has appeared, and of course is added to our shelves.

Of the new Maine local histories it is reported that Mr. Greene's history of Boothbay Harbor and adjacent towns is now nearly ready for the binder. It will contain over 600 pages, besides maps, portraits, etc. The histories of Hampden and of Buckfield, Maine, are well under way, and material for other Maine locals is being gathered, especially in the neighborhood of Waldoboro, Cushing, Anson, and possibly some others not yet reported.

The seventh volume of Old Eliot will appear in quarterly parts this year.

The Maine Society of Colonial Wars have made a valuable contribution in the publication of the Roster of Jedediah Preble's Regiment, and Capt. Samuel Cobb's Journal in the Campaign of 1758. It is well annotated by Rev. Dr. Burrage.

Life of Sebastian Ralé, by John F. Sprague, and The Waterhouse and allied families of Stroudwater, by L. B. Chapman.

Our meetings have been fully reported by the Portland newspapers, with the new feature of half-tone portraits of those who participate. No societies in other states have been so liberally treated by the newspapers.

By the recent death of the widow of Dr. John S. Hill Fogg, we have come into possession of the famous Fogg collection of the autograph letters and documents bequeathed to our Society by Dr. Fogg at his death in 1893. The collection was largely made up by purchases from all parts of the world, and many specimens were given him by loving and sympathetic friends.

The doctor was confined to his chamber for many years and, aided by his noble and generous wife, placed these papers in order, arranged and catalogued them.

It was the life work of Dr. and Mrs. Fogg to make this collection, and they hoped it would be appreciated and kept intact forever. It could not now be duplicated.

And now, my friends, the time has come when I must decline a réélection as librarian. Failing eyesight, and other infirmities, have led me to this conclusion, and a quarter of a century in office is long enough for most men.

Soon our new building will be ready for the books, and younger hands must place them in order and more nimble feet run up and down the iron stairs.

I thank you for your kindnesses in past years, and I hope for forgiveness of sins of omission and commission.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

JUNE 26, 1906.

The duties performed by your corresponding secretary during the past year have been, principally, the sending of official notifications to newly elected members. Of the twenty-seven gentlemen whose names appeared upon the ballot for resident members last year nineteen have accepted membership. A few have furnished biographical data.

As biographer I have to report the following deaths of resident members: Leonard Dwight Carver, Francis Fessenden, John Haskell Fogg, William Freeman, John Murray Glidden, Benjamin Bixby Murray, Edward Bowdoin Nealley, Benjamin Bussey Thatcher, William H. Witherle.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM D. PATTERSON.

WADSWORTH-LONGFELLOW HOUSE.

BRUNSWICK, June 26, 1906.

With varying judgment of its expediency and in face of apparently forbidding financial problems, the Wadsworth-Longfellow House has become the possession of the Maine Historical Society; has been adequately preserved, and has developed under the ceaseless curatorship of Mr. Nathan Gould into one of the best, if not indeed the most conspicuous of historic monuments in the United States.

It has not only taken care of itself, under its astute financial management, but it has furnished $5,315.37 for the work on the Society's library building.

The house presents on summer days a most delightful spectacle. For here are gathered a host of visitors,—in the last season 7,797 people paid our admission fee,—from all quarters of the globe, to offer their tribute to the memory of the Wadsworth and Longfellow families, to give their thoughts to the traditions of a dignified and exemplary home life in this typical Maine home, to enjoy the observation and study of the many objects of historic value so wisely arranged and preserved.

Through the willingness and coöperation of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Woman's Literary Union, the Daughters of 1812, there is furnished, not only an adequate means of all desired information to visitors, but an atmosphere of old-fashioned hospitality that cannot be purchased, but is the free gift of generosity.

The library building is very near its completion. Nothing but its furniture is now wanting. The rooms are finished, the book stacks are in place, a steam plant has been installed that shall heat the library building and also the Wadsworth-Longfellow House, the building is fully fitted with electricity, stone floors have been built. There appears no reason now why the library may not be wholly ready for our use in the centennial year of the poet's birth, February 27, 1907.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN CARROLL PERKINS.

NOVEMBER 22, 1906.

Since the last report Volume II of the third series of the Society's collections has been published and delivered free to the members. It is a handsome volume of 518 pages, and is the first ever issued to members without price. The Society has now published twenty-two volumes of the collections, eight of the documentary series and several other publications.

Much work has already been done in preparation for the removal to our new library that there may be no confusion at the time.

Respectfully submitted,
 NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN, MARCH 20, 1907.

Mr. President and Members of the Society:

Since my last report, November 22, 1906, has been a most important era in the history of the Maine Historical Society. We have made a great stride and it is but the beginning. During this intervening time our library and cabinet have been moved and installed in this new fire-proof library building without confusion, loss, or damage, and at a most reasonable expense. We have increased the usefulness of our library many fold and enlarged the interest in our Society.

The presentation of the Wadsworth-Longfellow house, which included the erection of this library building, is the greatest event of its character that ever occurred in Portland. All is now the property of a perpetual Society, whose instincts are the preservation of all that enriches our history and extends our State's fame, and it should be something of a satisfaction to be of a generation who will leave more beautiful and interesting this city in which we all take so much pride.

This accomplishment has not been solely the work of this Society, but the many who have contributed of their time and means and made evident their interest. Every visitor has contributed and the ladies of Portland deserve well of us. They have been a great factor that we could not have done without, and we hope the results meet their approbation.

Since my last report we have received from gifts, purchase and exchange, 363 bound volumes and 424 pamphlets, also a chair once owned by Governor John Gilman of New Hampshire from his grandson, Edward H. Daveis, Esq., of Portland. We have had contributed a portion of a beam from the Moore house, where the papers were drawn up for the surrender of Cornwallis's army at Yorktown, in 1781, also two Revolutionary and one Civil war bullet, from the same locality, the gift of Mrs. Chauncey Rea Burr of Portland. Miss Elizabeth Sampson Owen of Cambridge, has contributed a fragment of the coffin of Miles Standish and a silver spoon once the property of John and Rebecca Brewster, the approximate date of which is 1732.

The following are the acquisitions to the library since the last report :

By gift :

The real problem that now confronts the Society is that with our much increased capacity we still should have more room for growth, and it behooves us to be slow in accepting contributions and trusts that are not advantageous and for the best interests of the Society. We have now several fine collections promised that we should be prepared to receive, as we never shall get better, and they illustrate branches of our work. I would recommend that the acceptance of gifts, outside of the smaller contributions of books and relics, be left with the library committee, because necessarily they are most familiar with the library and the capacity of the building. The cost of maintaining a library of this size is considerable, and with our limited funds and our debt we must exercise caution in assuming responsibilities, as our wants now are many.

Since our last meeting a very full and excellent history of the old town of Boothbay has been published by a member of our Society, Francis B. Greene, Esq., of Boothbay Harbor. It is a credit to him and the towns it treats of. We have had just come from the press Volume 9 of our documentary series, Baxter manuscripts, which is being delivered to our members. It is a handsome uncut volume of 497 pages, which is a credit to our Society.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

MAY 29, 1907.

The librarian's last report was March 20, since which time the library has been visited by many and the books are being freely used by the visitors. It is becoming more appreciated. The Maine Commandery of the Loyal Legion has voted to transfer its valuable library of books relating to the Civil War to our library and the stacks have been arranged for its reception. This is, without doubt, the best library on that subject in the State, and its removal here is without question the best disposition that could be made for its preservation and usefulness.

Since my last report we have added to our cabinet several articles. They consist of a framed portrait of Hon. John M. Wood from Mrs. Prudie A. Brooks; a piece of the gown painted for Marie Antoinette, but worn by Mrs. John Adams, from Annie F. H. Boyd of Portland; bronze medal to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the death of Thomas Robbins, D.D., librarian and benefactor, from the Connecticut Historical Society; piece of the belfry on the Lexington, Mass., Common, April 19, 1775, from Miss Ellen A. Stone, of Lexington, together with other contributions; bullet carried by William Tukey of Portland in the Revolution, and a miniature almanac from Warren P. Chase of Portland; several mementoes of Artemus Ward from Judge Enoch Knight of Los Angeles, Cal.; maps of Cumberland, Lincoln and Penobscot counties and State of Maine, from Charles C. Harmon, Portland.

There have been added to the library since the last report 375 bound volumes and 302 pamphlets. The principal gifts were as follows:

Greely Genealogy, Gen. John Marshall Brown.

Poets of Maine, Albert W. Tolman.

Nineteen bound books, Edward H. Daveis, Esq.

- Henry W. Longfellow, Dr. John C. Perkins.
 Louisburg Memorial, Seville and Cadiz, Directories, Hon. Darius H. Ingraham.
 John Melville Shaw, Miss Frances M. Shaw.
 Life of Jay Gould, addresses of John H. Sheppard and twenty-three pamphlets, Joseph Wood.
 One hundred and eighty-six volumes from the State library.
 Works by John Woolman, History of England and the Annual Monitor of 1859, Miss Ellen A. Stone, Lexington, Mass.
 Wisconsin Society of Colonial Wars, from the society.
 One volume Canadian Archives, Canadian government.
 Willis Records, Pauline Willis.
 Two volumes Suffolk deeds and pamphlets, Dr. S. A. Green.
 Historical Ticonderoga, George P. Bascom, Ticonderoga, N. Y.
 Church List of Almanacs, Correspondence of Washington with the Continental Congress, Volume 7, Library of Congress.
 Volume 2, American Historical Society's papers, A. Howard Clark.
 Abraham Lincoln, Pennsylvania Loyal Legion.
 Volume 1, Christian Mirror, and Events at Williston Church, Dr. Smith Baker.

By exchange we have received :

- History of the 1st, 10th, 29th Maine Regiment.
 Sixteen volumes of lineage books of the Daughters of the American Revolution.
 Pennsylvania Magazine.
 New England Historic and Genealogical Register.
 Chicago Historical Society Collections.
 Massachusetts Historical Society Collections, Vol. 7.
 Portland Transcript, Vol. 3.
 Wisconsin Historical Society Proceedings.

We have purchased :

- Lynn, Mass., vital records.
 Templeton, Mass., vital records.
 Hubbardston, Mass., vital records.
 Archives of Maryland.
 Register of Searsport and near towns.
 Storming of Stony Point.
 The Narragansett Bay.
 The Connecticut River.
 Histories of Norwalk, Conn., Mattituch, N. Y., Fitchburg, Mass., and Greenfield, Mass.
 Horton Genealogy.
 History of Franklin and Grand Isle Counties, Vt.
 Devon Notes and Queries.

Historical Sketch of Campobello.

The Spanish Explorers in Southern United States.

The Northmen, Columbus and Cabot.

Magazine of History.

Volumes 48 and 50 of the Portland Transcript.

Journals of Henry Dearborn, 1775-1783.

Acadensis.

Indexes of the New England Historical and Genealogical Registers.

It is hoped that the fence may be completed and the yard in order by the time of the opening of the Longfellow house to the public, June 17, that we may give as good an impression to our summer visitors as possible. Our library will probably be visited by many people during the summer months, much to their satisfaction, and we hope to the credit of our Society.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 25, 1907.

The annual meeting of the Society was held at the history room of Adams Hall, Brunswick, June 25, 1907, and was called to order at 2 P. M., by the president, Mr. James P. Baxter.

Members present: Messrs. Charles E. Allen, James P. Baxter, S. C. Belcher, Rev. H. S. Burrage, H. W. Bryant, H. L. Chapman, F. O. Conant, Henry Deering, George A. Emery, Nathan Goold, F. H. Jordan, Prof. Allen Johnson, J. M. Larrabee, J. F. Larrabee, Rev. George Lewis, Leslie A. Lee, George T. Little, Ira S. Locke, P. C. Manning, John A. Morrill, Joseph E. Moore, E. B. Norton, W. D. Patterson, John W. Penney, Rev. John C. Perkins, M. A. Safford, George M. Seiders, A. C. Stilphen, A. R. Stubbs, I. Fred Sturdivant, Archie L. Talbot, Joseph Wood.

The reading of the annual records was dispensed with, as they had been printed and distributed.

The librarian and curator, Nathan Goold, read his annual report, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, William D. Patterson, was read by him, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Fritz H. Jordan, was read by him, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, H. W. Bryant, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The final report of the building committee of the new library was read by the secretary, Rev. J. C. Perkins, and it was accepted with the thanks of the Society and the committee discharged.

Some discussion was held on the matter of admitting women as resident members, and finally Mr. Stilphen gave notice that he would at the next annual meeting propose a change in the By-laws, increasing the limit of resident membership to 350 and admitting women as members on the same terms with men.

The president appointed Messrs. Charles E. Allen, Joseph Wood, Rev. John C. Perkins as a committee to nominate a board of officers for the ensuing year.

The committee reported that they recommended the election of the same board as of last year, and on motion it was voted that Mr. Allen cast the ballot for the members present, which was accordingly done and the following were declared elected :

President—James P. Baxter.

Vice President—Henry L. Chapman.

Treasurer—Fritz H. Jordan.

Corresponding Secretary—William D. Patterson.

Recording Secretary—Hubbard W. Bryant.

Librarian and Curator—Nathan Goold.

Standing Committee—Rev. Henry S. Burrage, Togus; Gen. John Marshall Brown, Portland; Franklin A. Wilson, Bangor; George A. Emery, Saco; Augustus F. Moulton, Portland; Asbury C. Stilphen, Gardiner; Prentice C. Manning, Portland; Albert R. Stubbs, Portland; Henry Deering, Portland.

The president appointed Messrs. Edward D. Noyes and William H. Moulton as auditors of the treasurer's accounts for the ensuing year.

The ballot of seventy names, candidates for resident membership, having been sent to each resident member was distributed to the members present and, after some discussion, it was voted to proceed with the election and the following were declared elected resident members of the Society. The ballot for corresponding members was also cast and the following declared elected as corresponding members of the Society.

On motion of Mr. Jordan, the Rev. Asa Dalton, D.D., was retired from the list of resident members and made an honorary member.

The Rev. Dr. Burrage presented a report from Rev. Henry O. Thayer, now of Brooklyn, N. Y., concerning the memorial of the Preble massacre on the Kennebec river.

Dr. Burrage also made a report concerning the arrangements for the celebration, August 29, of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Popham Colony at the mouth of the Kennebec and asked for an appropriation to be added to the State appropriation for the recutting of the memorial stone now in the enclosure of Fort Popham and its removal to its new location on land within the limits of Popham's Fort, whereupon it was voted that a sum not exceeding fifty dollars be appropriated for that purpose.

Dr. Burrage presented an agreement prepared by the Maine Commandery of the Loyal Legion of the United States offering to give its library of Civil War books to the Maine Historical Society and it was voted to accept the same by the following :

VOTED: WHEREAS, the Commandery of the State of Maine of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States of America has offered to give to the Maine Historical Society the library of said Commandery consisting of books, pamphlets, maps, pictures, and papers, on condition that said Maine Historical Society shall give to said "Library" a proper place in an alcove or alcoves in the library building of said Society, which alcove or alcoves shall bear the inscription "Loyal Legion Library;" each of said books, pamphlets, maps, pictures and papers included in said "Loyal Legion Library" to be properly marked as a gift of "The Commandery of the State of Maine of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States to Maine Historical Society;" and that said "Library" shall be cared for by said Society with the same care as other books of said Society; and that the members of said Commandery shall have the same privileges in the use of said "Loyal Legion Library" as was enjoyed by said members while said library was the property of said Commandery; and that any duplicate volumes of said books owned by said Society shall be exchanged by said Society for other War Books which shall be added to said "Loyal Legion Library;" that this Society accept the gift of said "Loyal Legion Library" upon the aforesaid terms, and the president be and is hereby authorized to execute in the name of Maine Historical Society an agreement with said Commandery, accepting said library, and on the terms hereinbefore set out.

LOYAL LEGION AGREEMENT.

This agreement made this 29th day of June, 1907, by the Maine Historical Society, a corporation created by law and located at Portland, in the County of Cumberland in the State of Maine, of the first part, hereinafter designated as said Society, and the Commandery of the State of Maine, of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States of the second part, hereinafter designated as said Commandery

WITNESSETH :

That WHEREAS said Commandery is the owner of a valuable Library consisting of books, pamphlets, maps, pictures and papers relating chiefly to the War of the Rebellion in the United States, which said Library and all additions hereafter made thereto, said Commandery is desirous of donating to said Society upon the terms hereinafter stated, and whereas said Society has recently constructed and now owns a Library Building on the Longfellow lot, so called, in said Portland, and is desirous of acquiring said Library of said Commandery upon the conditions hereinafter stated.

Now therefore in consideration of the premises and of the mutual covenant and the agreements herein contained, said Commandery does hereby give and donate to said Society the Library now belonging to said Commandery, including all books, pamphlets, maps, pictures and papers now owned by said Commandery, and further agrees to donate to said Society all books, pamphlets, pictures, maps and papers hereafter acquired by or given to said Commandery, on condition that said Society shall give to said Library a proper place in an alcove or alcoves in said Library Building which shall bear the inscription, Loyal Legion Library; each of said books, pamphlets, maps, pictures and papers to be marked as the gift of said Commandery to the said Society, and that said books, maps, pictures and papers shall be cared for by said Society with the same care as other books of said Society, and that the members of said Commandery shall have the same privileges in the use of said Library so donated by said Commandery to said Society, as heretofore enjoyed by said members, while said Library was the property of said Commandery; and that any duplicate volumes of such books owned by said Society shall be exchanged by said Society for other war books which shall be added to said Loyal Legion Library.

Said Society accepts said Library on the terms herein above set forth, and hereby binds itself to carry out all the conditions of this agreement.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Maine Historical Society has caused this agreement to be executed by its President, thereunto duly authorized by vote of said Society of June 25, 1907, and said Commandery by its Commander and Recorder thereunto duly authorized by vote of said Commandery of May 1, 1907.

On the part of the Maine Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States.

Professor Allen Johnson, of Brunswick, in a few remarks advocated the importance of an historical journal, and it was voted that a committee be appointed, of which the president shall be one to consider the advisability of publishing an historical journal and to report to the Society at the next annual meeting. The president accordingly appointed Messrs. Rev. H. S. Burrage and Rev. John C. Perkins as said committee.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE NEW LIBRARY BUILDING.

PRESENTED BY THE SECRETARY, REV. JOHN C.
PERKINS, D.D.

THE WADSWORTH-LONGFELLOW HOUSE.

On June 26, 1901, the Wadsworth-Longfellow Memorial Committee was appointed to take into its custody the property of the Society coming to it under the will of Mrs. Anne Longfellow Pierce and plan for its future.

This committee met for the first time at the office of Gen. John Marshall Brown on Monday, July 15, 1901, at two o'clock. There were present Messrs. Baxter, Brown, Chamberlain, Symonds, Chapman, Deering, Jordan, Perkins. Mr. Baxter called the committee to order, Mr. Jordan was voted treasurer, Mr. Perkins was voted secretary. Mr. Symonds and Mr. Chapman were appointed to prepare an appeal to the public for funds; also a form of receipt. Messrs. Brown, Jordan and Deering were appointed a special committee for raising funds. Mr. Perkins was subsequently added to this committee.

After this meeting the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution offered to the committee for raising funds all assistance within their power. It was decided to invite several women's organizations of a patriotic, civic and literary character to lend their aid. A conference was summoned of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Colonial Dames, Woman's Literary Union, Women's Council and Civic Club of Portland, Thatcher Relief Corps, No. 26, Thatcher National Relief Corps, No. 75, Bosworth State Relief, No. 1. A meeting was called for Friday, July 26, 1901. On that date delegates were present and plans were discussed with the committee on raising funds at the rooms of Mrs. F. E. Boothby, Falmouth Hotel. The societies there represented voted that the following committee be a committee of consultation with the committee for raising funds: Civic Club, Mrs. E. C. Jordan; Woman's Literary Union, Mrs. John O. Rice; Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. F. E. Boothby; Daughters of 1812, Mrs. Charles A. Dyer; Thatcher Post, No. 75, Mrs. Fred G. Runnells; Thatcher Relief Corps, No. 26, Mrs. Minnie Ilsley; Women's Council, Mrs. E. M. Knight; Colonial Dames, Mrs. F. H. Gerrish. Power was given to this committee to add other names in their discretion.

On July 30, 1901, the committee on Wadsworth-Longfellow memorial met at the office of Mr. Baxter in the Portland Savings Bank. It was voted to accept the appeal to the public, provided for at the meeting July 15 inst., and now presented by Mr. Symonds; to arrange with Mr. Cobb of the Portland Press, through Mr. Symonds, for best bringing the purpose before the public; to commit the task of printing the appeal in the form of a circular and distributing it to the committee for raising funds. About 8,000 circulars were thus sent out into all parts of the world.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow house was opened to the public, on payment of an admission fee of twenty-five cents, August 1, 1901. Mr. Nathan Goold took charge of the house, assisted by Mr. E. S. E. McLellan and Miss M. E. Fox, and many voluntary guides furnished by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

At a meeting of the Wadsworth-Longfellow Memorial Committee, June 9, 1902, it was voted that the committee for raising funds be authorized to engage Mr. A. W. Longfellow of Boston, as architect to prepare plans for the new library building, and Mr. F. H. Fassett of Portland, as associate architect.

The committee for raising funds voted to open the house to the public June 23, 1902; to engage Mr. E. S. E. McLellan and Miss M. E. Fox to be present at the house each week day during the summer; to recommend to the committee on the Wadsworth-Longfellow memorial that the new library building be placed on the eastern line of the property, thus making the garden available in beautifying the property and also preserving the vista through the house and down the garden so precious in the Longfellow family traditions. These suggestions were followed.

At a meeting of the Wadsworth-Longfellow memorial committee on July 11, 1902, and on motion of Mr. Libby it was voted that Mr. Baxter, together with Messrs. Barrett, Brown, Jordan, Perkins be a committee on the construction of the new library building. Mr. Deering and Mr. Goold were subsequently added to this committee. This committee with its special sub-committees on lighting, heating, grading and other special work inaugurated and carried to a successful fulfillment the work of building a library on the property in accord with the requirements in the will of Mrs. Pierce.

The first shovelful of earth for the foundations of the library was thrown out October 29, 1902. The stone work was completed that winter. The first brick for the walls was laid May 27, 1903.

The committee on construction of the new library building at a meeting July 25, 1904, discussed, and at a meeting July 26 voted to change the architect's plans by placing a floor at the level of the originally planned galleries. This decision was reached because of the evident need of more room.

The building was dedicated February 27, 1907, the slowly maturing plans of construction having at last reached their purpose and the transfer of the Society's possessions having been safely accomplished.

While it is naturally not the desire of members of the committee that discriminating credit be considered, yet it seems to me due to those who care for the Society's records that a few statements be made. To Mr. Jordan belongs the credit of having most patiently and with great fidelity managed the financial details of this undertaking, a task that was never easy, but always demanding the closest enterprise and oversight. The interior arrangements and decoration, the furniture and all fittings of the building, while nominally in the care of all, were generally found following the good taste and acute judgment of Mr. Deering. To him more than to any other one we owe the general effect that meets the visitor's eye. As the antiquarian instinct of Mr. Goold, joined to a peculiar business quality of exploiting the memory of Mr. Henry Longfellow in connection with the residence of his family, has made the Wadsworth-Longfellow house one of the most attractive literary shrines and a typical New England home of a century ago, so Mr. Goold's added qualities of most generous industry, painstaking toil and absolutely uninterrupted devotion in the moving of the books and memorabilia of the Society from the Baxter building to the new library have completed a task which involved an amount of labor not readily appreciated, but when appreciated a cause for general gratitude.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN AND CURATOR, JUNE 25, 1907.

The past year has been an eventful one in the history of our Society. During the year the library and cabinet have been installed in the new library building. The dedicatory exercises were held February 27, 1907, the centennial birthday of Henry W. Longfellow, a former librarian of our society, and were of a character that gave us honor. Since that time the library room has been kept open for the use of the public both forenoons and afternoons. We hear nothing but praise for the good taste exhibited by the library committee in the furnishings and in the adornment of the walls. The arrangement of the books and cabinet appears to be to the satisfaction of our members and the visitors. We have a most valuable and useful library and have many rare historical articles in our cabinet, all of which must give us prestige among the historical societies of the country. We have broadened in our work and opened our treasures to all.

The Fogg collection of autograph letters has been placed in the case arranged for it in the fireproof vault, but owing to risk of injury by handling it has been deemed wise by the library committee to have the greatest care taken for its preservation. Later some arrangements will be made for the exhibition of these letters in a glass case where they cannot be harmed. It is one of the great collections of the country and of itself will make us known among the historical students of the land.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow house, with its priceless collection, the peer of which cannot be found in the world, open for public inspection, with our new library building in the rear, on land made holy by the feet of Longfellow and his distinguished relatives, given to our Society by the poet's sister, Anne Longfellow Pierce, whose name now adds lustre to her father's famed family, and the house built by that distinguished general and citizen, Peleg Wadsworth, gives to the Maine Historical Society a home of more historic interest than that of any society of which we have knowledge. Our debt is as naught to what we possess. We have something to be proud of.

Since my last report, May 22, 1907, numbers of books, pamphlets, etc., have been added to the library by gift, exchange and purchase. The principal gifts were as follows :

Volume 27, Archives of Maryland, from the Maryland Historical Society.

Pine Tree Magazine from the publishers.

History of Fall River from the city clerk.

Thirty-nine numbers American Historical Record from Mrs. Sarah B. Lawrence.

Twelve numbers Potter's American Monthly from the Merrill Memorial Library.

Agnes Stanhope, A Tale of English Life, from Lieut. Oliver P. Remick.

Two volumes Portland Gazette, 1807 and 1808, and a framed picture of the old Cumberland county court house, also one of the post office in Portland, from Mrs. Nathan Webb.

A framed oil portrait of Isaac Ilsley, one of the most prominent citizens of Portland in his time, from his grandson, Stephen Cummings, Esq.

By purchase we have acquired the History of Barnstead, N. H.

Memorial History of Hartford County, Conn., 2 volumes.

History of Bridgeport, Conn.

The Scotch Clans and their Tartans.

During the past year we have acquired 755 bound volumes and 754 pamphlets.

We have loaned to us for exhibition in our library room the portrait of Commodore Edward Preble, "The Bombardment of Tripoli," "The Burning of the Philadelphia" and "The Knight in Armor," a most historic family collection, from Mrs. Alice Preble Anderson, the granddaughter of Commodore Preble. These pictures with the battle between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, by Norton, presented to the Society by eleven public spirited citizens of Portland early in this year, are of great interest to ourselves and must be to our visitors. Commander Edward Ernest Preble of Portland was the navigator of the Kearsarge during this engagement and is entitled to much credit for its successful termination. He was a grandson of Commodore Preble.

John W. Penney, Esq., a member, has donated to the Society his collection of Indian pottery and implements, found in Maine and elsewhere, arranged in a handsome oak case, which stands in the hall of the library building. This is a generous contribution and cannot be duplicated.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow house was opened to the public June 17, with every prospect of the largest attendance. The exhibit gives universal satisfaction.

Now that the completion of our outside work at the library is so near at hand, and while we all live, I wish to call your attention to the indebtedness of the Society to the members of the committee who have carried the work to completion, especially Mr. Deering, Mr. Jordan and Rev. Dr. Perkins. Henry Deering, Esq., has devoted his interest, time and his strength, at times beyond its limit, for our good, a service rendered that can never be recompensed. For seven years he has been engaged, more or less, in this work, and I wish to express my own obligation to him and the other members of the committee for their confidence in me and for their uniform courtesy, the remembrance of which is one of the precious possessions of my life. My hope is that the results have brought justification. The year has been a strenuous one for your librarian, but that was expected.

POPHAM TER-CENTENARY.

AUGUST 29, 1907.

Pursuant to the call issued by the ter-centenary committee of the Maine Historical Society, Rev. Henry S. Burrage, D.D., chairman, members of the Society and, by invitation, members of the Society of Colonial Wars of Maine, and members of the Society of Colonial Dames of Maine, assembled at the little church at Popham Beach on the morning of August 29, 1907, and listened to an historical address by the president of the Society, Hon. James P. Baxter.

Mr. Baxter's address was followed by an oration by Professor Henry L. Chapman, of Bowdoin College.

A poem, entitled "Virginia of Sagadahoc," by Mr. Harry L. Koopman, librarian of Brown University, was read by the Rev. John Carroll Perkins, D.D., of Portland.

The company then repaired to a rocky spur of Sabino Head, a part of the site of the original Fort St. George of the Popham Colony, and Rev. Henry S. Burrage, D.D., of Togus, told the story of the discovery at Simancas, Spain, of the plan of Fort St. George, and of its disclosure of the site of the fort.

A memorial tablet of granite, placed there at the expense of the State of Maine, the Maine Historical Society, the Society of Colonial Wars of Maine, and the Society of Colonial Dames of Maine, was then unveiled by Mr. Fritz H. Jordan, governor of the Society of Colonial Wars, and Mrs. William Addison Houghton, president of the Colonial Dames of Maine. The tablet bears the following inscription: "The first English colony on the shores of New England was founded here, August 29, N. S. 1607, under George Popham."

After the unveiling of the tablet, a governor's salute of seventeen guns was fired from the revenue cutter Woodbury in honor of George Popham, who was governor of the first colony and was buried within the inclosure of Fort St. George.

Adjourned.

OCTOBER 24, 1907.

The regular monthly meeting was held at the new library hall, and was called to order by the president, Mr. Baxter, at 2.30 P. M.

In the absence of Mr. Goold, the librarian, his report of accessions to the library and cabinet was read by Mr. Joseph Wood.

A paper, descriptive of a collection of stone implements gathered by him from various localities in and out of the state, was read by Mr. John Witham Penney, of Mechanic Falls, Me.

Mr. Baxter read his paper on the beginnings and endings of the Popham colony, which was prepared especially for the Popham celebration of August 29, 1907.

Adjourned.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

OCTOBER 24, 1907.

The librarian's last report was at the annual meeting, June 25. Since that date probably more people have visited our library room than ever, in the same time, in our history. We hear nothing but words of praise for our efforts, from our guests. They have been mostly tourists, who are interested in historical matters, although we have many students.

The books of the Maine Loyal Legion are now arranged on our shelves to the satisfaction of the members of that society. They have since contributed thirty-eight bound books, relating to the Civil War, to the collection, and each book has a book plate, giving that society credit for the contribution. We have had several valuable contributions to our cabinet, among which are the following: A marble bust of Edward Everett, by Paul Akers, given by ten members of our Society, namely, Hon. Charles F. Libby, Hon. James P. Baxter, Nathan Goold, John Carroll Perkins, D.D., Henry Deering, Esq., Franklin R. Barrett, Esq., Judge Clarence Hale, Franklin C. Payson, Esq., Judge Joseph W. Symonds and Charles S. Fobes, Esq. From Mrs. Margaret J. M. Sweat we have two signed manuscript poems of R. H. Stoddard, with valuable manuscripts, pamphlets, etc. Another most valuable contribution is the original manuscript of the autobiography of Gen. Peleg Wadsworth, written for his little children while in Congress in 1795, given by his granddaughter, Mrs. Susannah W. Hubbard, of Hiram, Me.

Since the last report we have added to the library 133 bound volumes and 987 pamphlets and publications of interest to our members. Among the most notable are the following:

A rare life of Commodore Preble and also "The Naval Monument," 1815, from Charles T. Harbeck, Esq., of New York, a visitor.

Four volumes relating to Bowdoin College, from John Clair Minot.

The Whaley Record, from Mrs. S. D. Whaley, Riverhead, N. Y.

Macauley's History of England, five volumes, also History of Russia and History of Italy, by John S. C. Abbott, from Nathan Goold.

Twenty-two volumes relating to the United State Army, West Point, etc., from Hon. Amos L. Allen.

Youthful Haunts of Longfellow, from George T. Edwards.

Eight hundred and thirty numbers of the London Notes and Queries, 1882-1900, from Charles Edwin Hurd, of Dorchester, Mass.

Almanacs of Roger Sherman, from Victor H. Paltsits, of Albany, N. Y.

Seven numbers of the Lynn, Mass., publication, from the Lynn Historical Society.

One volume of Canadian Archives, from Arthur G. Doughty.

Journal of the Continental Congress, 1777, from the Library of Congress.

By exchange we have acquired :

Volume 29, New Jersey Archives.
 Vols. 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6, Nebraska Historical Society publications.
 "Logan," a novel in two volumes, by John Neal, from Library of Congress.
 Writings of Washington, twelve volumes.
 Writings of Jefferson, nine volumes.
 Volume 8 of New York Historical Society publication.
 Pennsylvania Historical Society publication.
 Maryland Historical Society publication.
 New England Historical and Genealogical Society publications.

We have purchased :

Voyages of Champlain.
 History of Western Massachusetts.
 History of Roxbury Town.
 History of Windsor County, Vt.
 History of Camden and Rockport, Me.
 History of Danbury, Conn.
 Three Books of Song, Henry W. Longfellow.
 Life of John Brown.
 Revolutionary Orders of Washington.
 Bradford, Mass., vital records.
 Heads of Families of New Hampshire, Census of 1790.
 Heads of Families of Vermont in same year.
 Heads of Families of Maryland, same year.
 Town register of Brownfield, Denmark, Hiram and Porter, 1907.
 Town register of Fryeburg, Lovell, Sweden, Stowe and Chatham, 1907.
 Town register of Bucksport, Orland, Orrington and Verona, 1907.

As custodian of the Wadsworth-Longfellow House, a report is due. The house was opened to the public June 17, and closed October 19, a period of eighteen weeks. The attendance was 9,810, which is 1,503 more than last year. The net income will be over $2,000. The house is conducted on business principles and made as attractive as possible, hence its success. It certainly gives satisfaction to the visitors, and we have every reason to be pleased with the results. We are indebted to many for the unselfish labors in the effort to establish this most interesting attraction for Portland, but the work is only partially done, and will not be completed until all the debt is paid, but that will be done sooner or later. Our Society has assumed the responsibility, and will show that it is equal to the task that it has taken upon itself.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

NOVEMBER 22, 1907.

The regular monthly meeting of the Society was held at the new library hall and, in the absence of the president, was called to order by Mr. Charles H. Boyd, who took the chair at 2.45 P. M.

Mr. Nathan Goold read his report of accessions to the library and cabinet.

Rev. Dr. John C. Perkins read a poem written by Hon. James P. Baxter entitled "The Garden," referring to the garden of the Wadsworth-Longfellow homestead now occupied by the Society's library building.

Hon. Augustus F. Moulton read his address, which was prepared for the celebration at Valley Forge Park, Pennsylvania, October 17, 1907, by the Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution, and especially commemorative of the heroism of the soldiers of the Revolution who enlisted from Maine and were present at Valley Forge during the winter of 1777-78.

The Rev. Dr. Burrage followed by a report of the celebration and dedication of the tablet in honor of the soldiers from Maine in the war of the Revolution. Dr. Burrage presented a list of the soldiers from Maine who were believed to have been at Valley Forge in General Washington's army, which had been carefully prepared from the muster rolls in the archives of Massachusetts.

Adjourned.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

NOVEMBER 22, 1907.

We have added to our library since October 13, 1907, 203 bound volumes and 677 pamphlets, making a total of 880 titles. By gift we received 156 bound volumes and 660 pamphlets; by purchase, forty-six bound volumes and fourteen pamphlets, and by exchange, two bound volumes and three pamphlets. This is a valuable addition. Among the gifts were 385 titles from the estate of the late Hon. Josiah H. Drummond, 326 titles from Edgar Nichols, Esq., of Cambridge, Mass., forty-nine titles from Edward M. Rand, Esq., and the Brackett genealogy from Herbert I. Brackett, Esq., of Washington, D. C.

The principal books we have purchased are :

Histories of Chicopee Street, Mass., Nonatum and Natick, Mass., Old Dunstable, Mass., Greenfield, Mass., two volumes, Nutfield, Mass., Lawrence, Mass., South Boston, Mass., Holden, Mass., Stockbridge, Mass., Clemsford, Mass., Old Dorchester, Mass., Wenham, Mass., Andover, Mass., Amesbury and Merrimac, Mass., Franklin, Mass., Somerville, Mass., Raynham, Mass., Warren, Mass., Hampden County, Mass., Plymouth County, Mass., Norfolk County, Mass., Worcester County, Mass., two volumes, Berkshire County, Mass.

West Springfield Centennial, Mass.

Records of the Town of Cambridge, Mass.

Old Dartmouth Centennial, Mass.

Records of Dedham, Mass.

Cambridge Epitaphs.

Dorchester Epitaphs.

Hollister and Its First Century.

Histories of Dublin, N. H., Coos County, N. H., Hillsborough County, N. H., Rockingham and Strafford Counties, N. H., Keene, N. H., Holderness, N. H., Lancaster, N. H., Windham, N. H., Maverick, R. I., Norwich, Conn., Cromwell, Conn., Northfield, Vt.

Historic Harpswell, Me.

Chronicles of Casco Bay, Me.

Two Centuries of New Milford, Conn.

Among the donations are four scrap books containing a newspaper history of the Spanish war, from Dr. Stanley P. Warren, and a muster roll of Capt. James Means's Company in Col. Ebenezer Sprout's Second Massachusetts Regiment in 1781, from Charles F. Porter, Esq.

We have greatly enlarged the usefulness of our library, but still much more can be done when we have sufficient means to do so. Our manuscripts should be repaired and arranged for their preservation and usefulness, but our first effort should be to acquire the town and county histories of northern New England, acquiring those of Rhode Island and Connecticut as convenient. The opportunity to purchase such books grows less every year and the prices higher. These are the books most called for. Our collection on Maine history is very complete and we are continually adding to it. We are laying the foundation of an historical reference library that the people of Maine will be proud of, and it only remains for them to give us sufficient financial support that it may be brought to the highest standard.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

PROCEEDINGS.

JANUARY 23, 1908.

The monthly meeting of the Society was held at the library hall Thursday, January 23, and was called to order by the president, Mr. Baxter, at 2.30 P. M.

Mr. Baxter read some extracts from early records of the town of Portland which he presented for the archives of the Society.

Mr. Goold, the librarian, read a report of accessions to the library and art collections of the Society.

Hon. Joseph W. Symonds read a paper on Nathaniel Deering of Portland and his associates.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

JANUARY 23, 1908.

The last report of your librarian was made November 22, 1907. Since that time there have been additions and improvements in our library. The rooms are kept open from 10 A. M. until 5 P. M. and every effort is made to accommodate applicants, that the greatest usefulness may be derived from the library. Our efforts appear to give satisfaction. During the intervening time, since my last report, we have added to our library 103 books and 208 pamphlets, a total of 311 titles. 86 books and 198 pamphlets were gifts, 2 books and 3 pamphlets were by exchange and 11 books and 7 pamphlets were purchased. Our most notable donations of books were:

Valley Forge, a Chronicle of American Heroism, from Hon. F. E. Boothby.
 Life of William Pitt Fessenden, two volumes, from James D. Fessenden, Esq.
 Biographical Sketches of Eight Generations of Hoopers in America, from Mrs. William Sumner Crosby.

A Political History of Slavery, two volumes, from the author, William Henry Smith.

York Deeds, five volumes, from Maine State Library.

History of Dakota County, Minnesota, from John F. Larrabee, Esq.

Volume 2, Cambridge Historical Society publications, from that society.

John Paul Jones Commemoration, from Hon. Amos L. Allen.

Fifteen bound books and fifty-five pamphlets, from Hon. Darius H. Ingraham.

Victor H. Paltsits, Esq., State historian of New York, contributed the following books :

Public Papers of Daniel Tompkins, two volumes.

Third Annual Report of the State Historian of New York.

New York Ecclesiastical Records, Vol. 4.

Council of Appointment, Military Records of New York, four volumes.

Public Papers of George Clinton, four volumes.

For the adornment of our reading room we have had the following valuable contributions :

A large framed oil portrait of Sir William Pepperell, by Kahill, from Henry Deering, Esq.

A handsome marble bust of Hon. John B. Brown, Portland's greatest merchant, with a marble pedestal, also a bust of President Andrew Jackson, with pedestal, both from the family of Mr. Brown.

An unmounted oil portrait of a brigadier general, in full uniform, his name unknown to the donor, from Charles G. Kenney of Portland.

We have purchased :

History of Merrimac and Belknap Counties, Mass.

History of Taunton, Mass.

History of Stoneham, Mass.

History of Arlington, Mass.

History of St. Albans, Vt.

History of Newport County, R. I.

History of Smithfield, R. I.

History of New London, Conn.

Genealogical Sketches of the Early Settlers of West Simsbury, Conn., now Canton.

The Longfellow Collector's Hand Book.

Complete Index to the Magazine of American History.

History of Rockingham, Vt., including Bellows Falls.

Poems of Rod and Gun, Isaac McLellan.

Fun Jottings, Nathaniel P. Willis.

Divine Tragedy, Henry W. Longfellow.

For our cabinet we have been presented by Joseph Wood, Esq., an engraved copper plate from which were printed the bills of the Lincoln and Kennebec bank of Wiscasset.

Since our last meeting the Society has published the exercises at the Popham celebration, last August.

This will also be printed in the next volume of collections and for that reason it was thought wise to distribute copies to the historical societies, state libraries, public libraries and to those particularly interested, which has been under the direction of your president.

Respectfully,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

FEBRUARY 26, 1908.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall in Portland, Wednesday, February 26, 1908, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., the president in the chair.

The Reverend John Carroll Perkins, D. D., was introduced, who read a paper on George Foster Talbot, a former member of this Society.

A vote of thanks to Dr. Perkins for his paper and a copy requested for the archives.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

May 14, 1908.

Since my last report, made March 25, the progress in our library has been kept up. We have made many valuable additions. There have been added 168 bound volumes and 802 pamphlets, a total of 970 items. The gifts have been 504, the exchanges 303 and the purchases 163. The principal gifts have been as follows :

Two hundred and seventy-five State reports from the Maine State library.
Soldiers of the King Philip War, third edition, from Rev. Geo. M. Bodge.
Large volume on Heraldry by Joseph Edmondson, 1780, from Dr. Edwin F. Vose.

The Scottish Gael or Celtic Manners, from Mrs. Eliza A. Waterhouse.

Twelve reports from Hon. Andrew Hawes.

Hunt's Magazine, 1846-1868, from Miss Mary J. E. Clapp.

Catalogue of the Athenæan Society and Volume 2 Old Churches and Families of Virginia, from Hannibal H. Emery, Esq.,

Genealogical and Family History of New Hampshire, four volumes, from the Lewis Publishing Co. of New York.

History of Pine Tree Lodge, Mattawamkeag, from Stephen Berry, Esq.

Journal of the Continental Congress, 1778, Volume 10, from the library of Congress.

Story of the Milford, Conn., Memorial, from Mrs. Nathan G. Pond.

By exchange we have received :

Essex Institute collections.

N. E. Historic and Genealogical Register.

Missouri Historical Society collections.

Nebraska Historical Society collections.

Proceedings of the N. H. Historical Society.

Our purchases have been :

- Vital Records of Rockingham, Vt.
 Vital Records of Beverly, Westminster, Marlborough, Dudley, Lincoln, Middlefield, Holliston, Billerica and Dover, Mass.
 Marlborough, Mass., Burial Grounds and Inscriptions.
 History of Rhode Island, Field, three volumes.
 Journal of Dr. Ellis Cornelius.
 Final Memorials of Henry W. Longfellow.
 Rag Bag, Out Doors at Idlewild, People I Have Met, Inklings of Adventure, The Convalescent and A Summer Cruise in the Mediterranean, six volumes, by N. P. Willis.
 The Dexter Genealogy.
 Twenty volumes of The Granite Monthly, which completes our set to July, 1903.
 The Willis Records.
 N. H. Genealogical Record.
 Devon, England, Notes and Queries.
 Acadensis.
 Journal of American History.
 History of Peterborough, N. H.
 Captivity and Sufferings of Zadock Steele.

The contributions to our cabinet have been :

- A valuable lot of books, charts, plans, letters and manuscripts, from the family of the late Alexander W. Longfellow.
 An antique water pitcher and a pair of spectacles worn by Elijah Bradbury, a Revolutionary soldier, from Mrs. Eliza A. Waterhouse.
 Several autograph letters and two passports, from Hon. D. H. Ingraham.
 A valuable lot of letters, manuscripts and pamphlets, from Edward H. Daveis, Esq.
 Sampler made by Jane Brooks, then aged nine years, from Mrs. George B. Swasey.
 Miscellaneous lot of deeds and manuscripts formerly the property of Dr. Aaron Porter, from Miss Mary King Longfellow.
 The account books and business papers of Thomas and Robert I. Robinson of Portland, from Charles E. Wyer.

Since my last report we have issued and distributed Volume II of our Documentary Series. This is the sixth volume of the Baxter manuscripts and covers a most interesting period of the history of our early towns. This Society has published 35 bound volumes ; more in proportion to its financial resources than any State Historical Society. We rank either third or fourth in the number of volumes of permanent publications. Our future depends on the financial support given us. History is being made every day and should be fully recorded before too late.

We have been presented by A. W. Longfellow his marine collection, which will soon be removed to the library. This is a valuable addition to our cabinet.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 23, 1908.

The annual meeting was held at the lecture room of Hubbard Hall at Brunswick, June 23, 1908, and was called to order at 2 P. M. by the president, James P. Baxter.

Members present: Charles E. Allen, James P. Baxter, Hubbard W. Bryant, Samuel C. Belcher, Prof. Henry L. Chapman, Gen. J. P. Cilley, Henry Deering, George A. Emery, Nathan Goold, Hon. Clarence Hale, Prof. Allen Johnson, Prof. Henry Johnson, Fritz H. Jordan, James M. Larrabee, Rev. George Lewis, E. B. Norton, William D. Patterson, Albert R. Stubbs, Archie Lee Talbot, Henry S. Webster, Daniel S. Waite, Joseph Wood, Frederick Talbot.

Voted to dispense with the reading of the records of the last annual meeting, as they had been printed and distributed.

The annual report of the librarian and curator, Nathan Goold, was read by him, and it was voted to accept the same to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Fritz H. Jordan, was read by him in detail, and it was voted to accept the same to be placed on file.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, William D. Patterson, was read by him, and it was voted to accept the same to be placed on file. Mr. Patterson read also letters of corresponding and honorary members accepting membership.

The annual report of the doings of the standing committee was read by the recording secretary, H. W. Bryant, and the same was accepted.

The annual reports of several of the County Historical Societies were also read by the recording secretary, and it was voted to accept the same to be placed on file.

Prof. Allen Johnson on behalf of the committee appointed at the last annual meeting, made a report on the advisability of publishing a periodical journal of history by the Society, but it was deemed inadvisable to publish at present on account of the expense.

On motion the chair appointed as a committee to nominate a board of officers for the coming year, Messrs. Nathan Goold, Archie Lee Talbot, S. C. Belcher.

The committee retired and shortly after reported the following as a board of officers :

President—Hon. James Phinney Baxter.

Vice President—Prof. Henry Leland Chapman.

Treasurer—Fritz Herman Jordan.

Corresponding Secretary and Biographer—William Davis Patterson.

Librarian and Curator—Nathan Goold.

Recording Secretary—Hubbard Winslow Bryant.

Standing Committee—Rev. Henry Sweetser Burrage of Togus; Frederic Odell Conant of Portland; Henry Deering of Portland; George Addison Emery of Saco; Prentice Cheney Manning of Portland; Augustus Freedom Moulton of Portland; Asbury Coke Stilphen of Gardiner; Albert Roscoe Stubbs of Portland; Franklin A. Wilson of Bangor.

On motion it was voted that Mr. Bryant cast the ballot on the part of the members present and the president formally declared the board of officers elected for the ensuing year.

The following ballot for resident members having been distributed was cast and were declared elected :

Charles C. Bickford, Portland.	Warren W. Mansfield, Portland.
John Wm. D. Carter, Portland.	Stanley T. Pullen, Portland.
Solomon B. Cloudman, Gorham.	William Senter, Portland.
Walter Cary, Houlton.	Harold E. Smith, Wiscasset.
John Dennett, York.	George B. Swasey, Portland.
Albert B. Hall, Portland.	Fenton Tomlinson, Portland.
Arthur P. Howard, Portland.	Scott Wilson, Portland.
Adam P. Leighton, Portland.	Eugene P. Webber, Westport.
Frederic V. Mathews, Portland.

Also the following were elected corresponding members :

Waldo Lincoln,	Worcester, Mass.
John Albree,	Swampscott, Mass.

On motion of Mr. Fritz H. Jordan, Mr. Francis H. Fassett of Portland was elected an honorary member.

A supplementary list of candidates for election as resident members was read by the president, but as the list had not been distributed to the members a month in advance of the annual meeting in accordance with the By-laws, on motion it was voted to lay the same on the table.

On motion of Mr. A. C. Stilphen it was voted that the corresponding secretary be requested to make a collection of letters of acceptance from corresponding members and other important communications received by him, and cause the same to be preserved in a folio volume similar to the volumes of the Kennebec Company papers and properly labelled, the same to be kept in the Society's vault.

Mr. Stilphen also proposed sundry amendments to the By-laws which were laid upon the table without action.

Mr. Henry S. Webster, of Gardiner, made a verbal report of work done by him in collecting vital statistics and grave stone inscriptions in Gardiner and vicinity.

The following were appointed a committee to collect grave stone inscriptions in Maine: Messrs. H. S. Webster, W. D. Patterson, Albert R. Stubbs.

Voted that the president, treasurer and librarian be a committee to procure the usual appropriation from the legislature for continuing the publication of our documentary series.

Auditors appointed, Edward D. Noyes and William H. Moulton.

Adjourned.

With the completion of the fence in front of the Wadsworth-Longfellow lot the construction account of the new library building has been closed. The amount expended on construction, on book stacks, heating plant, electric wiring and fixtures, architect's commission, fence and walk, is $38,201.18. Of this amount, $16,682.42 has been raised by subscription, $15,000 by loan, and the balance, $6,518.76, has been paid from the income of the house.

Under present conditions the net income of the house is sufficient to pay the interest on the debt and to reduce it by at least one thousand dollars each year.

Respectfully submitted,

FRITZ H. JORDAN, Treasurer.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CORRESPONDING SECRETARY AND BIOGRAPHER, JUNE 23, 1908.

Your corresponding secretary and biographer begs leave to report that notices of their election were promptly sent to those who were chosen members last year. Of the forty-five then elected, who have paid their admission fees as resident members, nine have furnished biographical material. Of the corresponding members elected last year seven have accepted such election.

Long delayed notices of the election, before the present incumbent assumed the duties of the office, of Miss Sarah Orne Jewett, Mrs. Kate Douglass Wiggin and Mrs. Abba Gould Woolson to honorary membership have been sent, and acceptances of such membership by each of those members are filed herewith.

Seven resident members have died during the past year. Their names and the dates of their admission to the Society are as follows :

John Marshall Brown,	1865
George Frederick Evans,	1898
George Warren Hammond,	1907
Leslie Alexander Lee,	1889
Albert Ware Paine,	1881
Frederick Dummer Sewall,	1861
George Foster Talbot,	1867

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM D. PATTERSON.

PROFESSOR ALLEN JOHNSON'S REPORT.

At the last annual meeting of the Maine Historical Society, a committee was appointed to take under advisement the project of publishing an historical journal upon lines suggested by Professor Allen Johnson, of Bowdoin College, at the dedication of the new library of the Society. Your committee begs leave to report as follows:

A creditable journal of the format adopted by the Pennsylvania Historical Society, published quarterly, would cost approximately fourteen hundred dollars, if an edition of one thousand copies were printed. Figures furnished by the editor of the Iowa Journal of History and Politics, which is the best among historical journals in the Middle West, confirm this estimate. It is assumed by the committee that the Society would not wish to undertake to publish a journal inferior to these in quality. Under the circumstances, the committee deems the financial burden of publishing such a journal too great to be undertaken, however desirable otherwise such a publication might be. It was hoped at first by the chairman that an appropriation might be secured from the legislature to aid the Society in this undertaking; but further consideration, convinced him and the rest of the committee that such an appropriation, even if it could be secured, would limit the scope of the journal, inasmuch as articles of a religious and sectarian character would have to be excluded, or at least presented in a way that would divest them of much of their historical value. Another difficulty, perhaps not insurmountable, but still very great, besets the enterprise. Such a journal as has been contemplated would require the services of scholarly editor, who would expect remuneration for the time and labor incident to his laborious work. The committee confesses its inability to name anyone competent to undertake these labors who could be persuaded to serve by the small salary which would be paid. And it is hardly to be expected that anyone could be found to serve as editor "for the love of the working."

Your committee would therefore recommend that further consideration of the project be abandoned for the present, and that it be discharged from further service.

Respectfully submitted,

ALLEN JOHNSON,
HENRY S. BURRAGE,
JOHN C. PERKINS.

ANNUAL REPORT ON LIBRARY AND CABINET.

Mr. President and Members of the Society:

Your librarian has to report the practical completion of the library building, the grounds and the effort for the preservation of the Wadsworth-Longfellow House, although a debt remains with us. It is worth the effort we have made, for in them we have a combination that any society might well be proud to possess, whose value increases with the years, and the knowledge of which is world wide.

Our library collection has become a most valuable one, although we need many books, particularly the town and county histories of New England that are not yet on our shelves. Many of these rarely come into the market, but when offered should be secured. This has been the policy as far as our funds would admit. It is the most useful expenditure of our funds.

Our accessions during the past year have been very satisfactory. We have added a total of 3,689 titles, both bound books and pamphlets; 2,952 were gifts, 433 exchanges and 304 purchased. The principal gifts, since May 14, are as follows :

Descendants of Capt. Joseph Miller, from C. S. Williams, Esq.

King Spruce, Day, from Henry Deering, Esq.

Twenty-three Board of Trade Journals to complete our file, from Maurice C. Rich, Esq.

Family of Capt. John Butler, from Charles B. Fillebrown, Esq.

History of the United States Capitol, two quarto volumes, from Henry M. Maling, Esq.

History of Chelsea, Mass., two volumes, The Massachusetts Historical Society Members, By-laws, etc., and nine pamphlets, from Dr. Samuel A. Green.

Wilhelm's Military Dictionary and Gazeteer, nine volumes, Diplomatic Correspondence, Tribute to the Memory of the Pilgrims, History of Farmington, Maine, Universal Knowledge, Victoria Britannia, History of Bowdoin College, with other bound books and eight pamphlets, from Mrs. Israel P. Warren.

Journal of the Continental Congress, 1778, volumes 11 and 12, from the Library of Congress.

Panama to Patagonia, from J. C. Jennings, Esq.

George Morton of Plymouth Colony and some of his descendants, from John K. Allen.

The Exiles Lay and other Poems, from the author's widow, Mrs. Frances Leland of Lincoln, Maine.

Maine at Valley Forge, from Maine Society, S. A. R.

Casco Bay Directory, from J. Harry Lamson.

Life of P. T. Barnum, and The Mexican War and Its Warriors, from Wilhelmina M. Mantine.

Three W. L. U. Year Books, from Mrs. Charles F. Roberts.

New England Primer, reprint of 1849, from George F. Junkins, Esq.

Croswell Memorial, Alice Williams Bradbury.

Dr. William Warren Greene, Address of Henry P. Anthony, Banks Family, Maria Mitchell, Journal of Dr. Caleb Ray, Maps, Plans, Pamphlets, etc., from the family of the late Alexander W. Longfellow.

Four Pamphlets, from F. R. Barrett, Esq.

Kansas Troops in the Spanish and Philippine Wars.

Rolls of the Men of the 3d, 4th, 18th and 19th Kansas Regts. in 1861.

Columbia History of Education in Kansas.

Volumes 3 and 7, Kansas Historical Society Collections and their 3d, 5th, 10th and 12th reports.

Volumes 21, 22 and 23 Worcester Society of Antiquity Proceedings.

Volume 31, New Hampshire State papers.

History of Bennington County, Vt.

Registers of the New Hampshire towns of Marleborough, Jaffrey, Troy, Swanzey, Ossipee, Treftonborough, Freedom, Henniker, Warner, Fradford and Hopkinton.

Subject Index of the N. E. Historical and Genealogical Register.

Vital Records of the Massachusetts towns of Saugus, Lynnfield, Hamilton and Essex.

To the cabinet has been given since May 14 :

Twenty-eight documents relating to old Falmouth, formerly the property of Capt. Moses Pearson, from Hon. Andrew Hawes.

Passport signed by Hon. John Sherman, with other contributions, from Hon. D. H. Ingraham.

The first book of records of the Third Parish of Portland, from Mrs. S. Lizzie Emery.

A tassel from the death bed of President William Henry Harrison, from N. B. Tracy, Esq.

A rare Enterprise and Boxer China pitcher, from Prof. Henry L. Chapman, Henry Deering, Esq., and Nathan Goold.

During the past year the Loyal Legion has given for their library in addition to other contributions thirty-four bound volumes and forty-one pamphlets relating to the Civil war, for which they should receive due credit.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow house was again opened to the public yesterday with a better exhibition of the family relics and with better arrangements and in better condition than ever before. It will give us even more credit than last year, which was the most successful season, the net receipts being over $2,000. Since first opened about 50,000 persons have visited the house and the net receipts have been between nine and ten thousand dollars, which have been spent on the new library building. Much of the credit for this belongs to many persons not members of the society, mostly ladies of Portland, who are still engaged in the work. It is hoped that they are gratified with the results.

Respectfully submitted,
NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

NOVEMBER 12, 1908.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, Thursday, November 12, 1908, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., the president in the chair.

Chauncey Rea Burr, M. D., of Portland, was introduced, and announced as the topic of his address Religious Conditions in England During the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. Dr. Burr's address was attentively listened to and called forth remarks from some of the audience.

A vote of thanks was passed after which adjournment.

DECEMBER 10, 1908.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, Thursday, December 10, 1908, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M. by the president, Mr. Baxter.

The librarian, Mr. Nathan Goold, read a report of accessions to the library since June last.

Rev. Dr. Burrage read a paper on State archives throughout the United States.

On motion of Mr. Deering a vote of thanks was passed for the paper read and a copy requested for the archives of the Society.

On motion of Mr. Stilphen, it was voted that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to present to the legislature the importance of providing a systematic method for the better preservation of the archives of the State.

The chair accordingly appointed Messrs. A. C. Stilphen, Henry S. Burrage and Prof. Allen Johnson as said committee.

An invitation was received from the American Historical Society to send delegates to the annual meeting to be held in Washington, January, 1909, and Messrs. Allen Johnson, Rev. Dr. Burrage and Augustus F. Moulton were nominated as said delegates.

Adjourned.

We have also the quarterly publications of the Pennsylvania, Maryland, Missouri, Iowa and Oregon Historical Societies, the Essex Institute and the American Antiquarian Society, also those of other societies when issued.

In November we issued to the members and the exchange list, Volume 12, the Baxter Manuscripts, of the Documentary Series.

The library is kept open from 9.30 A. M. until 5.00 P. M., and seems to meet the approval of its visitors. We have no complaints.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow House was opened to the public, June 22, and closed October 19. There was a paid attendance of 8,108. Every year improvements are made. The exhibit has never been as satisfactory as this season. We were assisted, as heretofore, by the ladies of the Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter, D. A. R., the Daughters of 1812 and the members of the Woman's Literary Union. We are under obligations to these ladies, and those who have kindly assisted us since the house was opened in 1900.

The library is in a prosperous and satisfactory condition. More could be done had we sufficient funds. We need many books that should be purchased whenever offered, for the chances of obtaining them lessen each year and they are indispensable to a library like ours. Our purchases are only the most important offered. During the year 1908, this Society has published more pages than any other state historical society.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

MAY 18, 1909.

Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen :

My last report was made February 24, 1909. Since that time we have made improvements in our library, the principal of which is that of making the maps, charts and plans accessible. A large case of drawers has been installed in which they have been arranged by localities. We have about three hundred relating to Maine. All New England, Middle States, Canada and general United States maps and charts are now catalogued. We have never before had the full use of these maps. For this there has been no additional expense for labor.

We have added to the library since the last report 161 bound volumes and 437 pamphlets, — a total of 598 titles. By gift we received 507, by exchange 65, and have purchased 26 titles only.

The principal gifts have been as follows :

James G. Blaine's Congressional Directory of the 45th Congress, Pope and Pagan, The Crystal Wedding, Longfellow's French Grammar, Memoir of Rev. Thomas Barnes, Prophecy or Speaking for God, Stackpole, and nineteen pamphlets, from Hubbard W. Bryant, Esq.

The following have been contributed to our cabinet :

A seaman's chest, used by Simon Drake, of Union, Me., on a privateer in the Revolutionary War, from Francis T. Miller.

Gen. Knox's dress sword, from the estate of Augustus G. Fuller.
 Eastport map, from Hon. Amos Allen.

Forty-six quadrangle maps of Maine Towns, from Hon. William P. Frye.
 Model of the old style full rigged ship "United States," with painted ports, constructed by Capt. Thomas Saunders of Wiscasset, in 1844; also framed portrait of Captain Saunders, its builder, one of Maine's old-time ship-masters; from Joseph Wood, Esq.

Two framed paintings, one pair knee buckles, six pair shoe buckles, with many articles of historic interest, from Edward H. Daveis, Esq.

Mr. Daveis has loaned us Gov. John T. Gilman's sword, History of America, captured at Yorktown in 1781, and two atlases.

Map of Phippsburg, Me., and surroundings, and map of Texas in 1844, from Dr. J. A. Spalding.

Mrs. Josephine O'Brien Campbell has loaned the society a brass mortar and pestle, brought home from Louisburg in 1745 by Morris O'Brien, and a cutlass and a fusil captured on the British ship Magaretta at Machias, Me., in 1775, by Col. Jeremiah O'Brien.

Daniel Hasty's account book for 1766-1772, gift from Mark Wiggin.

Misses Hannah L. and Catherine H. Talbot have loaned a cup and saucer of Lowestoft china, presented to Gen. Benjamin Lincoln by the Society of the Cincinnati, also Mrs. Lincoln's shoes and pattens.

The portraits of Alpheus Shaw and his wife, a prominent merchant of Portland in his time, have been loaned to the library by their granddaughter, Harriet C. Shaw.

The tracing used in the separation of Deering from Westbrook, showing the boundary line, from Judge F. M. Ray.

We have a very valuable collection, both in our cabinet and in our books, and it is our policy to make all as useful as possible and as free to applicants as can be safely done. Great care must always be exercised for the preservation of our collections that they may be handed to the next generation in the best possible condition. Considering the work done our expenses are very small.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

ANNUAL MEETING.

JUNE 22, 1909.

The annual meeting of the Society was held at Hubbard Hall at Brunswick, Tuesday, June 22, 1909, at 2 P. M., the president in the chair.

Members present: Messrs. Charles E. Allen, James P. Baxter, James O. Bradbury, H. W. Bryant, Henry S. Burrage, Henry L. Chapman, Fred O. Conant, Henry Deering, George A. Emery, Nathan Goold, Oliver G. Hall, Henry Johnson, Allen Johnson, William B. Kendall, George T. Little, Ira S. Locke, Everett B. Norton, Harold E. Smith, Albert R. Stubbs, Asbury C. Stilphen, Archie Lee Talbot, Frederic F. Talbot, Henry S. Webster, David S. Waite, Joseph Wood, Franklin A. Wilson.

The last annual report having been printed and distributed, it was voted to dispense with the reading.

The annual report on the library, the cabinet, and the Wadsworth-Longfellow House was read by the librarian and curator, Mr. Nathan Goold, and the reports were accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the treasurer, Mr. Fritz H. Jordan, was read by him in detail, and the same was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the corresponding secretary and biographer, William D. Patterson, was read by him, and it was accepted to be placed on file.

The annual report of the doings of the standing committee was read by the secretary, H. W. Bryant, and it was accepted.

Annual reports of some of the county historical societies were read by Nathan Goold.

The annual election of the officers of the Society was then held, the nominating committee appointed by the chair being Messrs. F. O. Conant, Archie Lee Talbot and Professor Chapman.

The following board of officers was elected :

President—James P. Baxter.

Vice President—Prof. Henry L. Chapman.

Treasurer—Fritz H. Jordan.

Librarian and Curator—Nathan Goold.

Corresponding Secretary and Biographer—William D. Patterson.

Mr. A. C. Stilphen of Gardiner offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the chair to arrange for a meeting of the Society at Gardiner in October next, in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Right Reverend George Burgess, the first bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in Maine and a prominent member of this Society.

The chair accordingly appointed Mr. A. C. Stilphen, Rev. H. S. Burrage, Mr. Archie Lee Talbot, as said committee of arrangements.

Mr. Henry S. Webster of Gardiner made a report on behalf of the Committee on Gravestone Inscriptions and also made a report on the publication of the vital records of Farmingdale, Me., with the aid of the subscription of the State of Maine, and on motion of Mr. Webster the committee appointed last year on copying gravestone inscriptions was continued.

ANNUAL REPORT OF CORRESPONDING SECRETARY AND BIOGRAPHER.

BRUNSWICK, ME., June 22, 1909.

To the President and Members of the Maine Historical Society:

Your corresponding secretary and biographer reports that of the seventeen gentlemen who were elected resident members last year, sixteen have accepted membership and one has declined membership.

The corresponding members elected at the last annual meeting have accepted.

The following deaths of resident members have occurred, viz. :

Orville Dewey Baker, who was admitted in	1890
Samuel Clifford Belcher,	1891
Edwin Standish Drake,	1892
Charles Perkins Gardiner,	1904
Sidney Warren Thaxter,	1899

The death of the venerable Francis H. Fassett, who was last year elected an honorary member and accepted, is also here reported.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM D. PATTERSON.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON GRAVESTONE INSCRIPTIONS.

BRUNSWICK, June 22, 1909.

To the Maine Historical Society:

Your committee, to whom was referred for consideration the matter of copying gravestone inscriptions, beg leave to report:

We find that the New England Historic Genealogical Society appears to have done the most extensive and systematic work of the nature proposed, and from that Society's suggestions as to copying graveyard inscriptions we quote:

“Systematic and accurate copies of inscriptions in old graveyards should be made because on the stones are many names and dates not elsewhere recorded. When a stone disappears the record is lost. Furthermore, many graveyards containing valuable records are not easily accessible, and by means of copies of the inscriptions the searchers have at hand the desired facts. A comparison of the manuscript copies in the library of the Society with the printed vital records of towns shows that the proportion of facts found only in inscriptions does not fall below twenty per cent, and frequently reaches forty and fifty per cent of all recorded details. Where town records are especially imperfect for certain periods, or where they have been destroyed, or where the law has not required such records to be kept, the inscriptions are about the only authority.

“The Society relies for copies on the coöperation of those who are interested in preserving the facts on the ancient memorials.”

The results of the work of that Society are of much value; and we believe that if the field of work here in Maine, which is open to this Society, be committed to such of the members as may have time and inclination therefor, the result will be equally valuable.

The work suggested will make necessary a small outlay for paper, printing and postage.

We are indebted to John Albree, Esq., chairman of the New England Historic Genealogical Society's Committee on Epitaphs, for valuable suggestions made in an interview had with him and by correspondence.

Respectfully submitted,

H. S. WEBSTER,
WILLIAM D. PATTERSON,
ALBERT R. STUBBS.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LIBRARIAN.

BRUNSWICK, ME., June 22, 1909.

Mr. President and Members of the Society:

The Library of the Maine Historical Society is now one of the notable institutions of Maine, especially of Portland. Its usefulness is unquestioned. It is the result of over eighty years' effort of the members of this Society, and shows what can be done by unselfish effort. Much more could be done had we more to do with, but with our resources, it is very creditable. Our visitors appreciate our efforts. The library never was in so accessible condition as now.

Since the last report, May 14, 1909, there has been added to the library 87 titles, 64 by gift, 5 by exchange and 18 by purchase; 40 were bound books and 47 were pamphlets.

The principal gifts were :

Seven Year Books of the Portland Women's Literary Union of Portland, from Mrs. Joseph H. O'Neil.

Four Pamphlets on the Pike Family, from the Pike Family Association.

American Monthly Magazines, from the Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter, D. A. R.

A pamphlet, in French, on the Deportation of the Acadians at Boston, in 1775, from The Royal Society of Canada.

"In the Haunts of Anthony" (Wayne), from Hon. F. E. Boothby.

Volumes 13, 14 and 15 of the Journals of the Continental Congress, in 1779, from the Library of Congress.

The Rambler, Samuel Johnson, four volumes, and the Evangelical Family Library, in fifteen volumes, from Mrs. Charles L. Ballard of Hallowell.

Volume 7, 1909, Publication of the Old Colony Historical Society, from that Society.

Proceedings of January 26, 1909, of the Brookline Historical Society, from that Society, Guide to Valley Forge, from Arthur E. Pearson of Boston.

Hannibal Hamlin. An address by Gen. Selden Connor.

Railway Statistics of the United States, 1908, from Slason Thompson of Chicago.

American Antiquarian and Oriental Journal, from Rev. Stephen D. Peet.

Scrap Book made by John H. Sheppard, Esq., from Joseph Wood, Esq.

Deck and Field, Frank W. Hackett, from the author.

Tax Book of Falmouth 1774-5, and much about Portland churches, made by L. B. Chapman, Esq., and two numbers of Oxford County Citizen in Paris and Norway, also 14 pamphlets from Leonard B. Chapman, Esq.

Three volumes Lossing's Field Book of the Civil War, from James B. Totten, Esq.

Scrap Book, "Travels in New England," by John H. Sheppard, from Joseph Wood, Esq.

The exchanges have been :

Waterways and Canal Construction in New York State.

North Dakota Historical Collections, Volume 2.

Poem on Battle of Bunker Hill.

Harvey's Reminiscences of Daniel Webster.

Thompson's History of Vermont.

Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, July, 1909.

We have purchased :

Life of Gen. John Patterson, Eggleston, Second Edition.

History of Enfield, Conn., three volumes.

History of Wartsfield, Vermont.
 Brookfield, Mass., Vital Records.
 History of the Cobb Family, Part 1.
 Maine State Roster, 1889.
 Massachusetts Magazine.
 History of the First Massachusetts Battery.
 Madame de Lafayette and Her Family, Crawford.
 Registers of Winthrop and Monmouth, Me.
 American Catholic Historical Researches.
 Edward Randolph, two volumes, Publication of the Prince Society.
 New England Family History.
 Vital Records of Bolton and Vernon, Conn.

The Maine Commandery of the Loyal Legion has added to their collection during the past year 32 bound volumes and 38 pamphlets, a total of 70 titles. They are entitled to the thanks of our Society for this valuable contribution.

The cabinet has been enriched by the following donations :

Camp chair used by Gen. Henry Knox, and two pictures that hung in his house at Thomaston, Me., from Miss Mary Eastman Hitchcock, of Rockland, Me.

Painting by Frederick Mellen, of Portland, from Henry Deering, Esq.

Life preserver from the ill-fated steamer Portland, picked up at Provincetown, Mass., within two days of her loss, in November, 1898, by John W. Ellis. Given by John A. Hadzor of Portland.

A bass relief of William Pitt Fessenden, by Carl Akers, who presented it to Mrs. J. B. Totten, and given by her to the society.

Piece of a marble pillar from the front of Wood's Hotel, burned in the great fire in 1866 in Portland. Given by Joseph Wood, Esq.

From Hon. D. H. Ingraham we have received his commission signed by President Cleveland, and his exequatur signed by Queen Victoria, as Consul General at Halifax, also his exequatur as Consul at Cadiz, Spain, signed by King Alphonzo XII.

A table or stand carried from Portland to Westbrook in the alarm of 1814. Given by Charles H. Crocker, Esq.

Within the past year we have added to our library 558 bound volumes and 859 pamphlets, a total of 1,417, besides the many valuable additions to the cabinet.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow House opened yesterday for its ninth season. It never was in such good condition and never looked as well. Last year the receipts were not as large as the year before which was the best season we ever had. It was a good season. It happened to be a year when people were spending less money. We have now one of the greatest combinations of a historical nature in the world which is adding to our fame. Mrs. Pierce was wiser than she knew and did more for the fame of her family than she ever realized. Few families are as fortunate. Members are cordially invited to inspect the house and library.

What we now need is a fund, the income of which would enable the librarian to purchase the desirable books as they are offered. We should now purchase only original sources. Until we have more income it is not necessary to have all books on a subject. Our library has increased to the extent that we should have another assistant to properly do the work. Gifts are coming from appreciative people. A library properly kept brings them. Our library is a necessity, for the public libraries do not and cannot fill our place with students of our state and town history. We are specialists and our attendants must know what the books contain.

We have under way the preparation of a memorial alcove to Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed, to which Mrs. Reed has already contributed seventy-three volumes which have not been accounted for among our accessions. We are to have more, together with what we have collected and what will follow will make a collection that will be appreciated by those who will follow us.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

OCTOBER 30, 1909.

Memorial meeting in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Right Reverend George Burgess, the first bishop of Maine.

A meeting of the society was held in the Parish House of Christ church, at Gardiner, Maine, Saturday, October 30, 1909. It was called to order at 1.30 P. M., by Asbury C. Stilphen, Esquire, chairman of the Committee of Arrangements appointed at the last annual meeting of the Maine Historical Society. The other members of the committee, were Rev. Henry S. Burrage, D.D., and Hon. James M. Larrabee.

Mr. Stilphen stated the object of the meeting and called upon the Rev. Robert W. Plant, as representative of Christ church, who welcomed the members of the society and their friends. Bishop Burgess was rector of Christ church during his life in Maine.

Rev. Dr. Henry S. Burrage, a Fellow of Brown University, spoke as representative of the University, from which Bishop Burgess graduated as valedictorian in 1826, giving an account of his connection with the University and referring to his poem at the centennial of the University in 1864, and his war ballad, "The Old Blue Coat." Mr. Stilphen, for the Historical Society, read a biographical sketch of the bishop, with personal reminiscences of his early life in Gardiner.

General Joseph S. Smith of Bangor, son of one of the founders of Grace church, Bath, under Bishop Burgess, was present and offered some interesting reminiscences of the bishop as his friend and at his home.

Rev. Mr. Plant read tributes from Right Rev. Frederick Burgess, bishop of Long Island, and nephew of Bishop Burgess of Maine; Rt. Rev. W. W. Niles of New Hampshire, formerly of Maine; and Rev. Asa Dalton, D.D., rector emeritus of St. Stephen's church, Portland, formerly rector of St. John's church, Bangor, under Bishop Burgess.

An unpublished poem by Bishop Burgess was presented by Mr. Stilphen and was most fittingly read by Rev. Thomas Burgess of Saco, a nephew of Bishop Burgess.

The meeting was well attended by early friends and parishioners of the beloved bishop and the exercises were highly appreciated.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1909.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, Tuesday, November 16, 1909, and was called to order at 7.30 P. M. by the president, Mr. Baxter, who introduced Charles William Burrows, Esq., of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Burrows favored the members and their friends with an interesting address on "The First Flying of the Stars and Stripes and Burgoyne's Campaign."

Mr. Burrows' paper was illustrated by his private collection of lantern slides thrown on a screen from a stereopticon, and added much to the entertainment and instruction of the Burrows' address.

Adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1909.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1909, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., Prof. Henry L. Chapman in the chair.

Mr. Nathan Goold made a report of accessions to the library and cabinet.

Professor Chapman read a memorial of the late John Witham Penney of Mechanic Falls, contributed by Mr. Charles E. Waterman of that place.

The Rev. Henry S. Burrage, D.D., of Togus, read a paper on Pemaquid, as to whether its settlement antedated Plymouth, and whether the Pilgrims at Plymouth were saved from starvation in 1622 by food supplies from Pemaquid.

Adjourned.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

DECEMBER 1, 1909.

The last report of the librarian was made at the annual meeting in June. Since that time the library has prospered, to the satisfaction of those in charge. During the summer the Wadsworth-Longfellow house was opened to the public as usual. It was opened June 21 and remained open to October 23, a period of eighteen weeks. The admissions, at 25 cents each, numbered 8,544, and the net receipts will be slightly in excess of 1908. This exhibition of the old home and its contents never gave more satisfaction and it never was better.

Since June 15 we have added to the library 241 bound volumes and 452 pamphlets,—a total of 693. Of these, 539 were gifts, 58 were by exchange, and 96 were purchased. We will only enumerate the most interesting additions. Those by gift were :

Arnold's story of the Lincoln Plot, from James B. Totten, Esq.

Poems of William Winter, Japan vellum edition, from Hon. Joseph W. Symonds.

McCobb Family, manuscript, from Mrs. Mary Pelham Hill.

Index of Economic Material in the Documents of the New England States, from J. Franklin Jameson, Director of the Carnegie Institutions.

Births, Marriages and Deaths of Simsbury, Conn., Records of the Parish of Turkey Hills, now East Granbury, Conn., 1737-1791, Records of Second School Society of Granbury, 1796-1855, and Records of the Congregational church of Turkey Hills, 1776-1858. These four publications were from Albert C. Bates of Hartford, Conn., a corresponding member.

History of the First Maine Heavy Artillery, from Capt. Horace H. Shaw.

Uncle Tom's Cabin, two volumes, from Philip Greely Brown, Esq.

The Clergy of Litchfield County, Conn., from the Litchfield County University Club.

Genealogical and Family History of the State of Maine, four volumes from the Lewis Publishing Co. of New York.

Jefferson, Maine, Centennial, from A. A. Bennett, Esq.

From Hon. Henry Vignard of Paris, France, an honorary member of this society, we have received eleven of his valuable publications relating to Columbus.

John Foster; the Earliest American Engraver, with other publications, from Dr. Samuel A. Green.

Twelve unbound volumes of the Medford Historical Register, and The Voyages of Amasa Delano, from George S. Delano, Esq.

The Preceptor, 1758, from Mrs. A. S. Peters.

Portland Directory of 1909, from Fred L. Tower, Esq.

Memorial of Sidney Warren Thaxter, from Mrs. Thaxter.

Facsimile of Pere Marquette's Illinois Prayer Book, from the Literary and Historical Society of Quebec.

Proceedings of the Royal Society of Canada, 1908, from that society.

The Poetical Writings of Rev. Freeman S. Perry, from Mrs. Perry.

Cyrus Hall McCormick Memorial, from Herbert M. Casson, Esq.

Minutes of the Commission for Detecting and Defeating Conspiracies in the State of New York, 1778-1781, from Victor H. Paltsits, Historian of New York State.

Records of First Congregational church of Brownfield, Maine, typewritten, from Fred L. Eastman, Esq., of Wollaston, Mass.

Vital Records of Farmingdale, Me., from the State Library.

Inventory of the Estate of George Washington, from the original document owned by the giver, W. R. Bixby of St. Louis, Mo., privately printed.

The Society is much indebted to Charles Thornton Libby, Esq., for contributions of books and pamphlets, and for his great interest and efforts in securing the Proprietor's Records and the first book of Town Records, together with original plans, deeds, etc., of the town of Scarboro.

L. B. Chapman, Esq., has contributed to our library twenty books and pamphlets of historical value.

To Mrs. Susan Prentice Reed we are indebted for a contribution of sixty-six bound volumes and atlases, once the property of her husband, Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed, which have been placed by themselves, with a special book-plate, as our memorial and appreciation of a former member.

We have had several loans of valuable relics and papers, subject to the order of the owners. While here they are as our own and we make them fill the space of their usefulness. Persons having such can do no better than to deposit them here for safe keeping and where all can see them.

Since June 15, 1909, the Maine Commandery of the Loyal Legion have added to their library eleven bound volumes and twelve pamphlets.

We have exchanged our publications for the following :

- Pennsylvania Magazine of History.
- New England Historic Genealogical Register.
- Maryland Historical Magazine.
- Iowa Journal of History and Politics.
- Delaware Historical Society Publications.
- New Jersey Historical Society Publications.
- Vermont Historical Society Publications.

- Applications and Recommendations during the Presidency of George Washington.
- Taverns and turnpikes of Blanford, Mass.
- Early Records of Manchester, N. H.
- Early Records of Londonderry and Derby, N. H.
- The Pierce Family History.

Our purchases have not been large, not because the librarian's wishes have been fulfilled, but because our resources are limited for the work that could be done. The purchases were as follows :

- Dictionary of American Indian Places and Proper Names.
- Life and Work of James G. Blaine.
- Shipp's Literary World.
- Reed's Parliamentary Rules.
- Sketches of the Rise, Progress and Decline of Secession, W. G. Brownlow.
- Kennebec Lake and Summer Resorts, Jackson.
- On the Road, Cyrus H. Kilby.
- Story of My Life, Mary A. Livermore.
- Giants of the Republic, Edward Everett Hale.
- Century Book of Facts.

 Cornwall, England, Parish Registers of Marriage, fourteen bound volumes.
 Spencer, Mass., Vital Records.
 Description of the part of Devonshire, England, bordering on the Tamar and Tavey.
 History of Exeter, England.
 History of Kingsbridge and Salcomb in Devonshire, England.
 Somerset County, Maine, Atlas.
 Register of Webster, West Gardiner, Litchfield and Monmouth, Maine.
 Register of Benton, Clinton and Fairfield, Me.
 Register of Freeport and Yarmouth, Me.
 History of Chatham, Mass.
 History of Cohasset, Mass.
 Map of Cohasset, Mass.
 Cohasset Genealogies.
 Richard Webber Family.
 Volume 16, Vital Records of Rhode Island.
 History of Lebanon, N. H.
 History of Rehoboth, Mass.
 History of Coventry-Benton, N. H.
 History of Nottingham, Deerfield and Northwood, N. H.
 Records of Births, Marriages and Deaths of Hanover, Mass.
 Records of Births, Marriages and Deaths of Milton, Mass.
 Doolittle's Narrative, 1750, and sketch of Hon. John Habershaw, of Georgia.

To the cabinet has been given :

- Cane carried by Rev. Thomas Smith of the First Parish, Portland. From the family of Thomas L. Smith, of Windham, Me.
 Cane from the then last surviving tree set out by General Washington at Mount Vernon. Gift of J. Mussey Tolford.
 Four antique watches from John W. D. Carter, Esq.
 A letter of President Franklin Pierce, from Horace Anderson, Esq.
 Original manuscript (on linen) of the poem "The Pearl Diver," read at the dedication of the statue, in 1889, by Mrs. Elizabeth Akers, from Philip Willis McIntyre, Esq.
 Oil painting of Col. Ezekiel Cushing's house at Cushing's Point (now South Portland, Me.), from the artist, Mrs. L. H. Turner.
 Three Commissions and an Exequatur, also The Surf Skiff or The Heroine of the Kennebec, by Rev. Joseph H. Ingraham, 1867. From George T. Ingraham, Jr.

Short journals kept by Commodore Alexander Scammell Wadsworth, from Mrs. J. B. Pike of Hiram, Me.

The original proprietors' records, with maps, of the town of Baldwin, Me., from George W. Pierce, Esq.

Framed picture called "A Militia Drill Thirty Years Ago," from Captain Thomas J. Little, also a package of Robertson papers.

A white dress and a table mat made by Elizabeth Thomas Varnum, from Mrs. Hortense J. V. Stephens, Jacksonville, Fla.

Wooden knee from the gunboat Enterprise of Arnold's fleet of 1776, sunk in Lake Champlain at Crown Point and raised in 1909. Given by Mr. J. Fred Nadeau of Crown Point.

Package of autograph letters from Hon. Fred E. Boothby.

The Society published, with aid from the state, in November, Volume 12 of our Documentary Series, which is the eighth volume of the Baxter Manuscripts; also the Farmingdale Vital Records, issued under a state law, were published under the supervision of a committee appointed by the Society.

About forty volumes have been bound and several been repaired since the last report. Considering that the members' annual dues pay but about one-third of the expenses of the maintenance of the library and grounds, the condition found must be gratifying to the members.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

PROCEEDINGS.

JANUARY 12, 1910.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, No. 485 Congress Street, Portland, Me., on Wednesday, January 12, 1910, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., the president, Mr. James P. Baxter, in the chair. George S. Delano, Esq., was introduced, who gave an address on "Mexico and the Mexicans." Mr. Delano had passed some years in that country and was thoroughly conversant with his subject and held the attention of his audience to its close. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Delano for his address.

Adjourned.

MARCH 16, 1910.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, Portland, March 16, 1910, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M. by the Rev. John Carroll Perkins, D.D., of Portland, who happily introduced Charles E. Allen, Esq., of Dresden, Me., as the speaker for the day. Mr. Allen exhibited an original commission to a Kennebec customs official in the reign of King George the Third, with notes explanatory of its phraseology, the duties of government officials, etc. Dr. Perkins also spoke interestingly of Colonial customs.

The thanks of the Society were passed to Mr. Allen for his entertaining remarks.

Mr. Nathan Goold, the librarian, read his quarterly report of accessions to the library and cabinet.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

MARCH 16, 1910.

Since my last report, December 1, 1909, the library has had some notable additions with others in prospect. Since that time our Society has published, by the aid of the State, volumes 13 and 14 of the Documentary History of Maine, The Baxter Manuscripts. These volumes bring us to the time of the Revolutionary War and are a great addition to our published sources of history. It is intended to print these manuscripts to 1820, when Maine severed her connection with Massachusetts.

The Vital Records of Randolph, Me., will be issued in a few days. This is the second publication issued by Henry S. Webster, Esq., of Gardiner, under the supervision of this Society, the printing and binding being paid for, by the State. Other volumes are in preparation by the same gentleman and others.

Since November 27, 1909, we have added to the library 236 bound volumes and 277 pamphlets, a total of 513 titles. Of these 386 were gifts, 26 by exchange, and 101 were purchased.

The principal gifts have been:

Androscoggin County Atlas, from the estate of John W. Penney; we have also been given his manuscript books and papers relating to Cemeteries and the graves of the soldiers of the Revolutionary War.

Volume 8 and Nos. 1 and 2 of Volume 9 of Old Eliot, from Dr. J. L. M. Willis.

Poems and Addresses of the Rhode Island Citizens' Historical Association, 1908, and Independence Day Addresses and Poems, 1909, from Thomas Williams Bicknell, Esq.

Register for 1909, of the Massachusetts Society Sons of the Revolution, from that society.

The First Siege of Louisbourg, 1745, from Hon. Henry M. Baker.

175th Anniversary Services of the First Congregational Church, South Portland, from Fritz H. Jordan, Esq.

- Acts and Resolves of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, Volume 16, 1756-1760, from Hon. Wm. H. Olin, Secretary of State of Massachusetts.
- Baker Genealogy, from Smith Baker, D. D.
- Cambridge Historical Society Proceedings, 1909, from that society.
- Glossographia or Dictionary Interpreting Hard Words, from Charles Thornton Libby, Esq.; also from him, The Sources of Standard English.
- Sutliff Genealogy from Samuel M. Sutliff, Esq.
- Fogg Genealogy, manuscript, from Dr. John S. H. Fogg.
- Historic Hadley, Mass., from Miss M. B. Fairbanks.
- List of Geographical Atlases in the Library of Congress, Volume 1, and List Index, Volume 2, from that library.
- History of the American Flag, from the Quartermaster General of the Army.
- Uniforms of the United States Army, 1898-1907, from J. B. Aleshire, Quartermaster General.
- Sunset Songs and Other Verses, by Elizabeth Akers, also The Koran and eight pamphlets, from Nathan Goad.
- Moffat Genealogy and the Barclay Genealogy, from P. Burnham Moffat, Esq.
- Putnam Anniversary volume, from Prof. Frederick W. Putnam.
- Twenty-nine Almanacs, from Frederick Dunham.
- Six Almanacs, from Clarence H. Brown.
- Alien Emigrants to England, from Henry Deering, Esq.
- Submission of Maine to Massachusetts, from Dr. John L. M. Willis.
- Isaac Allerton, First Assistant of the Plymouth Colony, from the author, E. B. Patten, Esq.
- What the Dutch have done in the West, from Edward Bok of Philadelphia.
- Houdlette Family, from Mrs. Elizabeth L. Houdlette.
- Bertha and Lily, Elizabeth Oakes Smith, from H. W. Bryant, Esq.
- Memoir of Charles Francis Donnelly, from Mrs. Donnelly.
- Third General Catalogue of Colby College, from Prof. Edward W. Hall, librarian.
- French Guide Book of Spain and Portugal, from Hon. D. H. Ingraham.
- Proceedings at the Fiftieth Anniversary of his membership in the Massachusetts Historical Society, from Dr. Samuel A. Green.

Julius Cæsar Jennings, Esq., the principal compiler of the Genealogical History of Maine, four volumes, who used this library for about a year in his work, and died at Concord, N. H., August 9, 1909, requested before his death that his library should be given to the Maine Historical Society, as a tribute from him. His request has been complied with by his brother and his wife. We have received 83 bound volumes and 12 pamphlets, a total of 95, with his manuscripts. They are as follows :

Ninth Edition Encyclopedia Britannica, 25 volumes, leather bound; Lippincott's Gazetteer of the World; History of Omaha, Neb.; eight Atlases; History of Wayne, Me.; History of Kane County, Ill.; Redpath's History of the United States; O'Hart's Irish Pedigrees, 2 volumes; several volumes on the history of family names, and many miscellaneous volumes. The bequest includes the manuscript of an unfinished volume of a history of family names, and a large box of his manuscripts. This is a tribute from one who knew the workings of our library and appreciated it.

From Frank E. Allen, Esq., we have received bound volumes of Harper's Weekly from 1860 to 1873, 20 volumes; also 30 copies of Hull's Portland Directory of 1882.

Mrs. Samuel Clifford Belcher has contributed her late husband's miscellaneous collection of Almanacs.

By exchange we have received :

 Thirty Years from Home, or A Voice from the Main Deck, partly being the experience of Samuel Leech in the British and American navies for six years, during the War of 1812. Reprint.
 Volume 1 Devon County, England, Parish Register.

The cabinet has been increased by the gifts of the following :

Thomas Ward, of the 5th Maine Regiment and the 1st Maine Veterans, has donated his gold-plated Grand Army badge.

George G. Babcock has presented a steel engraved plate from which the bills of Casco Bank, Portland, were printed.

Oscar Holmes Tripp has given a plan of the battlefield of Keisler Field, Canada ; battle fought in 1813.

A piece of the palisade placed in the river at Castine, Me., to protect the canoe landing at the rebuilding of Fort Pentagoet by D'Aulway, 1635-1649.

He has loaned a pewter basin used in the Revolutionary Army by Harlock Smith of Chilmark, Mass., his ancestor.

At the request of the librarian, Mrs. Elizabeth Akers Allen has donated an autograph copy of her poem, "Longfellow's Birthplace."

Miss Mary Woodman has donated to the Buxton cabinet ten packages of Woodman Family papers, formerly the property of Cyrus Woodman, Esq.

William S. Edwards presented the society his two drawn plans of Portland in 1775 and in 1875. They are very valuable contributions.

Joseph Williamson has given a large package of the papers of William D. Williamson.

William H. McDonald contributed a silhouette of William Pitt Fessenden, with his autograph thereon, at about seventeen years of age.

John W. D. Carter donated the engine-room clock taken from the steamer Bohemian wrecked at Broad Cove, Cape Elizabeth, in 1864.

Rev. John Collins has given the library a Confederate Mississippi state flag, captured from his brother, Capt. William Collins, of the Confederate army, concerned in the Calais Bank raid in 1864.

Since my last report, "Old Hallowell on the Kennebec" has been published by its author, Mrs. Emma Huntington Nason, of Augusta. It is a very creditable publication and it is a welcome addition to the town histories of our State.

The importance of a library of the character of that possessed by the Maine Historical Society is evident to those who have to do with it. Its completeness is acknowledged by those who use it, and its future depends on the support it receives from the people of Maine.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

MAY 18, 1910.

A meeting of the Society was held at the library hall, May 18, 1910, at 2.30 P. M., the president in the chair, who introduced Mr. David Greene Haskins, Jr., of Cambridge, Mass. The additions to our cabinet have been as follows :

Mrs. Margaret T. W. Merrill has presented the society a large black walnut bookcase for our china exhibit.

Ellis B. Usher, Esq., of Milwaukee, Wis., sent us a package of papers formerly the property of Ellis B. Usher of Hollis, Me.

From the estate of Frederick H. Thompson we have received some rigging cut from the U. S. S. Cumberland after she was sunk by the Merrimac, by his father, Rev. Zenas Thompson, the chaplain of the 6th Maine Regiment.

Mr. Charles Percy, steward of the steamer Roosevelt, has given the Society four crystals from the farthest northland, obtained on the trip when the North Pole was discovered.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Abbot contributed a daguerreotype of the bust of Hon. Charles Stewart Davis of Portland.

The large 1855 lithograph of Portland has been presented the library, all framed, by Mrs. H. H. Hay, and hangs in the lower hall. She also has given a framed portrait of Washington.

Mrs. M. P. Baldwin of Dorchester, Mass., has donated two large framed pictures of Bangor, Maine.

Hosea H. Hatch, Esq., of Portland, has given a fine model of a full rigged ship for our marine collection.

The librarian purchased a miscellaneous collection of manuscripts at the Mayberry auction for our collection. An original deed of land on Richmond Island, dated 1727, and signed by Richard Jordan, wife Christian, has been donated by Charles Thornton Libby, Esq.

An inkstand, made from the Old Constitution and used on that vessel, has been given by Mr. Otto H. Lange of Portland.

From Miss Annie F. H. Boyd we have received a piece of Scotch Broom from the earthworks at Yorktown, Va. The seed from which it was grown came over in the forage of Cornwallis' Army in 1781.

Lester H. Hart gave a license of 1796, and a bond of 1795.

Prof. Edward W. Hall donated a broadside, "The Recent Tragedy at Harry Cole's Saloon, Exchange St., Portland, April 7, 1849."

Franklin R. Barrett, Esq., gave a certificate of ten shares of the Cumberland and Oxford Canal, dated 1834.

The Society is indebted to William N. Prince, Esq., for loaning the large oil portrait of Prof. Parker Cleaveland, second librarian of the Society, 1823-1829.

The gold epaulets worn by Lieut. Comdr. Edward Ernest Preble, who was the navigating officer of the Kearsarge, when she fought the Alabama, have been presented by his sister, Mrs. Alice Preble Anderson.

We purchased a muster roll of Capt. John Binney's Company, Col. John P. Boyd's 4th U. S. Regt., stationed at Wiscasset, Kennebec and Damariscotta, Maine, dated Dec. 31, 1809.

Since my last report the town of Harrison has published a centennial history of that town, of 727 pages, over half of which is devoted to the history of the families of the town. It is a credit to the town and the compilers and is an important addition to the town histories of our State.

Our library was never better fitted for its work and never so attractive. It seems to be appreciated by our visitors.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOULD, Librarian.

JUNE 2, 1910.

A special meeting was called Wednesday, June 2, 1910, and was called to order at 2.30 P. M., Fritz H. Jordan, Esq., in the chair.

Mr. Robert Hale was introduced, who read a scholarly paper on "Church and State in Maine at Its Early Settlement." Mr. Hale's paper had received a prize from the American Historical Association. It was founded on documents of the Kennebec Land Proprietors in the archives of the Maine Historical Society. It was listened to with close attention and received a vote of thanks.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY AND BIOGRAPHER.

BRUNSWICK, June 21, 1910.

To the President and Members of the Maine Historical Society:

Your corresponding secretary and biographer reports that of the twenty-six persons who were elected resident members at the last annual meeting, twenty-one have accepted membership, some have definitely declined and some have made no response.

The honorary member elected last year has accepted membership.

The record of deaths is as follows:

RESIDENT MEMBERS.

Edward Henry Daveis, born April 3, 1818, at Portland; admitted, 1881; died at Portland, December 12, 1909.

George Lewis, born at Bridgton, January 21, 1839; admitted, 1898; died at South Berwick, February 16, 1910.

Ira Stephen Locke, born at Biddeford, February 4, 1853; admitted, 1892; died at Portland, January 28, 1910.

John Witham Penney, born at Bangor, May 22, 1831; admitted, 1894; died at Mechanic Falls, November 1, 1909.

Stanley Thomas Pullen, born August 6, 1843; admitted, 1908; died at Portland, February 15, 1910.

Augustus Moses Pulsifer, born at Sullivan, June 15, 1834; admitted, 1893; died at Auburn, April 7, 1910.

Stephen Holmes Weeks, born at Cornish, October 6, 1835; admitted, 1901; died at Portland, September 1, 1909.

Charles Scott Fobes, born at Portland, September 9, 1839; admitted, 1891; died at Portland, June 26, 1909.

James Gray Garland, born at Saco, March 31, 1827; admitted, 1898; died at Saco, June 14, 1909.

HONORARY MEMBER.

Sarah Orne Jewett, born at South Berwick, September 3, 1849; admitted, 1903; died at South Berwick, June 24, 1909.

In the five years that your present biographer has been in office he has received biographical information from only thirty-six members, of whom some were elected more than five years ago. If each member would give the time necessary for filling and returning the blank furnished for that purpose, the Society's records would be enriched and the reports of the biographer could be made more nearly complete.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM D. PATTERSON.

REPORT OF MR. HENRY S. WEBSTER.

GARDINER, June 21, 1910.

To the Maine Historical Society:

By a vote of the Standing Committee passed January 12, 1910, I was authorized to edit the Vital Records of Randolph, Pittston, Gardiner and West Gardiner, under the provisions of Chapter 203 of the Public Laws of 1903, and to publish the same whenever it could be done without expense to the Society. The Randolph records were completed and distributed early in the year. The book contains 1,247 births, 686 marriages and 851 deaths, making in all 2,784 names. Five hundred copies were turned over to the State as provided by law, and the bill for the same has been audited and approved. One hundred copies, at fifteen cents each, were furnished to the Society, and the same number was reserved by me for distribution and sale. I wish to express my obligations to the State officials for the interest they have shown in the work and for their disposition to facilitate it, and also to the Committee on Publication, Bro. A. C. Stilphen, for his assistance and for many valuable suggestions.

The material for the Vital Records of Pittston is collected, and the work could be issued the present year if there were funds available for the purpose. The town of Pittston was incorporated in 1779, and its records to 1892 therefore cover more than a century. The town records are remarkably full and well preserved. When supplemented by the gravestone records, church records and about seventy-five private records, they will make a volume of nearly 500 pages. The publication of such a work is obviously impossible under the present law, which limits to $500 the amount to be expended annually for that purpose. I would suggest that a committee of this Society be appointed to procure such amendments of the law as may seem desirable, and also to secure an appropriation which will permit the continuance of our work.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY S. WEBSTER.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LIBRARIAN AND CABINET KEEPER.

JUNE 21, 1910.

Mr. President and Members of the Society:

I beg leave to make the following annual report. The library is in good usable condition and is as accessible as the finances of the Society will admit. Had we more funds to cover the expense, our manuscripts could be better arranged, put into better condition and catalogued, so they could be more readily referred to by historical students. As it is, we have little trouble and our collection is carefully cared for, and every effort is made to accumulate more awaiting the time when we will be able to expend the money in their preparation for our shelves. Our library is better every year and, considering what we have to do with, it is a credit to the Society and we have good reasons to be proud of it. Our buildings are in good condition.

The Wadsworth-Longfellow House is all we could expect, and is not only a great credit to the Society but has been a financial success, and without it we could not pay our expenses, unless we had different resources from what we now have. The season of 1909, was one of our best and the old home was opened yesterday for the season of 1910, more attractive and in better condition than ever before. Its fame is assured.

We have added to the library during the past year, 1,759 titles, of which 785 were bound books and 974 pamphlets, with numerous additions to our cabinet; 1,399 titles were gifts, 99 by exchange and we purchased 263. Since the report of May 18, 1910, our principal gifts have been as follows:

Cornish, England, and Devonshire, England, Characters and Strange Events, by S. Baring Gould, two volumes, from Charles Thornton Libby, Esq.

Three Scrap Books and Cuttings, Phenomena of Modern Spiritualism, by Rev. W. B. Hayden, The Pillar of Fire, etc., Rev. J. A. Ingraham, and Memoir of Rev. Bernard Whitman by Jason Whitman, all from H. W. Bryant, Esq.

Volume 2, History of Newburyport, Mass., Currier, from Mrs. E. Russell Barbour.

The American Monthly Magazine, from Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter, D. A. R.

Dedication of the Statue of Gen. Anthony Wayne at Valley Forge, from the Pennsylvania State Library.

Justice to the Jews, from Marks Arnheim.

One hundred and thirty-five valuable bound volumes of history, biography, politics and reports, together with an open bookcase, all the property of Hon. Thomas B. Reed, from Mrs. Reed.

Hail Columbia and its First Publication, from Charles Henry Hart, Esq.

Journal of Larocque, from the Canadian Archivist.

Proceedings of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, 1908-1909, from the Association.

Dr. Thomas Fillebrown, His Life and Professional Work, from Dr. H. A. Kelley.

Records of Living Officers of the United States Navy, Hammersly, and History of Steam Navigation, Preble, from William H. Dow, Esq.

We have exchanged for :

Archives of Maryland, Proceedings and Acts of the Assembly, 1715-1716.

Maryland Historical Magazine for June, 1910.

Volume 7, Publications of the Montana Historical Society.

We purchased :

Ephraim Douglass and His Times, and Journal of George McCully.

History of Mount Vernon, N. H.

Register of Chelsea, Pittston and Randolph, Maine.

History of the Cooper Shop Volunteer Refreshment Saloon, Philadelphia, 1861-1865.

Magazine of History for April, 1910.

Scotch-Irish Pioneers in Ulster and America, C. K. Bolton.

Vital Records of Haverhill, Mass., two volumes.

American Catholic Historical Researches for May, 1910.

Cruise of the Mystery and Other Poems by Celia Thaxter.

The Dialect of West Somerset, England, and Reprinted Glossaries, 1873 and 1874, English.

To the cabinet we have added :

Two depositions of Anna Riggs of Windham, in 1810, the gift of James C. Fox, Esq.

Charles H. True, Esq., has contributed three commissions of Jabez True of Bangor, of 1818, 1819 and 1823, together with an autograph letter, also one of Israel Foster.

It has been the endeavor of your librarian to conduct the library along practical lines and its success is good evidence of the wisdom of that policy.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.

OCTOBER 26, 1910.

The regular monthly meetings of the Society were resumed on Wednesday, October 26, 1910, at the library hall, Portland, meeting called to order by the president, Mr. Baxter, at 2.30 P. M.

In the absence of the librarian, by request of the president, a list of recent accessions to the library was read by Mr. A. R. Stubbs.

Professor Henry L. Chapman of Bowdoin College read a paper on the Life and Work of Joel Barlow, the Poet of the Revolution. The paper was listened to with close attention and received hearty applause with a vote of thanks at its close.

Adjourned.

NOVEMBER 16, 1910.

By special invitation, Mrs. Abba Goold Woolson appeared before the Society at its November meeting, held the 16th inst., and was greeted by a large audience who listened with close attention to Mrs. Woolson's address on Portugal and Its People, for nearly two hours.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Woolson for her address.

Adjourned.

DECEMBER 14, 1910.

The December meeting was held at the Society's library, Wednesday, the 14th inst., at 2.30 P. M. The president, Mr. Baxter, held the chair and introduced George S. Delano, Esq., who announced as his theme for discourse "The Humanity of Historical Societies," a topic full of thought for study and reflection, and Mr. Delano both instructed and entertained his audience. A vote of thanks was extended.

Mr. Goold, the librarian, read a report of recent accessions to the library and cabinet.

Adjourned.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

DECEMBER 14, 1910.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen :

The last report of your librarian was made at Brunswick, June 21, 1910. Since that time our library has increased its usefulness as much as could be reasonably expected with the funds at our command. For Maine history we have the most complete collection of books and manuscripts that probably exists, and it is being constantly improved. When we become forehanded we hope our wants will be satisfied. We shall soon issue Volumes 15 and 16, Documentary Series, of our publications. They relate to the time of the Revolution and are best known as "The Baxter Manuscripts." With these the Society has published thirty-nine uniform volumes of about 500 pages each.

Since the June report we have added to the library 156 bound volumes, 361 pamphlets, and many valuable manuscripts and interesting relics of our history.

By gifts, we have received 79 bound volumes and 191 pamphlets; by exchange, 30 bound volumes and 43 pamphlets, and we have purchased 47 bound volumes and 113 pamphlets. We have purchased the Mayberry manuscripts, so called, receiving most of the collection, which will add value to what we already have.

The principal gifts have been :

John Darby of Marblehead, Mass., and His Descendants, from Samuel C. Darby, Esq.

A framed painting of the Privateer Polly has been presented by Alexander W. Longfellow, Esq., of Boston.

A framed painting of the Brig Octavia of Portland in the Bay of Naples, in 1824, has been donated by Fritz H. Jordan, Esq., and he has also given a lot of manuscripts relating to the Old Congregational Parish at Cape Elizabeth.

Frederic H. and Lucy H. Jordan of South Portland, have donated a manuscript list of marriages of the Second Parish of Cape Elizabeth from 1769 to 1780, also a certificate of the laying out of sixty acres of land for the ministry in 1738.

We have received from Mrs. Ellen S. Roche of Bath, Me., about one hundred letters written to Gen. William King during the War of 1812.

A. W. Hanson, Esq., of Buxton, Me., has deposited three books of records of the Buxton Centre Baptist Church, also a box of manuscripts.

From Geo. C. Owen, Esq., we have received a certificate of army service given by the State of Maine.

Philip F. Turner, Esq., has presented the Society a box of manuscripts, mostly relating to Cape Elizabeth families.

Dr. Geo. B. Stevens of Roxbury, Mass., has given the commission of Hon. John Holmes as Commissioner in the North Eastern Boundary Matter, letters signed by James Monroe, James Madison and John Quincy Adams, and the original signed award of the commission.

Arthur K. Hunt, Esq., of Boston, has donated, to the marine collection, an oil painting of the bark Geo. S. Hunt.

The Old Longfellow House was opened to the public Monday, June 19, 1910, for its tenth season and closed October 1st, having a most successful year. Only one year have the admissions been larger; 8,679 visited the house in fifteen weeks. During June and July, the Elizabeth Wadsworth Chapter, D. A. R., and the Daughters of 1812 furnished guides, as has been done from the beginning in 1901. The fidelity of the ladies to this undertaking is a matter of comment and they have more than met the expectations of our Society, and are entitled to our gratitude.

After August first the guides received compensation. This brings the management to a business basis which has been evident that it must come to. It seems wise to conduct the house as a shrine to which it is a privilege to be allowed to visit and should not be made too common. It should be carefully cared for, that it may be kept as long as possible. It is a choice possession of Portland and should always be so regarded. This Society should make the most of it, as has been done for the past ten years. Nearly 73,000 persons have visited the house since it was first opened to the public and its fame is world wide.

We cannot but reflect what has been done with our library within five years. It shows for itself what has been accomplished. Our expenses are but about one-tenth of those of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and of that our members' annual dues pay but about one-third and the two-thirds, or balance, is obtained by the management by the opening of the Longfellow House to the public. We need a fund to keep up our work.

Respectfully submitted,

NATHAN GOOLD, Librarian.
